FOUR HOURS BEFORE SINKING

Seas Were Beating The Fitzgerald

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — Less than four hours before the ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald disappeared in Lake Superior during a storm Nov. 10, the captain of the ill-fated vessel radioed that his fence rail was laid down, two vents had been lost and the ship was listing, a lake captain told a Coast Guard Board of Inquiry on Thursday.

There were no survivors among the 29 crewmen aboard the 729-foot Fitzgerald. But Jesse B. Cooper, 56, of Tequesta, Fla., the captain of the Arthur M. Anderson, which was within 10 miles of the Fitzgerald, gave a dramatic account of the last voyage of the sunken ship and his radio conversations with its skipper until the time it disappeared after 7:10 p.m. when:

"The radar — the sea return, the center of the scope was just a white blob, and the Fitzgerald was disappearing into the sea return at 10 miles."

"At 1530, (3:30 p.m.) I was just by the West End Light, and I saw him. It was the captain of the Fitzgerald who called me," Cooper told the four-member board of Coast Guard officers, using charts as he went along in the third day of the hearings aimed at trying to fix the cause of the sea disaster. Cooper continued:

"I understood him to say that his fence rail was laid down, and I'm probably wrong on this, but the mate and the wheelman said the fence wire was gone. This was probably correct."

Cooper said the Fitzgerald skipper, E. E. McSorley of Toledo, Ohio, "also told me that he had lost two vents, and he said that he had had list and asked me if I would stay with him, which I concurred that I would stay with him."

"He said he was taking a list. I asked him if he had his pumps on and he said, 'Yes, I have them both on.' He said, 'I will check down so that you can close the distance between us,' so we could get up closer to him."

"Of course, I never saw the Fitzgerald visibly from the time it started or a little before it started to snow, but there must have been snow where he was at before we ran into it. I had him on radar all the time. At this time, after steering west, he extended his distance out to 17 miles, which I think was about maximum, which he was ahead of us."

LAWRENCE C. SHERMAN
Arrested

B.H. 'Coalition' Back Home Now; One Is Arrested

The Benton Harbor "community coalition" returned from Washington, yesterday afternoon with a promise from every federal official they met that their complaints would be investigated, according to Mayor Charles F. Joseph.

The complaints included charges of police harassment, and one of the complainants, Lawrence C. Sherman, 23, was arrested by Benton Harbor police on a charge of fleeing police officers about 10 hours after the delegation returned.

Patrolman Kenneth Webster said a car driven by Sherman was stopped after a chase of about two miles from the city into Benton township about 1 a.m. today. Webster said the car was first stopped in the city after it turned a corner and nearly hit another car. The driver drove off while police were writing a ticket, Webster said.

Joseph said the coalition group of 54 met with officials from departments of Labor, Commerce, Housing and Urban development, White House and congressman to air grievances. These were described Thursday in an Associated Press story of a press conference in Washington.

Joseph said: "Everybody we talked to said they would investigate the complaints. Every department we met with went out of the way to greet us."

He repeated some of the goals of the trip: "We are asking for redress to our problems, representation and input in the decision-making process. In a nutshell, Benton Harbor wants to be part of this county, not to be treated as a stepchild."

Sherman was identified in The Associated Press story as a juvenile worker appointed by the Berrien juvenile court. Charles Kehoe, juvenile court director, said today Sherman is not and never has been an employee of juvenile court.

Sherman is a member of the Greater Benton Harbor Youth Assistance committee, a voluntary organization, to coordinate youth services, according to Mrs. Mary DeFoe, a founder. Several such committees operate in Berrien county under sanction of juvenile court.

Sherman was quoted at the Washington news conference as saying that police refused to investigate a knife attack on him until he posted $25 bond. This charge was vigorously

Victim Of Gunshot 14th Hunting Death

LAKE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Another Michigan hunter has died of gunshot wounds, bringing this year's hunting death total to 14. Missaukee County sheriff's deputies say a Drayton Plains hunter, James Duval, 24, was apparently shot to death accidentally late Wednesday or early Thursday.

Deputies said Duval was hunting with a companion when the two became separated. Duval's body was found Wednesday. Eight of the hunters have been killed by bullets. The others are apparent heart attack victims.

SCALPERS ASK $100 EACH Ticket-Hunting Big Game

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — It's a war between the haves and the have-nots - but - will - pay - to - become - haves. The football teams of Michigan and Ohio State take their places at 1 p.m. in Michigan Stadium Saturday for the Big Ten title and a chance to play in the Rose Bowl. But for fans in Columbus and Ann Arbor, the really big game is trying to find tickets.

"Ticket scalping — selling tickets for more than their original value — is illegal in Michigan. Nevertheless, ads for tickets at 'bargain' rates of $30 and up abound on the U-M campus bulletin boards and in newspapers. Law enforcement figures generally ignore the practice. 'I'll get rid of them as soon as somebody offers me what I want,' said one student with two tickets for sale. 'I'd like to have $50 apiece.'"

The U-M ticket manager says he tells people not to buy at scalpers' rates. "At game time, you can buy a ticket for $5 from somebody who wanted $30 or $40 for them a couple of hours before," said Allan Renfrew.

One of the have-nots, a Michigan alumnus who placed an ad asking for eight tickets for the Buckeye-Wolverine clash, received offers ranging from $30 to $100 each. "I'm an avid football fan," said Washtenaw County Prosecuting Attorney

William Delhey. "But not that avid."

While ticket scalping is illegal in Michigan, there is no Ohio law or Columbus city law against it. The Columbus Dispatch on Monday had about 30 classified ads offering tickets. More than half the ads listed Ann Arbor telephone numbers.

A newspaper spokesman said ticket prices in Columbus have climbed to $50 and $60 each. The newspaper learned that one enterprising seller, a trucker who travels back and forth between Michigan and Ohio, bought tickets at $25 each from U-M students and is selling them "in quantity" for a sweet $50 each in Columbus.

Renfrew said the scarcity of tickets is partly due to the sale of 75,000 season tickets this year, compared with 53,000 last year. Another 8,000 tickets for Saturday's game went to Buckeye officials for distribution to Ohio fans. Other tickets went to U-M alumni organization. So, there were only about 500 individual, non-season tickets available for Saturday's game.

And that supply-demand situation suits most ticket scalpers. "I sold them," said one student who offered four tickets and sold them for $100 total. "After we sold them we had people offering us like $40 and $50 apiece for them."

Levi Weighs Charges In CIA Death Plots

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department officials are still weighing whether to bring charges against those involved in the assassination plots described by the Senate intelligence committee.

Department officials are studying a series of statutes for possible use in any prosecution, including a cover-up charge. A spokesman says that Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi either will seek indictments or publicly explain why not in a report on his department's investigation into all categories of alleged CIA wrongdoing.

In its 346-page report made public Thursday, the committee said U.S. officials had instigated at least eight assassination plots against Cuba's Fidel Castro and had launched another scheme to kill Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba. The panel also described the U.S. government as implicated in the killing of Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo.

Of the nine foreign leaders mentioned in the report, only Fidel Castro and his brother Raul are still alive.

But the committee said, "No foreign leaders were killed as a result of assassination plots initiated by officials of the United States."

Its report told of a CIA official at the agency's old Washington headquarters who was asked to develop plans to kill Lumumba in 1960 and raised the prospect "that conspiracy to commit murder being done in the District of Columbia might be in violation of federal law."

A second official, Richard Bissell, then head of the agency's clandestine services, "airily dismissed" the prospect, according to evidence submitted to the committee.

In addition to the Castro and Lumumba plots and the Trujillo affair, government officials also were aware of plots against South Vietnamese president Ngo Dinh Diem and Chilean army chief Rene Schneider where "the risk of death" existed, the committee said.

The 11-member panel also said it came across "evidence of CIA involvement in plans to assassinate President Sukarno of Indonesia and 'Papa Doc' Duvalier of Haiti." Assassination plots against Castro "sometimes contemplated action against Raul Castro and Che Guevara" as well, the committee found.

According to the report, there was enough evidence "to permit a reasonable inference that the plot to assassinate Lumumba was authorized by President Eisenhower" but stopped short of a finding that "the President intended an assassination effort."

The committee also said "there was insufficient evidence" that Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy or Johnson or any of their close advisers authorized the assassination of Castro.

With respect to South Vietnamese president Diem, the committee said that although it found evidence that the United States encouraged the coup which toppled him in November, 1963, the U.S. government "neither desired nor was involved in the assassinations" of Diem and his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu.

In 1970, President Nixon instructed the CIA "to play a direct role in organizing a military coup d'etat in Chile to prevent" Marxist Salvador Allende from coming to power. During October, the CIA contacted military conspirators in Chile, all of whom regarded removal of Gen. Schneider, who strongly opposed a coup, as a necessary ingredient to their plans. On Oct. 22, the CIA passed machine guns and ammunition to a group that already had failed in one previous attempt to kidnap Schneider.

Russia Test Spews Hot Debris

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of Russia's recent big underground nuclear tests apparently have spewed some radioactive debris into the atmosphere, U.S. intelligence sources report. Radioactive gaseous debris was collected outside Russia's territory following a 3.8-megaton test on Oct. 18 and a two-megaton blast on Oct. 21, sources said. A megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT. The tests were conducted on the Soviet island of Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic.

Bonds Given Firm 'No' In Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — Both proposals in the Dowagiac school district's special bond issue election yesterday were overwhelmingly defeated, according to unofficial returns.

The first proposal which asked $3.2 million mostly for new classrooms and remodeling was defeated 1,612 to 532, a three to one margin.

The second proposal asking $400,000 for an outdoor athletic facility lost 1,796 to 344, a five to one margin.

School officials estimated the total vote at 2,100, or about 30 per cent of the approximately 7,200 registered voters in the district.

There was no organized campaign opposing the bond issues, school officials said.

Both propositions lost heavily in every precinct of the district. Here is a breakdown of the vote totals by precinct:

Lionel Stacey said that if both propositions passed and bonds were issued, an additional levy of about 3.5 mills would be added to 1976 tax bills.

The 1976 levy is 25.691 mills and Stacey said that with both bond issues, the 1976 levy would have increased to at least 29.161 mills.

The school board wanted to use most of the $3.2 million from the first ballot proposal to build seven additional classrooms at the Sister Lakes elementary school and 16 additional classrooms at Dowagiac high school.

The Sister Lakes building is designed for a capacity of 375 students and houses 528, according to David Strlekar, principal.

The additional high school classrooms would have been used to ease overcrowding at both the high school and junior high school. Ninth graders would have been housed in the high school all day instead of splitting their school day between the two buildings as is done now.

The second proposal was for a $400,000 outdoor athletic complex to be built near the high school.

Cooper testified that near the northeast tip of Caribou, "At that time the wind was north-west by west, 58, light snow. The wind held there about 300 degrees. At that time the barometer was 29.2 so it was coming up quite rapidly against the wind."

During the last radio conversation at 7:10 p.m. Cooper said the first mate, Morgan Clark, was giving the captain of the Fitzgerald positions "because his radars, one was out and the other was ineffective."

After 10 or 15 minutes, the snow cleared up and "you could see for miles," said Cooper. "We were looking for him, I called the Fitzgerald on the FM and I got no response. The mate tried to call him several times."

"I was at Whitefish Point, and I proceeded right on my course down there. At this time, if the Fitzgerald was gone, I would have been by his position, and there was no way that I could have turned my vessel right there at that particular time with the seas the way they were because I conceivably could

By DAVID C. MARTIN

Let's Do It Again-- This Time Under Oath

Benton Harbor always used to be known for the House of David, the fruit market and Whirlpool Corporation.

But now, thanks to the city's Mayor Charles Joseph, it may be best remembered throughout the country as the town where the school's kids line up daily to vomit the frozen TV dinners that are served to them for lunch.

That was the ridiculous story told at a Washington news conference by one of 56 Benton Harbor residents who accompanied the mayor on a bus trip to Washington.

The "Pilgrimage to Washington" was billed in advance as a junket to protest discrimination against minorities in the distribution of federal social welfare funds. Mayor Joseph has been carrying on a running feud with Berrien County government and the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, designated agent for some federally-funded job training programs.

The targets for attack were expanded when the mayor and the "community coalition," formerly the "black coalition," got to Capitol Hill. Police, the courts and schools all came under a barrage at a news conference called by U.S. Rep. John Conyers Jr., Detroit Democrat.

The black mayor of predominantly black Benton Harbor said blacks are cruelly abused by the white power structure in the rest of Berrien County. He said it was just like living on a "Southern plantation in the North."

Mrs. Helen Ford, the black director of Berrien County Action, a self-generated agency that dispenses a significant share of federal social welfare grants in the county, echoed the mayor, her political ally.

She said black people who speak up are harassed by police and by not getting jobs. "Whether or not you get it depends on whether or not you have been an uppity nigger," she contended.

Mrs. Ruthie Haralson, black mother of four who works for a foundation that is partially U.S.-funded, came up with the allegation that students "are vomiting all during the lunch hour."

The Associated Press said coalition member Martha Power explained the school system feeds still-frozen TV dinners to the youngsters.

The unfounded charge is fairly typical of the junketeers' complaints: so far out as to defy logical answer.

The public needs to remember two things about the staged performance in Washington. The key characters are all people with a big personal stake in federal handouts — either directly or politically. And none of them was under oath.

Mayor Joseph said the U.S. Labor Department has agreed to investigate the complaints aired by his coalition.

Good! That way the witnesses can be sworn in, required to present proofs, and even quizzed about what personal axes they may be grinding.

Sunny Spain Hopes To Avoid Portugal's Clouds

Tomorrow Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon whose lineage runs back to France's Louis XIV ascends the throne of Spain as King Juan Carlos I.

It is a new title in the Spanish branch of the Borbon dynasty because the Prince's father, Don Juan, the Count of Barcelona, never having renounced his right of ascension, bars the son from adding one numeral to his parent's unfulfilled right to proclaim himself Juan III.

The niceties of a scion restoring a hereditary monarch in his own name are 180 degrees aside from the point of what will be in store for his country now that its masterful leader, Generalissimo Francisco Franco, is no longer the last surviving dictator in Western Europe.

The question is the same posed in France a few years ago when Charles DeGaulle stepped aside as premier in favor of a handpicked successor. Only the words differ.

The query is whether Francoism will survive without Franco.

Franco's legacy may be fulfilled but most likely not in its purest form.

Though personally tutored at Franco's knee for the last 26 of his 37 years, Prince Juan is not the driving master that the Generalissimo was. Neither does he accept totally or unqualifiedly every principle in Franco's text.

Only a few days ago in his capacity of provisional head of state during Franco's terminal illness, the Prince restored the right of the Basques and other minorities to speak and write in their own dialects. Franco had banned such expression when first he became Spain's dictator in 1939.

The overture can be dismissed as just that and no more. What does it matter if a Basque or a Valencian communicates openly in his dialect so long as he follows in lockstep with orders from Madrid?

Considering, however, that like many countries Spain is beset with regional separatist yearnings, the Prince's action very much appears to follow a line that conciliation to a degree can be as helpful in maintaining a police state as the police itself.

That Spain will merge into a free atmosphere once the crown is placed upon Prince Juan's head is wishful thinking.

Not only are the armed forces, including the police, and the country's dominant political wing, the Falange, opposed to it, there is the horrible example of near chaos in neighboring Portugal to foster restraint. Only the most died-in-the-wool Spanish anarchist would risk trading at this time a fully democratic system for the ordered existence established by Franco.

Nonetheless, the chances for Spain's emergence from Franco's heavyhanded methods seem reasonable.

The Prince leans to that approach and the authoritarian power at his disposal, realistically perhaps clasped about his backside, to the contrary, a growing sentiment for greater freedom is developing. Not only do Spaniards of moderate persuasion yearn personally for liberation, they feel it necessary to bring their country back into the Western European community whose governments have isolated Spain from the mainstream because of Franco's harsh ways. Spanish labor is equally restive because of a belief that inflation controls are framed at its expense.

Force can control or at least thwart such expressions for an indeterminate spell; but none of Franco's close associates have his charisma to cause undue repression to be as palatable as it has been. When the taste changes, so does the diet.

Reader Protests Way In Which Driver's License Test Given

Editor,

Last week I had the occasion to renew my driver's license. Much to my surprise, the man ahead of me failed the written examination for renewal of his Michigan operator's license. Even more to my surprise, the female examiner re-gave the exam verbally. The test, a multiple choice exam, was given verbally in such a way that when the correct answer was read the examiner's voice was so pitched that my four-year-old daughter could have caught on. At this point the matter became appalling. I inquired further to find out that this man didn't comprehend the questions (I presume he couldn't read.) Upon making my indignation known to the manager of the state license bureau his only comment was, and I quote, "Well, he can tell the shape of a stop sign."

No wonder this state has experienced a rise in fatalities on the Inter-State's and the cities. Again, my little four-year-old knows what a stop sign looks like... but this in no means qualifies her to be a driver on our highways. She still can't read such signs as One Way Do Not Enter... All Traffic Merge Left... Danger Bridge Slippery

In other words, we let people in this state loose on our highways to terrify the safe, decent drivers by their ignorance and illiteracy. Maybe my four-year-old wouldn't be a bad driver Mr. License Bureau Manager... She sure knows what a stop sign looks like... come on guy, sign her up!

READER WANTS FREEDOM OF CHOICE

Editor,

The statement by the Roman Catholic bishops that they do not intend to force their religion and beliefs on anyone was sheer hypocrisy.

The Church has stated for publication the fact that they intend to get elected to high public office people whose only job will be to get rescinded the laws with which the church does not approve: abortion, sex education and birth control. Also, I assume, any but the Catholic religion.

They are not willing to give individual freedom of choice in these matters. It's going to be "Do as we say."

Perhaps everyone should be reminded that there is in this country a separation of church and state, and we had better be prepared to remind the government of this fact.

No church, no government has the right to interfere with my personal freedom or any decision regarding my body, as long as I do not harm or threaten anyone else. I believe the Supreme Court and the Constitution confirm this.

It would be interesting to know who is funding all these anti-groups, no matter by what name they are known.

Again I say, all we want is freedom of choice. Isn't that what this country was founded upon?

The matter will then be finally decided by a general vote of the city taxpayers.

A Letter From San Clemente

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter from Richard Nixon to Gerald Ford was inadvertently dropped on the White House lawn by a postman who tripped over a newly erected monument to post-Watergate morality.

My dear Jerry: Since I had made it perfectly clear when I left office that I was giving the world over to you, and would not try to influence you from the grandstands, I nevertheless must pass on my appreciation to you for what I feel to be your increasing maturity in office.

God knows it would be the easy thing for me to let this matter go, because as you know, I am being hounded by popular demand to spend day and night toward the completion of my important new book, which will once and for all clear up any misunderstanding of the regrettable things done by subordinates in my name during my administration.

But as I said to Chou En-lai when I reestablished relations with China after 23 years, and as I have said to world greats in many other capitals, including Berlin, Moscow, and Windhoek, I must speak out on that which affects America.

I have never doubted for a moment that you understood the importance of presidential leadership. We have both learned this through long years of trial, I, as a congressman, senator, vice president and president, and you in two of the same capacities. Nothing could please the Kremlin more than a second-rate president. That is why I fought so strenuously against overreaction during the Watergate affair, that is why I made my historic stand against judicial-encroachment on the office of the presidency. I note now that the American people may at last be realizing this fact also, since polls indicate I'm gaining popularity in such places as Alabama and parts of Vermont.

While I am at it, I might also mention that some of the comments of your family members have shocked Mrs. Nixon and myself, though I would not for a minute be surprised if this has been distorted by the leftist press. My concern in this area is the effect on the public, our children having let their moral fiber weaken enough as it is.

America is a great nation, however, and those who doubt it conveniently overlook the fact that we have built the largest shopping centers in the world, as well as automobiles with the roomiest trunk compartments. Forgive me if I sound as if I am campaigning here (I will not run for any office in 1976, you can rest assured, and that is that).

Let me add quickly and parenthetically that I am completely happy in retirement, after 26 years in public life, from 1946 to 1974, inclusive. Stories that I am disappointed because large crowds no longer gather to greet my strolls on the beach, are false. I am swamped with work on my book, which will reveal many things about my administration that were never reported by the media stooges. Besides this, I have Mrs. Nixon; we chuckle often over old times. And Ron Ziegler comes to visit occasionally on a motorbike now, which is odd, but I learned long ago not to be surprised at America's young. Ron says his hog has stars and stripes on the sissy, bars and that's good enough for me.

Mrs. Nixon and I send our best to you and your family, except for young Jack, for I can't forgive marijuana. I am enclosing a copy of Six Crises, which I've always found to be of comfort in the loneliness of leadership. — Dick

SEC Offers Advice To Small Investor

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has lots of things to worry about these days, but be reassured it has not overlooked its role as protector of the small investor.

The watchdog of federal securities laws and regulations has just come out with a new edition of "Investigate Before You Invest," a little booklet of basic advice that is now offering free to investors.

"Before buying... Think!" advises the SEC. "Don't listen to high-pressure sales talk," it adds. And, "Don't buy on tips and rumors."

If those caveats sound a bit dated for these days of super-cautious if not necessarily more sophisticated investors, there's a reason: Much of the text was written years ago, and a new cover applied this year.

Nevertheless the SEC believes the warnings are worthwhile, just as they were in the 1960s, when millions of new and naive investors flocked into the stock market.

It's a bit different today. Brokers' phones don't ring all day long as they used to. Hundreds of them have gone out of business. Institutions often dominate trade, with the small investor more observant than active.

In fact, the number of investors has diminished, after increasing sharply throughout the 1960s and early 1970s. For the first time in more than 20 years, the New York Stock Exchange estimates, the number of shareholders fell in 1974, and maybe again this year.

In 1952, when the first survey was undertaken, 6.49 million people owned shares. In 1973 the figure was estimated at 31.7 million, but then it fell by 800,000 in 1974. A new estimate will be released early next month.

Still, the SEC reports in its primer that "Today, millions of citizens own corporate stocks and bonds. Their number is growing by the hundreds of thousands."

Regardless, some of the advice seems to have a merit other than that of nostalgia. Any old-timer will tell you that the same mistakes are made over and over, especially when people feel they no longer need advice.

With that preface, the SEC's admonitions:

—Before you decide whether to buy securities, check your financial situation. Have you made provisions for a home? Do you have adequate life insurance? A comfortable bank account balance?

—If you decide to go ahead and buy securities, keep in mind that the value of your investment can go down as well as up. No one can guarantee the market price of a security in a month or a year from now.

—Give at least as much consideration to buying securities as you would to buying other valuable property. An engraved stock certificate of a bankrupt company is just as impressive looking as that of a blue chip.

Reliable information is available on all heavily traded securities. Tell the salesperson to put all the information and advice in writing and mail it to you, and then save the information.

—If you're an average investor — the SEC offers no clues to the identity of average — don't speculate. Speculation sometimes may serve a useful purpose, but it is a field for experts. The amateur who "plays the Market" is asking for trouble.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Let's Do It Again-- This Time Under Oath

Benton Harbor always used to be known for the House of David, the fruit market and Whirlpool Corporation.

But now, thanks to the city's Mayor Charles Joseph, it may be best remembered throughout the country as the town where the school's kids line up daily to vomit the frozen TV dinners that are served to them for lunch.

That was the ridiculous story told at a Washington news conference by one of 56 Benton Harbor residents who accompanied the mayor on a bus trip to Washington.

The "Pilgrimage to Washington" was billed in advance as a junket to protest discrimination against minorities in the distribution of federal social welfare funds. Mayor Joseph has been carrying on a running feud with Berrien county government and the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, designated agent for some federally-funded job training programs.

The targets for attack were expanded when the mayor and the "community coalition," formerly the "black coalition," got to Capitol Hill. Police, the courts and schools all came under a barrage at a news conference called by U.S. Rep. John Conyers Jr., Detroit Democrat.

The black mayor of predominantly black Benton Harbor said blacks are cruelly abused by the white power structure in the rest of Berrien county. He said it was just like living on a "Southern plantation in the North."

Mrs. Helen Ford, the black director of Berrien County Action, a self-generated agency that dispenses a significant share of federal social welfare grants in the county, echoed the mayor, her political ally.

She said black people who speak up are harassed by police and by not getting jobs. "Whether or not you get it depends on whether or not you have been an uppity nigger," she contended.

Mrs. Ruthie Haralson, black mother of four who works for a foundation that is partially U.S.-funded, came up with the allegation that students "are vomiting all during the lunch hour."

The Associated Press said coalition member Martha Power explained the school system feeds still-frozen TV dinners to the youngsters.

The unfounded charge is fairly typical of the junketeers' complaints: so far out as to defy logical answer.

The public needs to remember two things about the staged performance in Washington. The key characters are all people with a big personal stake in federal handouts — either directly or politically. And none of them was under oath.

Mayor Joseph said the U.S. Labor Department has agreed to investigate the complaints aired by his coalition.

Good! That way the witnesses can be sworn in, required to present proofs, and even quizzed about what personal axes they may be grinding.

Reader Protests Way In Which Driver's License Test Given

Editor,

Last week I had the occasion to renew my driver's license. Much to my surprise, the man ahead of me failed the written examination for renewal of his Michigan operator's license. Even more to my surprise, the female examiner re-gave the exam verbally. The test, a multiple choice exam, was given verbally in such a way that when the correct answer was read the examiner's voice was so pitched that my four-year-old daughter could have caught on. At this point the matter became appalling. I inquired further to find out that this man didn't comprehend the questions (I presume he couldn't read.) Upon making my indignation known to the manager of the state license bureau his only comment was, and I quote, "Well, he can tell the shape of a stop sign."

No wonder this state has experienced a rise in fatalities on the Inter-State and the cities. Again, my little four-year-old knows what a stop sign looks like... but this in no means qualifies her to be a driver on our highways. She still can't read such signs as One Way Do Not Enter... All Traffic Merge Left... Danger Bridge Slippery

In other words, we let people in this state loose on our highways to terrify the safe, decent drivers by their ignorance and illiteracy. Maybe my four-year-old wouldn't be a bad driver Mr. License Bureau Manager... She sure knows what a stop sign looks like... come on guy, sign her up!

Cold Storage Firm Shifts Top Officers

By JERRY KRIEGER
Farm and Features Editor

John Steimle of Dowagiac and Jordan Tatter of Watervliet were elected to new top management positions with Southern Michigan Cold Storage Co., Sodus, last night.

At an organizational meeting of the board of directors following the annual stockholders meeting at the Howard Johnson restaurant, Steimle became chairman of the board.

Tatter, who resigned as southwestern Michigan district horticultural agent for

Michigan State university recently, was named company president and chief executive officer. Tatter replaces Steimle in those offices.

Steimle, 41, has been president of the firm since 1967. During that time, the corporation has increased its sales volume by over 800 per cent and has expended its operations by purchasing warehouse facilities at several points in Michigan and Indiana.

Tatter, 38, left the district horticultural agent's post Oct. 31 to assume full-time management responsibilities with Southern Michigan. He has been on the board of directors since 1971 and served as board secretary since 1973.

Elected to the board to succeed retiring director Victor Crandall of Benton Harbor, was Rodger Bittner, a St. Joseph attorney. Bittner then was named to succeed Tatter as secretary of the board.

Crandall, one of the company's original stockholders and board members, served on the board since its formation in 1954.

Chairman Steimle said the personnel change is the major step in a management restructuring process that started several months ago.

"Southern Michigan Cold Storage has grown rapidly in recent years, and it appears it will continue to grow," Steimle stated. "We wanted to make certain that our management team was constructed to encourage the continued growth."

Southern Michigan is one of the largest public warehousing companies in the Midwest, with over 14 million cubic feet of storage at five plants. Facilities, in addition to the main plant in Sodus township, are located at Hart and Decatur in Michigan, and Logansport and South Bend, Ind.

Four other board members reelected last night by stockholders were Howard Clapper, Dowagiac; Gerald Fisher, South Bend; Earl Steimle, Benton Harbor; and Russell Tidey, Sodus.

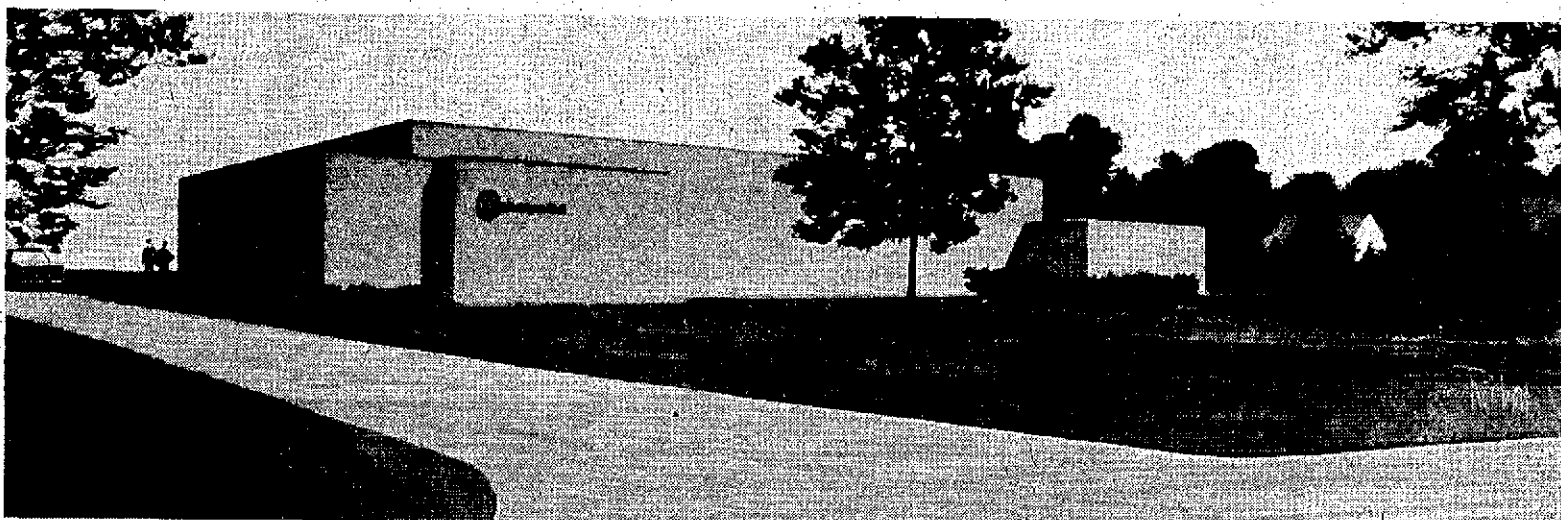

Chairman Steimle, a lifelong resident of southwestern Michigan, serves on the board of directors of Benton Harbor's Farmers and Merchants National bank. Recently he was named as a director of the Western Golf association, which sponsors three national golf tournaments, including the Western Amateur tournament held annually at Point O' Woods country club, Benton Harbor. Steimle was a varsity golfer when he attended Michigan State university. He and his wife, Mary Ann, have two children and reside Route 4, Indian Lake, Dowagiac.

Tatter is a founder and former co-owner of Prescription Farming of Eau Claire, and has served as a representative of Chemago Corp. Since January of 1974, Tatter has been a director of the Seventh Federal Reserve District bank of Chicago, Detroit branch. He received his master's degree in entomology from Michigan State university in 1960. He and his wife Mary have two sons and live on Beechwood Circle drive, Watervliet.

Bittner, the new secretary, is a member of the law firm of Globensky, Gleiss, Henderson and Bittner. A native of Benton Harbor, he is a 1966 graduate of the University of Michigan law school and served as a clerk in the Michigan court of appeals and in the U.S. Army before returning here to practice in 1969. Bittner and his wife, Barbara, and two children live on Windsor drive in St. Joseph.

Morton School Fall Festival Is Saturday

Morton elementary school, Benton Harbor, announced its annual fall festival will be held tomorrow from 4 to 8 p.m. featuring games, prizes, general store and bake sale.

CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY: Michigan Bell has started construction on a $1.4 million electronic central office to serve telephone customers north of Benton Harbor and Hagar township. Edward A. Mabin, district manager for Bell, said one-story building at southwest corner of Coloma and Fikes roads will house an electronic switching system that will provide area customers with one of the most up-to-date communications systems, including Touch-Tone and Custom Calling services. The central office building will be known as Benton Harbor-North, and will be brick and block with bar joist and flat roof construction. Building is expected to be completed by summer of 1976 after which crews from Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell system, will begin installing electronic telephone equipment. Mabin said new equipment is expected to become operational in fall of 1977 and will provide facilities for more than 4,000 customer lines. General contractor is Holland Construction company, St. Joseph. Architectural services were provided by Prine Toshach Associates of Saginaw, Mich.

DEVELOPMENT STUDY AIRED

Future Of Downtown St. Joe Examined

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

It would be "virtually impossible" for a major retail store to locate in downtown St. Joseph, according to Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., a planning consultant firm that recently made a study of the downtown area.

Rodney E. Engelen and John H. Lockner, both principal associates with Barton-Aschman of Evanston, Ill., presented the study last night to about 70 members of the St. Joseph business community, St. Joseph planning commission and city commission.

The meeting was held at the community room of the St. Joseph Savings & Loan, south town branch, South State street.

Both Lockner and Engelen said trying to locate a major retail store such as J.C. Penney's or Sears in the downtown area would be extremely difficult under current conditions for two major reasons:

1) Presently, there is not enough room in the downtown area for a large retail store and adjoining parking.

2) The city cannot match the offer a large retail store can get from a shopping center.

According to Lockner, large retail stores are now saying to downtowns, "Show me the land where I'm going to build and parking space and offer me 'cornfield' prices (for land) that I can get at a shopping center."

Engelen said, "Major retailers are in the driver's seat and they know it."

Nevertheless, the Barton-Aschman study indicated that a major retail store located in the downtown core (business area on State street) would be a big plus for the city.

Both Lockner and Engelen based their statements on the difficulty of locating a major retail store downtown on their experiences with other cities that have tried unsuccessfully to do so for a number of years.

The study indicated the best development potential for the city might be in the development of office space for business downtown.

Providing there is a market, Engelen said the area near the Berrien county courthouse and Law and Title building has the possibility of being an excellent business office district. It was also noted that a number of businesses on State street have open space on the floors above them that could be turned into office space.

Lockner said it may also be possible to capitalize on the "migration of offices from Benton Harbor."

Although the study did not take a look at the feasibility of a high rise parking facility both Lockner and Engelen cast wary eyes at the subject when brought up by the audience.

Lockner said such structures are expensive, it is hard to get shoppers to use them, and the cost of the building would have to come from parking fees.

He said, "You have no charge for parking here (St. Joseph). That's fortunate. Keep it that way."

A high rise parking structure, has been proposed on Lake boulevard using an existing city parking lot and space now occupied by a commercial building as the site.

The study was divided into four main parts. They were functions of downtown St. Joseph; physical arrangement; transportation and design and appearance.

Listed as problems and opportunities under functions was that "development of a major outlying shopping center could seriously threaten the local and regional prominence of the downtown."

Other items listed under functions included coordinating a plan with the City of Benton Harbor to create complementary, mutually reinforcing downtown areas. Also possible development of new high-quality housing near the lakefront.

There were also four main priorities listed under physical arrangement.

The study suggested improvement of pedestrian connections between the downtown activity centers which could involve reducing the traffic on Main, Port and Ship streets.

Also advised under physical arrangement was new retail development along State street.

To keep up the surrounding neighborhood of the downtown area, the study noted a need for major rehabilitation of neighborhoods south and east of the downtown.

In discussing transportation the study recommended two controversial subjects as ways of solving problems.

The study said rerouting of through traffic around downtown (a major problem in itself) "would include utilization of the proposed (I-44) penetrator route and could involve upgrading Broad and Wayne streets."

The report also suggested public transit in the form of Dial-A-Ride as a partial solution to solving a lack of parking spaces.

Lackner said the city presently lacks about 100 parking spaces in the downtown area to accommodate shoppers' traffic.

A suggestion to re-route through traffic away from the downtown instead of through it as it goes now brought criticism from the audience.

One businessman said: "Traffic's about the best thing we got. If I were to build a shopping center I'd find the busiest street and put it there. The most important thing we got is people."

The study suggested through traffic should be routed around the periphery of the downtown area. Included as a possibility was shutting off portions of State street to traffic.

The fourth category of the study, design and appearance of the downtown, included the following recommendations:

—Improvement of the lakefront and riverfront.

—Major pedestrian-related improvements which might involve the removal or reduction of traffic and parking along State street.

—Development of an overall "theme" and streetscape system.

Lockner said the improvement project for the downtown has three phases. The meeting last night concluded, phase I.

He said phase I was for Barton-Aschman to become familiar with the downtown area and its problems.

Phase II will include a process of narrowing down priorities for the downtown and selecting one or two big projects of improvement "the city can sink their teeth into."

Phase III includes helping the city find ways of implementing the projects.

Loyal Good Fellow Enriches BH Fund

The Benton Harbor Area Good Fellow Fund was enriched $10 today by one of its most faithful contributors.

Walker Gillie of Coloma has been a Good Fellow for years and years and years. Today, he came in with $10 sending the 1975 total to $385.16.

But one thing was missing. Walk usually pens a couple of lines of poetry to go with his gift. This time it contained a simple message that can't be repeated too often: "Love Thy Neighbor."

"Walk may have run out of poetry, but he hasn't run out of good thoughts," Santa Claus said. "Now we should write a poem for Walk."

But Santa dropped the idea after writing "You can't fault Walk" and getting no further.

Walk's varied career has included farmer, livestock buyer, auctioneer, resort and district representative for Michigan Gas Utilities Co. He's now in well earned retirement.

Benton Harbor Area Good Fellows have about a month to complete their goal of $7,500. Santa figured it's about 5 per cent of the way home.

"As we approach a big weekend of football and the Thanksgiving holiday, let's think about those who will be in need at Christmas."

"Sign up as Good Fellow today and help assure Christmas needs will be met in the Benton Harbor Area," Santa urged.

State Will Try Pair

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Two Ann Arbor men arrested in the abduction of the son of a General Motors executive will be tried on state kidnapping charges, Oakland County Prosecutor Brooks Patterson said Thursday.

Clinton Williams, 19, and Darryl E. Wilson, 22, were arrested last Friday in the abduction of 13-year-old Timothy Stempel.

The two men were arraigned Saturday in U.S. District Court on federal charges of extortion, which carries a maximum 20-year prison term and a fine of $10,000.

Patterson said authorities now agree it would be more appropriate to try the men on the state charge "if for no other reason than the seriousness of the offense." The state charge carries a possible life sentence.

Criminal Justice System To Be BH Panel Subject

The Crime Prevention unit of the Benton Harbor police department and the Citizens Crime Deterrence council will present a panel discussion on the criminal justice system Saturday at 2 p.m. in the public library.

Det. Lt. Alfred Edwards said five criminal justice authorities have been invited to participate on the panel: Harry A. Lally, retired Fifth District judge;

John H. Smietanka, Berrien county prosecutor; Yvonne Hughes, Benton Harbor city attorney; Andrew L. Rodez, city police chief; and Henry Lang, parole and probation agent.

Edwards said the program is intended to clear up misconceptions some people may have about the criminal justice system.

"Too often citizens fail to understand the police role within the criminal justice system. Somehow they feel that the police are responsible for the arrest, adjudication and punishment of an individual. Actually, the police are responsible for just one phase of the system."

Edwards said each panelist will talk on duties of his respective office and the public will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Cold Storage Firm Shifts Top Officers

By JERRY KRIEGER
Farm and Features Editor

John Steimle of Dowagiac and Jordan Tatter of Watervliet were elected to new top management positions with Southern Michigan Cold Storage Co., Sodus, last night.

At an organizational meeting of the board of directors following the annual stockholders meeting at the Howard Johnson restaurant, Steimle became chairman of the board.

Tatter, who resigned as southwestern Michigan district horticultural agent for

Michigan State university recently, was named company president and chief executive officer. Tatter relaces Steimle in those offices.

Steimle, 41, has been president of the firm since 1967. During that time, the corporation has increased its sales volume by over 800 per cent and has expended its operations by purchasing warehouse facilities at several points in Michigan and Indiana.

Tatter, 38, left the district horticultural agent's post Oct. 31 to assume full-time management responsibilities with Southern Michigan. He has been on the board of directors since 1971 and served as board secretary since 1973.

Elected to the board to succeed retiring director Victor Crandall of Benton Harbor, was Rodger Bittner, a St. Joseph attorney. Bittner then was named to succeed Tatter as secretary of the board.

Crandall, one of the company's original stockholders and board members, served on the board since its formation in 1954.

Chairman Steimle said the personnel change is the major step in a management restructuring process that started several months ago.

"Southern Michigan Cold Storage has grown rapidly in recent years, and it appears it will continue to grow," Steimle stated. "We wanted to make certain that our management team was constructed to encourage the continued growth."

Southern Michigan is one of the largest public warehousing companies in the Midwest, with over 14 million cubic feet of storage at five plants. Facilities, in addition to the main plant in Sodus township, are located at Hart and Decatur in Michigan, and Logansport and South Bend, Ind.

Four other board members reelected last night by stockholders were Howard Clupper, Dowagiac; Gerald Fisher, South Bend; Earl Steimle, Benton Harbor, and Russell Tidey, Sodus.

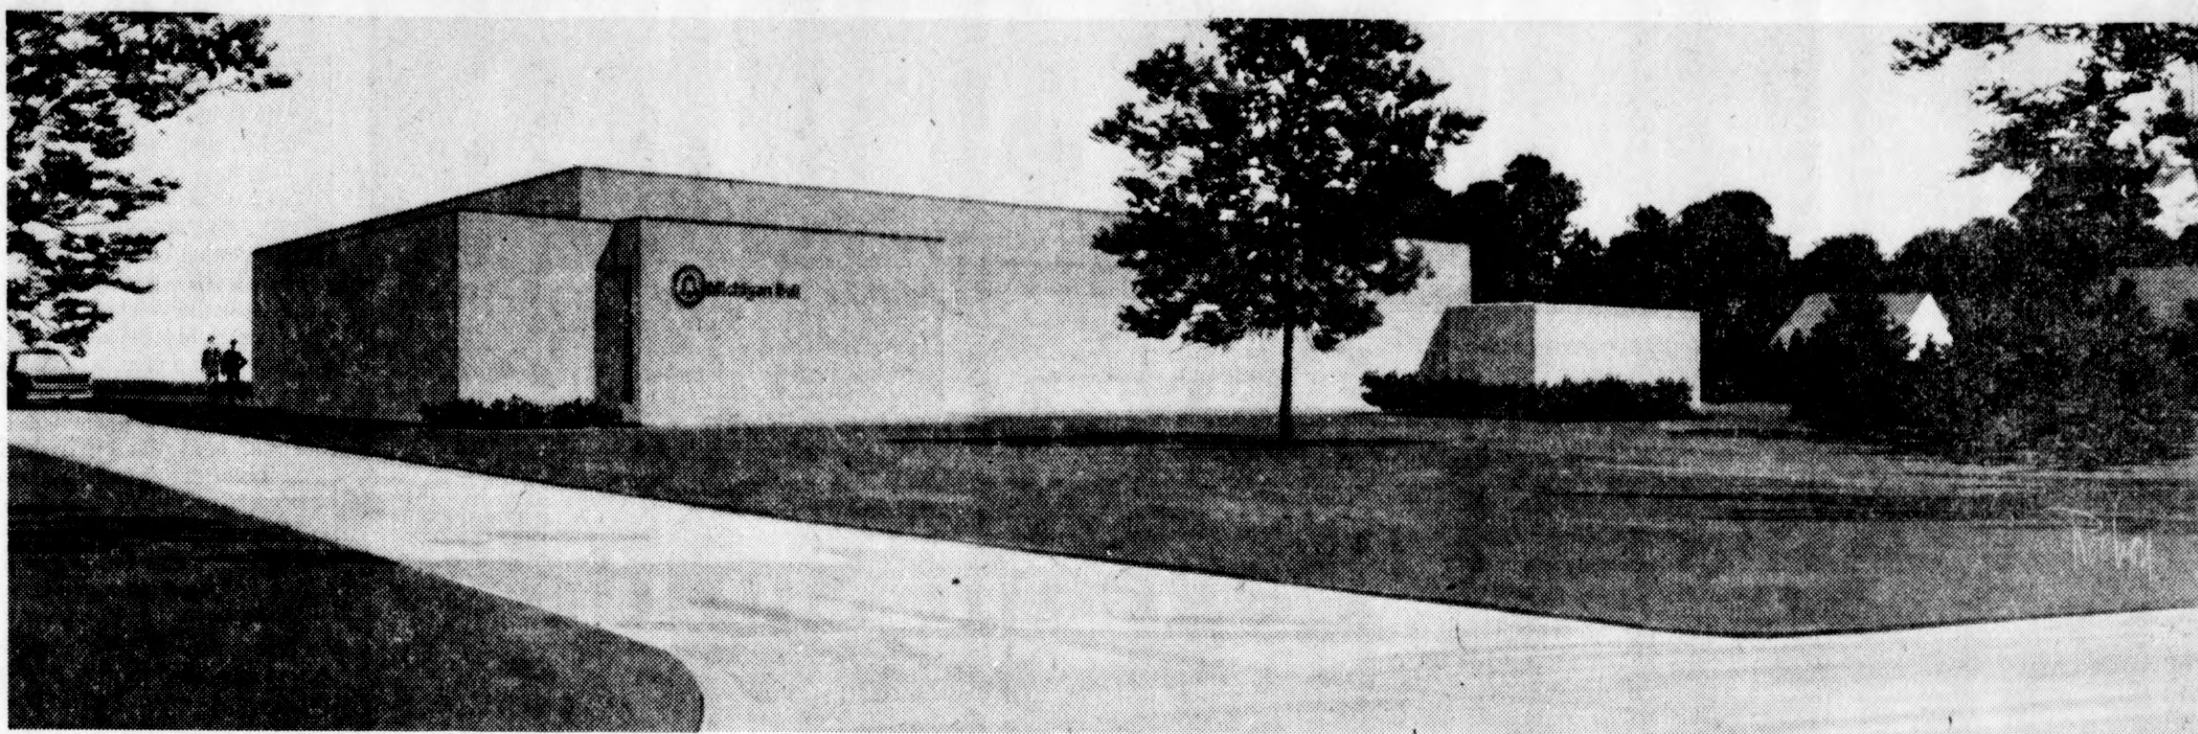

Chairman Steimle, a lifelong resident of southwestern Michigan, serves on the board of directors of Benton Harbor's Farmers and Merchants National bank. Recently he was named as a director of the Western Golf association, which sponsors three national golf tournaments, including the Western Amateur tournament held annually at Point O' Woods country club, Benton Harbor. Steimle was a varsity golfer when he attended Michigan State university. He and his wife, Mary Ann, have two children and reside Route 4, Indian Lake, Dowagiac.

Tatter is a founder and former co-owner of Prescription Farming of Eau Claire, and has served as a representative of Chemago Corp. Since January of 1974, Tatter has been a director of the Seventh Federal Reserve District bank of Chicago, Detroit branch. He received his master's degree in entomology from Michigan State university in 1960. He and his wife Mary have two sons and live on Beechwood Circle drive, Watervliet.

Bittner, the new secretary, is a member of the law firm of Globensky, Gleiss, Henderson and Bittner. A native of Benton Harbor, he is a 1966 graduate of the University of Michigan law school and served as a clerk in the Michigan court of appeals and in the U.S. Army before returning here to practice in 1969. Bittner and his wife, Barbara, and two children live on Windsor drive in St. Joseph.

CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY: Michigan Bell has started construction on a $1.4 million electronic central office to serve telephone customers north of Benton Harbor and Hagar township. Edward A. Mabin, district manager for Bell, said one-story building at southwest corner of Coloma and Fikes roads will house an electronic switching system that will provide area customers with one of the most up-to-date communications systems, including Touch-Tone and Custom Calling services. The central office building will be known as Benton Harbor-North, and will be brick and block with bar joist and flat roof construction. Building is expected to be completed by summer of 1976 after which crews from Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell system, will begin installing electronic telephone equipment. Mabin said new equipment is expected to become operational in fall of 1977 and will provide facilities for more than 4,000 customer lines. General contractor is Holland Construction company, St. Joseph. Architectural services were provided by Prine Toshach Associates of Saginaw, Mich.

DEVELOPMENT STUDY AIRED

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

It would be "virtually impossible" for a major retail store to locate in downtown St. Joseph, according to Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., a planning consultant firm that recently made a study of the downtown area.

Rodney E. Engelen and John H. Lockner, both principal associates with Barton-Aschman of Evanston, Ill., presented the study last night to about 70 members of the St. Joseph business community, St. Joseph planning commission and city commission.

The meeting was held at the community room of the St. Joseph Savings & Loan, south-town branch, South State street.

Both Lockner and Engelen said trying to locate a major retail store such as J.C. Penney's or Sears in the downtown area would be extremely difficult under current conditions for two major reasons:

1) Presently, there is not enough room in the downtown area for a large retail store and adjoining parking.

2) The city cannot match the offer a large retail store can get from a shopping center.

According to Lockner, large retail stores are now saying to downtowns, "Show me the land where I'm going to build and parking space and offer me 'cornfield' prices (for land) that I can get at a shopping center."

Engelen said, "Major retailers are in the driver's seat and they know it."

Nevertheless, the Barton-Aschman study indicated that a major retail store located in the downtown core (business area on State street) would be a big plus for the city.

Both Lockner and Engelen based their statements on the difficulty of locating a major retail store downtown on their experiences with other cities that have tried unsuccessfully to do so for a number of years.

Chair Back Home At Mount Vernon

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

A chair George Washington bought for his wife is back home at Mount Vernon, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. John S. Stubblefield of St. Joseph.

The chair was donated by the Stubblefields two years ago to the Mount Vernon Ladies Association of the Union which is restoring the Virginia home to the days when George and Martha Washington were the occupants.

The Stubblefields' gift was recognized this year when a picture of the chair appeared in "The Magazine Antiques."

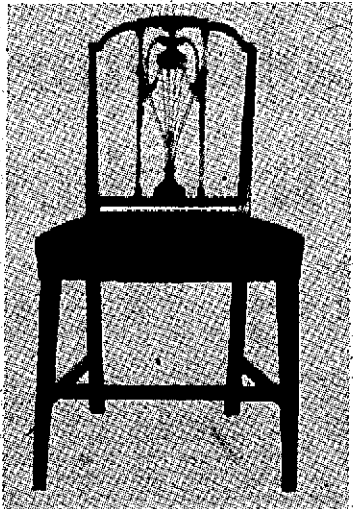

Stubblefield, president of Peoples State bank, said the chair had been in Mrs. Stubblefield's family since 1870. It was acquired from an aunt of Mrs. Stubblefield, Mrs. William Perkins, of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The history of the mahogany side chair has been authenticated. It was made by John Aitken of Philadelphia and was one of 24 ordered by George Washington for his wife.

The collection was split with Martha's death in 1802. Twelve of the chairs were bequeathed to her granddaughter, Eleanor Custis Lewis, and the other 12 were acquired at auction that year by the Rev. Dr. John Weems of Port Tobacco, Md.

The Stubblefields' chair was in the group purchased by Weems. A descendant of Weems gave it to a member of Mrs. Stubblefield's family.

Stubblefield said he understands eight of those 12 chairs are back home at Mount Vernon.

MARTHA'S CHAIR

Asked why the chair was donated, he replied:

"A chair like this doesn't have the right to be in someone's private home. It belongs in a national shrine."

Dashingly Different Thanksgiving Dinner

Holiday Recipes

Great-grandma might have said, "Heavens to Betsy!" when she studied the recipes below.

A century ago, such ingredients as dairy sour cream and Parmesan cheese were known to few and the herbs used in cooking were limited by region and gardening skill. Traditional American holiday recipes were passed along by word of mouth and based on a few native ingredients. Like white bread — nice, but a little dull.

Today's turkey dinner can be dashingly different, yet reflect traditional favorites if you add a spoonful of imagination. Creamed onions suited generations past — today's family is excited by Onions Parmesan, the onions simmered in broth, the sauce lightly cheese. Reliable green beans become festive when flavored with dill and pimiento.

ONIONS PARMESAN
Two pounds small white onions, peeled
One can (thirteen and three-fourths ounces) chicken broth
One-half teaspoon thyme
Dash of pepper
One and one-half tablespoons cornstarch
Two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

In saucepan, combine onions, chicken broth, thyme, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes until onions are tender. Dissolve cornstarch in two tablespoons cold water. Add to onions; simmer, uncovered, three minutes until sauce is thickened. Pour onions and sauce into a one and one-half quart casserole. Sprinkle cheese over top. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for five to ten minutes or until lightly browned on surface. Or, place under the broiler for a few minutes. Spoon into individual serving dishes.

TURKEY TRIMMINGS

Makes six to eight servings.

HOLIDAY BEANS WITH DILL
One and one-fourth pounds fresh green beans, cut into one-inch pieces
One-fourth cup chopped onion
One-fourth cup diced green pepper
Two tablespoons butter or margarine
Three tablespoons flour
One can (thirteen and three-fourths ounces) chicken broth
One-half teaspoon dill weed

One-fourth cup diced pimiento
Cook beans in salt water 15 minutes or until just tender. While beans are cooking, saute onion and green pepper in butter about three minutes. Blend in flour. Gradually add chicken broth, stirring constantly. Add dill weed and pepper and simmer five minutes. Stir in pimiento. Pour sauce over well-drained beans. Spoon into individual serving dishes. Makes eight servings.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Andrews university Chamber Players will present a string concert Sunday, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

Single adult admission is $2. LeRoy Peterson, director of the 17-member Chamber Players, will be violin soloist.

The program will include the winter and spring sections of Vivaldi's "Four Seasons," complete with string simulations of chattering teeth, rain, birds singing, thunderstorms, dogs barking and wind.

Sonnetts by Vivaldi will be narrated during the composition along with demonstrations and explanations of what to listen for.

The program will also include Mozart, Holst and Frackenpohl.

Goal Post Treat

When the fans are ready and raring to cheer the team, fortify their spirits during pre-game time with a hefty, hearty pork burger.

This special treat will score points because it's packed with terrific pork flavor. Time and crowd problems are solved by shaping a generous amount of ground pork (8 ounces each) into 3/4-inch thick patties and baking them on a rack in a hot oven (400 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes.

Pros say it is better to season after the cooking is done. Onion rings, apple or tomato slices or sauerkraut can dress up the pork burgers if desired.

SW Michigan Pageant Sunday

Eight young women will participate in the Miss Southwest Michigan scholarship pageant Sunday, Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the student union at Lake Michigan college.

The pageant is the official preliminary pageant franchised under the Miss America program for entrants from Berrien and Cass counties and surrounding areas.

The pageant is associated with the community services and continuing education departments of Lake Michigan college.

Vying for the title of Miss Southwest Michigan 1976 will be:

—Linda Butera, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butera, Benton Harbor, is a senior at Lake Michigan Catholic high school.

—Ginger De Wolff, 19, daughter of Walter De Wolff, Coloma, 1974 graduate of Coloma high school where she was Miss Coloma in the Blossomtime festival. She has attended Lake Michigan college and is employed at Patterson Printers, Benton Harbor.

—Diane Kay Hansen, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hansen, Berrien Center, graduated from Taylor university, Upland, Ind., in 1974. She is currently teaching science and social studies in the Eau Claire middle school.

—Carolyn E. Potter, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Potter, Niles, is a 1975 graduate of Brandywine high school and was first runner-up in the 1975 Miss Niles contest. She is employed at the Peacock Shoppe in South Bend where she is also a model.

—Sherri Lynn Reid, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Reid, Union Pier, is a junior at Western Michigan university where she is majoring in business and communications in the honors college. She is a member of the WMU debate team and was first runner-up in the 1974 Miss New Buffalo contest and in the 1975 Miss Southwest Michigan pageant.

—Kathleen Annette Skelton, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Skelton, White Pigeon, is a 1975 honors graduate of Constantine high school and is a freshman at Michigan State university, working towards a law degree. She was second runner-up in Heart of Michigan pageant last year and is currently Miss Majorette of Michigan and holds several national titles.

—Kathleen Marie Van Meer, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Van Meer, New Buffalo, a graduate of New Buffalo high school, was Miss New Buffalo, 1974. She is majoring in pre-pharmacy at Ferris State college where she is a member of the marching band. She is also an actress with the Tin Tree at New Buffalo.

—Debra Louise Warsco, 19, daughter of Mrs. Carolyn Drenth, Decatur, and Dale Warsco, Dowagiac, was a 1974 honor graduate from Dowagiac high school and was Miss Dowagiac that year. She is a sophomore at Michigan State university studying interior design. She was National Blueberry queen in 1974.

Judges for the pageant include:

—Don Morrison, Plymouth, Ind., vice president in charge of field directors of the Miss Indiana scholarship pageant, has served as director of the Miss Plymouth pageant for 15 years and has been on the board of directors for the Miss Indiana pageant for the past 10 years.

—Lynne Nahikian, Allegan, producer-director of the Miss Allegan county pageant, is a dancing instructor and a member of the board and a pageant where he is a member of the board of directors. He has judged many of the affiliated preliminary pageants throughout Michigan.

Chair Back Home At Mount Vernon

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

A chair George Washington bought for his wife is back home at Mount Vernon, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. John S. Stubblefield of St. Joseph.

The chair was donated by the Stubblefields two years ago to the Mount Vernon Ladies Association of the Union which is restoring the Virginia home to the days when George and Martha Washington were the occupants.

The Stubblefields' gift was recognized this year when a picture of the chair appeared in "The Magazine Antiques."

Stubblefield, president of Peoples State bank, said the chair had been in Mrs. Stubblefield's family since 1870. It was acquired from an aunt of Mrs. Stubblefield, Mrs. William Perkins, of Council Bluffs Iowa.

The history of the mahogany side chair has been authenticated. It was made by John Aitken of Philadelphia and was one of 24 ordered by George Washington for his wife.

The collection was split with Martha's death in 1802. Twelve of the chairs were bequeathed to her granddaughter, Eleanor Custis Lewis, and the other 12 were acquired at auction that year by the Rev. Dr. John Weems of Port Tobacco, Md.

The Stubblefields' chair was in the group purchased by Weems. A descendant of Weems gave it to a member of Mrs. Stubblefield's family.

Stubblefield said he understands eight of

MARTHA'S CHAIR

those 12 chairs are back home at Mount Vernon.

Asked why the chair was donated, he replied:

Dashingly Different Thanksgiving Dinner

Holiday Recipes

Great-grandma might have said, "Heavens to Betsy!" when she studied the recipes below.

A century ago, such ingredients as dairy sour cream and Parmesan cheese were known to few and the herbs used in cooking were limited by region and gardening skill. Traditional American holiday recipes were passed along by word of mouth and based on a few native ingredients. Like white bread — nice, but a little dull.

Today's turkey dinner can be dashingly different, yet reflect traditional favorites if you add a spoonful of imagination. Creamed onions suited generations past — today's family is excited by Onions Parmesan, the onions simmered in broth, the sauce lightly cheesy. Reliable green beans become festive when flavored with dill and pimiento.

ONIONS PARMESAN

Two pounds small white onions, peeled
One can (thirteen and three-fourths ounces) chicken broth
One-half teaspoon thyme
One-half teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
One and one-half tablespoons cornstarch

Two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

In saucepan, combine onions, chicken broth, thyme, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes until onions are tender. Dissolve cornstarch in two tablespoons cold water. Add to onions; simmer, uncovered, three minutes until sauce is thickened. Pour onions and sauce into a one and one-half quart casserole. Sprinkle cheese over top. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for five to ten minutes or until lightly browned on surface. Or, place under the broiler for a few minutes. Spoon into individual serving dishes.

TURKEY TRIMMINGS

Makes six to eight servings.

HOLIDAY BEANS WITH DILL

One and one-fourth pounds fresh green beans, cut into one-inch pieces

One-fourth cup chopped onion

One-fourth cup diced green pepper

Two tablespoons butter or margarine

Three tablespoons flour

One can (thirteen and three-fourths ounces) chicken broth

One-half teaspoon dill weed

Dash of pepper

One-fourth cup diced pimiento

Cook beans in salt water 15 minutes or until just tender. While beans are cooking, saute onion and green pepper in butter about three minutes. Blend in flour. Gradually add chicken broth, stirring constantly. Add dill weed and pepper and simmer five minutes. Stir in pimiento. Pour sauce over well-drained beans. Spoon into individual serving dishes. Makes eight servings.

String Concert Nov. 23

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Andrews university Chamber Players will present a string concert Sunday, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

Single adult admission is $2. LeRoy Peterson, director of the 17-member Chamber Players, will be violin soloist.

The program will include the winter and spring sections of Vivaldi's "Four Seasons," complete with string simulations of chattering teeth, rain, birds singing, thunderstorms, dogs barking and wind.

Sonnets by Vivaldi will be narrated during the composition along with demonstrations and explanations of what to listen for.

The program will also include Mozart, Holst and Frackenpohl.

Goal Post Treat

When the fans are ready and raring to cheer the team, fortify their spirits during pre-game time with a hefty, hearty pork burger.

This special treat will score points because it's packed with terrific pork flavor. Time and crowd problems are solved by shaping a generous amount of ground pork (6 ounces each) into ¾-inch thick patties and baking them on a rack in a hot oven (400 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes.

Pros say it is better to season after the cooking is done. Onion rings, apple or tomato slices or sauerkraut can dress up the pork burgers if desired.

Juvenile Arthritis Problems

Parents and physicians caring for children or adolescents with arthritis should be "alert to deal with the array of psychological problems that accompany the disease," says Elizabeth R. McAnarney, MD, and I. Barry Pless, MD, in the fall issue of "INFLO".

"Children and adolescents who have juvenile arthritis experience psychological problems related to their developmental stage, degree of symptomatology and disability, and the family's ability to cope with their illness," explain the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry physicians in The Upjohn Company's scientific publication devoted to diagnosis and therapy of inflammatory disease.

They make the following points in regard to various age groups:

— Pre-school children who move with discomfort miss exploratory experiences normal to their age. They fear to move out of a limited area, and their lives seem to them a series of threatening events. Children under five may be less willing to strive for independence if others meet too many of their needs.

— School-age children may be embarrassed and feel that they are "different." They may develop passivity, preferring not to attempt new activities for fear of failure. Arthritic children of school age may develop active or passive feelings of anger and frustration. Active anger takes forms of temper tantrums and disobedience at home or school. Passive anger results in withdrawal, underachievement and failure to complete tasks.

— Adolescents are particularly sensitive about appearance and conforming to peers' expectations. Arthritis diagnosed in adolescence is more critical for emotional development than that diagnosed at earlier ages. In addition to the normal "growing-up" problems of their ages, newly-diagnosed teenage arthritics lack the experience they would have had in coping with their disease had it appeared earlier. Adolescents may regress to dependence on others and experience rage and depression.

"The depressed teenager may also be suicidal," Drs. McAnarney and Pless say, "and when asked directly if he has considered suicide, may answer affirmatively."

"They note that the adolescent, realizing physicians' and nurses' concern about his depression and possible suicide, may manipulate professionals into overreacting to his feelings. This expression of anger does not mean the teenager is unconcerned about how adults feel. He is concerned, and attempts to avoid communication may inspire further anger."

Problems for parents of arthritic children can arise from fears of hurting the child — for example, forcing him to exercise. Parents often respond to the child's angry accusations and demands for attention and service with guilt feelings.

The Rochester physicians advise parents: to encourage behavior in arthritic children appropriate to their ages; to reinforce their strengths, and, to minimize their deficits in realistic ways.

"The physician should be aware of the psychological problems that may be associated with children with juvenile arthritis and with their families' problems as well," they say.

In case of question as to whether the child's emotional development is normal, professional counseling should be sought, they say.

Mrs. Alice Heffron, 2727 Pier road, Benton Harbor, celebrated her 90th birthday at a potluck dinner Nov. 16 at Riverside township hall.

Hosting the event were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward (Geraldine) Broderick, and family, with whom she makes her home.

Mrs. Heffron, the former Alice Gannon, was born Nov. 14, 1885, in Chicago, where she resided until the death of her husband, Thomas, in 1964. She has lived with her daughter's family since that time.

She also has a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Heffron, of Berwyn, Ill.

Mrs. Heffron is a member of St. John's Catholic church, Benton Harbor. She has 10 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

XI GAMMA THETA CHAPTER of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will host Beta Omicron chapter Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Joe Schnebel, 1976 Elm Terrace, Benton Harbor.

RETIRED FOR FUN CLUB will meet Tuesday, Nov. 25, at First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph, at 6 p.m. A potluck dinner for members will follow the meeting. The Barbershop Quartet, with Ray Leatz, will provide entertainment. Chairmen are Mrs. Edith Brown and Mrs. Ruth Hurst.

List Monday Film

A country north from Seattle and Vancouver, where gold deposits may still await discovery, is the subject of the film to be shown Monday, Nov. 24, at 12:15 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library auditorium.

"There's the Land — Have You Seen It?" explores this legendary country.

The public is invited and anyone wishing to bring a lunch may do so.

Books added to the library collection are "The Greek Treasure" by Irving Stone; "Valley Forge" by MacKinley Kantor; "The Painted Word," Tom Wolfe; "Flying," Kate Millet; "How to Live Through Junior High School," Eric Johnson; "Tracker," David Wagoner; "The Art of Walt Disney" by Christopher Finch, and "Do It Yourself Plumbing" by Max Alth.

Small Amounts Freeze Better

When you are freezing leftover turkey and dressing put the meat and the stuffing in separate small containers.

The use of small containers is advised so that the center of the package as well as the sides will freeze quickly.

Microbiologists suggest this method as a safeguard against food poisoning.

Cut Down Food Costs

When holiday shopping creates a budget deficit, hard-cooked eggs can cut down family food costs.

Use them as a complete protein source or protein extender in soups, salads, casseroles and sauces.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

No Joy In This Family

Dear Ann Landers: Tell us again about the joys of family. We aren't convinced.

Our only child, a son, 23, has caused us more heartache than we can bear. This boy was every parent's dream until he reached 14 and started on drugs. After numerous arrests he was sent to a reform school, released on parole, and arrested shortly after for breaking and entering. We have done everything we can think of to help straighten him out, but nothing works. People always think it's the parents' fault, but is it? We did our best — paid out a small fortune for professional help, but no one could reach him. We've spent hundreds of sleepless nights worrying about our son, afraid the phone would ring again — someone asking us to come and get him (passed out from an overdose) or telling of a car accident with him dead or others killed by his recklessness.

If you'd like to see a grown man cry, look me up any day. — His Dad

Dear Dad: When children go wrong, it's not always the parents' fault. We now know that the genetic factor can be a dominating influence in behavioral patterns.

Some children inherit fragile nervous systems. They go haywire and crack up — don't respond to parental love or professional help.

So stop feeling guilty. You've done your best. Angels can do no more.

restaurant and brought cartons of Chinese food purchased at a carry-out place down the street. There's a way to put an end to such behavior.

I had a few "customers" who pulled the same stunt — only these fools brought their lunch in paper bags and sat in a booth for a full hour, drinking our water, using our salt, pepper, sugar, mustard, catsup, toothpicks and paper napkins. (They always left a mess and said "thank you" when they left.)

After a week of it, I handed them a check just as they were preparing to leave. I charged them $1 per person for the use of the booth and the items on the table.

They were shocked, refused to pay it and walked out in a huff. Needless to say I never saw them again. — Good Riddance months ago came up to me and said, "I'm told you have a beautiful voice and sing at weddings. Will you sing at mine?" I said I'd be glad to.

The wedding was beautiful. Her father must have spent a great deal of money on it. I sang three numbers and my sister accompanied me at the piano. The bride and groom and their parents were very complimentary about my singing.

A week ago the new Mrs. returned from her honeymoon. Again she thanked me for singing — but made no mention of money. Usually I get $40 or $50. Should I send her a bill? — Been Had Dear Had: Sorry, it's too late. The time to have talked about money was when she asked you to sing.

Some brides present the musician with a gift if no fee is set and the music is provided as a favor — but you can't ask for THAT either.

Teaching your kids the facts of life can be easy or awkward. Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex" can spell the difference. Send 50 cents in coin, along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request, to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois, 60120.

Definite Prejudice

I've heard of bake-offs, sew-offs, cat-offs and cook-offs, but the North American Ball Farms, Inc., of Ontario, Calif., is conducting a contest to find the best recipe using earthworms.

You heard right. That's earth as in ground and worms as in Yiddish!

Ronald Gaddie, president of the company, asks that before you make a decision, consider the pros and cons.

PRO: These little creatures can turn waste into fertilizer for plants, they can feed fish and other animals, and when properly prepared make excellent eating for people.

CON: They can also turn your stomach.

PRO: They are low in calories.

CON: Then how come a carp has no waistline?

PRO: They can be baked in cookies, added to casseroles, or sprinkled on salads.

CON: So can coconut and it doesn't wriggle while you are baking, adding, and sprinkling.

PRO: There is a prize of $500 for the best recipe.

CON: Money can't buy new friends.

PRO: Call them "Ver de terre" and they become a gourmet dish.

CON: Get a smart-aleck translator and we're back to "bait" again.

PRO: They are an acquired taste.

CON: So is hemlock.

PRO: It would be handy to have gourmet food right in your own back yard.

CON: That's what Euell Gibbons said when he nearly choked to death on a hickory nut.

PRO: Cooking with earthworms leaves the taste to your imagination.

CON: My imagination would do better if the earthworm had two thighs, two wings and white meat.

Speaking as a truly biased bigot who has definite prejudices against the eating of earthworms, I'd like to enter my recipe early.

BAIT KABOBS

Take one Dixie cup of earthworms, coat with rich soil and pack in a coffee can (not too firmly).

Take individually and thread on a hooked skewer. Marinate in fresh water for as long as it takes. Feeds a family of four curious fish.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My sister is on a kelp diet kick. I always question her enthusiasm for any new diet idea. This is about the 10th gimmicky diet she's tried. Each time she's convinced this is the one. What is this "Kelp" thing?

Miss R. L., Ohio

Dear Miss L.: Kelp is a seaweed known to be highly nutritious and very low in calories.

It is often an important part of the regular diet in Far Eastern countries.

Kelp has captured the attention of a great many health enthusiasts and actually has been used successfully for many people who are trying to lose weight.

However, a problem has come to light that should be brought to your sister's attention. About 5 per cent of the American people seem to have unusual sensitivity to iodine. Since kelp contains a large amount of potassium iodide it would pose a potential health risk for these people.

It is true that this percentage may seem small. Yet, for those who have this sensitivity, complex problems centered around the thyroid gland might result.

I therefore suggest that before anyone plans an extensive period of kelp-supplemented diet that their thyroid function be investigated. Then, with permission of the doctor, it could be considered safe.

Is it safe to borrow someone else's lipstick? I have a friend who is constantly forgetting her own.

Dear Miss L.: It is unwise to trade cosmetics in this way. I recall a bacterial study that revealed powder puffs contaminated with staphylococcus germs.

Many people may build up an immunity to their own personal mouth and skin germs and be free from infection. Yet, the germs that are safe for them may cause infections in others.

Several cases of severe eye infections were recently traced to an infected mascara brush that had been passed around at a school play.

Cosmetics are very personal and should be kept that way.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Is it time for your annual X-ray of the chest — which hasn't been done for five years?

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "What to Do About Ulcers." For your copy, send a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Ulcer Booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Nitrites Used In Meats

Use of nitrites in curing meat products is a safety measure since nitrites inhibit the development of the dreaded, often fatal, botulism toxin.

Nitrites also give cured meats their typical color, flavor and keeping qualities.

opening bid. Thus his jack of spades was surely going to be a winner. Therefore, he took dummy's ace of spades and instead of discarding a spade on a diamond promptly led a trump. East went right up with his ace and led a low spade. It didn't matter what South did next. West collected tricks with his queen and 10 and followed up with the extra blow. He led his last spade.

East ruffed with the jack. South had to overruff and eventually West scored a trick with his 10 of hearts.

Ask the Jacobys

An Illinois reader wants to know what he should have bid next. His hand was:

AKQJ 9 8 5 4 AKQ87 8 5 Partner jumped to three clubs. He bid three diamonds and partner three hearts.

The answer is that he should have bid three spades with every intention of heading for a slam — probably in notrump.

Several cases of severe eye infections were recently traced to an infected mascara brush that had been passed around at a school play.

Cosmetics are very personal and should be kept that way.

Shopping Spree

Monday

PAW PAW — The Lake View Community hospital auxiliary will present a Christmas shopping spree in the hospital's multi-purpose room from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday, Nov. 24.

A number of unusual items, as well as holiday decorations and candies will be on sale, according to Mrs. Ann Blakely, sale chairman. Proceeds will go to the hospital.

Buchanan Meetings

BUCHANAN — Buchanan 30 club will meet at 1:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 24, at the home of Mrs. Ted Lyon, 109 North Detroit street.

Mrs. Alfred Hanson will present the program, "To Establish Justice."

BUCHANAN — The Budding Friendships Garden club will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the home of Mrs. Richard Dragomer, 626 Circle Ridge drive.

Mrs. William Peterson will conduct a workshop on Christmas tree decorations and ornaments.

Nitrites Used In Meats

Use of nitrites in curing meat products is a safety measure since nitrites inhibit the development of the dreaded, often fatal, botulism toxin.

Nitrites also give cured meats their typical color, flavor and keeping qualities.

Band Parents To Meet Nov. 24

NEW BUFFALO — The annual meeting of the New Buffalo Band Parents club will be held Monday, Nov. 24, in the high school band room.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m.

Irishman Helped To Finance Revolution

By PTER MERNON
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — George Washington may have fought the battles but Oliver Pollock paid the bills — at least many of them.

Pollock is credited with raising $300,000 for the American Revolution, most of it out of his own pocket. Only France, Spain and Holland gave more.

For his concern he landed in a debtor's prison and is hardly a footnote in most history books.

The barrel-chested Irish immigrant was much more than a footnote in the wartime journals of George Rogers Clark. He referred almost daily to Pollock's financial assistance during his campaign against the British on the young nation's western frontier.

The battles eventually led to American control of the land between the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. And Clark, then a general, said Pollock put up almost every penny his 200-man army needed.

Pollock also bankrolled an expedition against the British in western Florida, which at that time included a good slice of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

He begged, borrowed and bartered the money and funneled most of it straight to the Continental Congress.

Why all this patriotic benevolence?

"He was an Irishman and that was reason enough to hate the British," says John Chase, a local historian. "He also was worried that if England won, his trading empire he had carved out west of the Mississippi would be in jeopardy."

Pollock arrived in Pennsylvania in 1760 virtually penniless at the age of 23. By 1762 he was a successful merchant in Havana and six years later he had his own trading business in Spanish-controlled New Orleans.

He made a bundle selling flour to the Spanish during one of their miniwars with the French Creoles and by the time the bullets started flying at Lexington and Concord he was one of the city's wealthiest men.

When the Continental Congress had difficulty raising tax money from a population that had been shouting "no taxation without representation" Pollock came to the rescue. He put his considerable fortune on the line and what he couldn't loan personally, he borrowed.

Chase said Pollock even co-signed some of the nation's paper money which everyone eventually realized "wasn't worth a Continental."

When Washington won at Yorktown, Pollock's creditors began clamoring for their money and he took a quick trip to Philadelphia seeking repayment.

Congress, however, was broke.

"He finally got most of his money back but not until years later," Chase said. "He even landed in a debtor's prison in Cuba for a while."

Pollock spent his final years with a daughter on a plantation in western Mississippi and died in 1823. The only portraits of him were destroyed during the Civil War. "I'd say the time has come for people to take a look at this man," Chase said. "What he did is worth remembering."

DENIES REPORTS
ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet writer, has denied reports that he is suffering from depression.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Nov. 21, the 324th day of 1975. There are 40 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1877, Thomas Edison announced that he had invented a talking machine. He called it the phonograph.

On this date: In 1806, Napoleon Bonaparte issued the Berlin Decree, declaring a blockade of the British Isles.

In 1855, Sweden joined Britain, France and Turkey in an alliance against Russia.

In 1894, the Japanese captured the Manchurian city of Port Arthur.

In 1938, the western border areas of Czechoslovakia were forcibly incorporated into the German Reich.

In 1961, West Berlin police turned back thousands of West Berlin university students trying to storm the Communist barriers dividing Berlin.

In 1970, U.S. planes launched raids against North Vietnam.

Ten years ago: Washington sources denied reports that Rumania had offered to mediate in the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: U.S. planes carried out heavy raids against North Vietnam in retaliation for attacks on American reconnaissance planes.

One year ago: President Ford arrived in Seoul for talks with South Korean officials.

Today's birthdays: Actress Vivian Blaine is 54. Baseball's Stan Musial is 53.

Thought for today: Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning — the Psalms.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the British parliament voted to confiscate all American ships and force their crewmen to join the Royal Navy.

NY Legislature Ready To Act

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state legislature appears ready to enact a $200 million New York City tax increase package — including a 10 per cent hike in city residents' income taxes — which it believes necessary to get President Ford's approval for federal help to permanently rescue the city from default.

State officials also said late Thursday they are "very near" completing a $150 million financial arrangement to help the city avert a possible default next week.

The city survived a near brush with default on Thursday, when the state's Municipal Assistance Corp. scraped together $100 million and rushed it to the city treasury to help meet a $127 million payroll.

But before that transaction, the city had briefly held up delivery of tens of thousands of paychecks to city employees. The checks, which eventually were distributed, were dated today, but traditionally the city has delivered them a day ahead of time.

A similar confrontation with financial collapse is now threatened for next Tuesday, when officials say the city is short about $80 million needed to meet various obligations.

But Gov. Hugh Carey said Thursday that officials were "very close" to gathering some $150 million needed to clear that hurdle and keep the city afloat until Dec. 11 — enough time, Carey hopes, for Congress and the President to agree on some form of federal loan guarantees or other aid to keep the city from the jaws of default.

The governor refused, as in the past, to say what the sources of that $150 million would be. But a spokesman for Comptroller Arthur Levitt, who previously had refused to commit state employee pension funds for the money, said "a variety of state funds" would be used.

With Ford administration sources hinting that the President will agree to federal aid if the state legislature authorizes some $200 million in city tax increases by early next week, Carey continued pressuring the legislators Thursday to agree on such an increase.

The first two approaches offered for new taxes — a boost in income and commuter taxes recommended by Democrats, and a one-cent increase in the city sales tax to a combined city-state levy in New York of nine cents on the dollar as favored by Republicans — were jilted by the hard partisan divisions they prompted.

So the legislature, which has now been in its "emergency" special session for a week, again put off floor action Thursday, and aides to the Democratic and Republican legislative leaders began talks on a series of "nuisance" taxes to raise the $200 million.

Spain Is Quiet In Wake Of Gen. Franco's Death

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spaniards began streaming past the body of Generalissimo Francisco Franco today as the police throughout Spain stepped up precautions against terrorist attacks. But the nation was quiet in the wake of the death of the 82-year-old dictator who had ruled it for 36 years.

The open coffin was placed in the Hall of Columns in the 18th century National Palace in Madrid to lie in state for two days. Hundreds were waiting when the doors opened at 8 a.m.

Franco's body was dressed in his general's uniform. Flanking the bier was an honor guard of 10 national leaders headed by Premier Carlos Arias Navarro.

Funeral services for Franco will be held Sunday in the plaza outside the palace. Then a motorcade will escort the body for burial in the cathedral Franco had built in the mountainside at the Valley of the Fallen, his monument to the Civil War dead 36 miles from Madrid.

Politicians were reported maneuvering for position before the installation Saturday of Franco's successor, Juan Carlos, as Spain's first king in 44 years.

Dope Probe May Touch Nixon Kin

DETROIT (AP) — A longtime personal jet pilot for fugitive financier Robert Vesco was subpoenaed to answer federal grand jury questions today about alleged narcotics smuggling that investigators believe might have touched the nephew of former president Richard Nixon.

The pilot, A. L. "Ike" Eisenhower, said the grand jury subpoena ordered him to tell all he knows about narcotics smuggling allegedly involving "Vesco and members of the family" of former president Richard Nixon.

Donald Nixon, the nephew of the former president, has served as a personal aide to Vesco for several years.

Vesco, a former Detroitier, fled the United States two years ago after he was accused in a civil suit filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission of misappropriating $224 million from mutual funds.

Testimony before the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations released earlier this year quotes a government informant, Franklin Peroff, as saying that Vesco was the financial backer of a scheme to smuggle 100 kilograms of heroin from France into the United States.

ments designated a cabinet minister to head their funeral delegations, signifying their distaste toward Franco's authoritarian rule.

"We wish the Spanish people and the government of Spain well in the period ahead," said President Ford in a message of condolence. "The United States for its part will continue to pursue the policy of friendship and cooperation which has formed the touchstone for the excellent relations existing between our two countries."

A heavy police guard was on duty at the National Palace and kept a watchful eye on the crowd of mourners waiting to file past the coffin. Intelligence sources said a Basque commando team armed with rifles mounted with telescopic sights was being sought in the Madrid area.

Extra police also surrounded the Barcelona prison after reports that rightists might attack 200 political prisoners inside. But it was generally believed that the anticipated struggle between the conservative defenders of Franco's authoritarian system and the liberals seeking the return of democracy would wait until after the funeral.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller was expected to lead the official U.S. delegation to Franco's funeral. President Augusto Pinochet, the head of Chile's military dictatorship, flew from Santiago to attend. Most West European govern-

NY Legislature Ready To Act

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state legislature appears ready to enact a $200 million New York City tax increase package — including a 10 per cent hike in city residents' income taxes — which it believes necessary to get President Ford's approval for federal help to permanently rescue the city from default.

State officials also said late Thursday they are "very near" completing a $150 million financial arrangement to help the city avert a possible default next week.

The city survived a near brush with default on Thursday, when the state's Municipal Assistance Corp. scraped together $100 million and rushed it to the city treasury to help meet a $127 million payroll.

But before that transaction, the city had briefly held up delivery of tens of thousands of paychecks to city employees. The checks, which eventually were distributed, were dated today, but traditionally the city has delivered them a day ahead of time.

A similar confrontation with financial collapse is now threatened for next Tuesday, when officials say the city is short about $60 million needed to meet various obligations.

But Gov. Hugh Carey said Thursday that officials were "very close" to gathering some $150 million needed to clear that hurdle and keep the city afloat until Dec. 11 — enough time, Carey hopes, for Congress and the President to agree on some form of federal loan guarantees or other aid to keep the city from the jaws of default.

Malpractice Bill On House Floor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The last piece of Michigan's medical malpractice package designed to keep a lid on malpractice insurance costs has been sent to the floor of the state House.

The bill would require the state Medical Practice Board to annually review its records on every doctor. It was reported out of the House Public Health Committee 11-0 Thursday.

"I'm ecstatic," said Karen Johns, Physicians Crisis Committee coordinator, after the House committee vote.

This allows for an adequate and fair re-examination of physicians when their licenses are renewed each year," she said. "The only physician who should be concerned about the bill is the bad doctor."

Under the measure, the medical board would keep a file on each doctor containing: complaints from patients which have been verified, records of felony convictions, disciplinary actions by hospitals, and results of malpractice lawsuits.

Such steps are necessary to allow the medical profession, through the state board, to get rid of bad doctors itself and raise public confidence in medicine, Miss Johns said.

If that is done, malpractice suits and insurance rates may decrease for the 1,600 high-risk doctors and surgeons in the crisis committee and others, she said.

Currently, the medical board may not act to take away a doctor's license until a complaint is made against him. The bill would allow the board to initiate its own action.

The individual files would also contain "much information that was not available before," Miss Johns said.

The information would be confidential, relate only to professional conduct and be open to challenge by the doctor it concerns.

A coalition of the crisis committee, unions, lawyers, doctors and others which worked for passage of the earlier malpractice legislation on insurance and arbitration is also behind the state board measure.

In addition to the files, the bill would enlarge the state board with two public members appointed by the governor. One public and 10 medical members are now on the board. The new members are intended to help handle the increased workload caused by the requirements to review all files annually.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Raymond Hood, D-Detroit, Public Health Committee chairman. If it wins House passage, the measure goes to the Senate.

The second measure, passed 88-1, is designed to encourage school districts to employ substitute teachers for periods long enough to qualify them for unemployment compensation.

Sponsored by Sen. Bill Huffman, D-Madison Heights, the bill also doubles the 12 hours of work per week now needed to get jobless pay.

The university employee bill was passed 78-0. It was sponsored by Rep. Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit.

The measure would end the ban on jobless benefits for university workers who also are taking one or more classes.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two bills intended to help substitute school teachers keep their jobs or receive unemployment compensation have passed the state House and been returned to the Senate for agreement with amendments.

The House also passed Thursday and sent to the Senate a bill allowing fired fulltime university employees to collect jobless benefits even if they were taking classes at the school.

One substitute teachers measure, approved 87-2, would for the first time give a substitute teacher who works one job for more than 90 days the same minimum wage and leave time given full-time teachers.

Sponsored by Sen. David Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, the bill would also require that a qualified substitute teacher who works 120 days during a school year and is reassigned the next year be offered a full-time contract by the school district.

Official Accused Of Kickback Plot

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The city's sewer maintenance superintendent has been suspended for paying phony overtime to two workers as part of what city officials charge was a kickback scheme.

John Noordyke, 48, was suspended pending a hearing Monday on charges of knowingly recording unworked overtime and accepting kickbacks. Noordyke had no comment on the charges.

City officials said the payroll padding lasted at least a year.

Richard Harvey, 48, a worker who failed to last through a probationary period when promoted to maintenance supervisor, revealed the kickbacks after being returned to his old post.

Harvey signed a statement saying he was paid for unworked hours and gave Noordyke part of the money.

In a letter suspending Noordyke, City Manager Joseph Grassie said Noordyke recorded fictitious overtime, some of that money was returned to him, the superintendent had ordered scrap metal sold, to finance Christmas and retirement parties, and Noordyke drank on the job plus furnished alcohol to other workers during work hours.

Grassie's letter contended Noordyke had confirmed all the allegations in signed and notarized statements.

The manager said he believes less than $200 of payroll padding was involved.

But city pay records show Harvey drew overtime on 30 of the 48 checks he received between Jan. 12, 1974 and Nov. 1 this year. The overtime ranged from 45 minutes to more than 50 hours.

Frank R. Cook, the former maintenance supervisor who died in March, had overtime 29 of the 32 periods from Jan. 12, 1974 until his death. On Feb. 22, just three weeks before Cook died, he was paid for 54 hours overtime.

Authorities said it appears only three persons were involved.

Lawmakers To Tie Knot

Propose $3 ID Card For Nondrivers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Martha Elizabeth Keys and Andrew Jacobs Jr. are proving that their committee assignment is the ways and means to romance.

Jacobs, a Democrat from Indianapolis, and Mrs. Keys, a Democrat from Manhattan, Kan., announced Thursday their plans to marry in January, making them the first husband-and-wife set of House members to serve at the same time.

They are known on the floor of the House of Representatives as "the gentle lady from Kansas" and "the gentleman from Indiana." They will also be known soon as Mr. and Mrs. .

They are planning a "small, personal" ceremony in Topeka, Kan. She will keep her present name and they will both keep their present legal addresses, thus giving them three residences including their dwelling here.

Both Jacobs, 43, and Mrs. Keys, 45, are members of the House Ways and Means Committee that has held long sessions this year on complicated tax issues. Mrs. Keys noted that those sessions have their by-products. "I would have to say that any couple who can marry after serving through hours of the intricacies of tax legislation on that committee already has achieved a significant milestone," she said.

Jacobs, who is serving his fifth term in the House, said: "This is the ultimate test of whether two can live with the same deductions as one." His career was interrupted in 1972 for two years when he lost a reelection try.

Jacobs, asked if there were any political ramifications of his planned marriage, replied: "Not that I can think of, but there might be a bachelor out in Kansas who will be jealous."

Mrs. Keys said the real problem will be "equal time" for their work and themselves, since both will be campaigning.

PLAN TO MARRY: Rep. Martha Keys, D-Kan., chats with her groom-to-be Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., in Washington Thursday. The two Congresspersons have announced plans for their wedding which is to take place in January in Topeka, Kansas. (AP Wirephoto)

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Teenagers and others without Michigan drivers' licenses would be able to buy similar "official state personal identification cards" for $3 under a bill which has passed the state House.

The measure was returned to the Senate for agreement with minor amendments on an 87-1 vote Thursday.

It is intended to provide nondrivers with identification needed for check cashing and other purposes.

The House defeated attempts to make the state issue the ID cards free to recipients of Aid to Dependent Children at an estimated cost of over $587,000. Opponents of the amendment said trial programs in three counties showed ID cards failed to reduce welfare fraud or check cashing.

Jacobs, a Democrat from Indianapolis, and Mrs. Keys, a Democrat from Manhattan, Kan., announced Thursday their plans to marry in January, making them the first husband-and-wife set of House members to serve at the same time.

They are known on the floor of the House of Representatives as "the gentle lady from Kansas" and "the gentleman from Indiana." They will also be known soon as Mr. and Mrs.

They are planning a "small, personal" ceremony in Topeka, Kan. She will keep her present name and they will both keep their present legal addresses, thus giving them three residences including their dwelling here.

Both Jacobs, 43, and Mrs. Keys, 45, are members of the House Ways and Means Committee that has held long sessions this year on complicated tax issues. Mrs. Keys noted that those sessions have their by-products. "I would have to say that any couple who can marry after serving through hours of the intricacies of tax legislation on that committee already has achieved a significant milestone," she said.

Jacobs, who is serving his fifth term in the House, said: "This is the ultimate test of whether two can live with the same deductions as one." His career was interrupted in 1972 for two years when he lost a reelection try.

Jacobs, asked if there were any political ramifications of his planned marriage, replied: "Not that I can think of, but there might be a bachelor out in Kansas who will be jealous."

Mrs. Keys said the real problem will be "equal time" for their work and themselves, since both will be campaigning.

Propose $3 ID Card For Nondrivers

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Teenagers and others without Michigan drivers' licenses would be able to buy similar "official state personal identification cards" for $3 under a bill which has passed the state House.

The measure was returned to the Senate for agreement with minor amendments on an 87-1 vote Thursday.

It is intended to provide nondrivers with identification needed for check cashing and other purposes.

The House defeated attempts to make the state issue the ID cards free to recipients of Aid to Dependent Children at an estimated cost of over $587,000. Opponents of the amendment said trial programs in three counties showed ID cards failed to reduce welfare fraud or check stealing.

HOMEMADE SPRAY RIG: Gary Robinson, formerly of Benton township and now owner of a small equipment company in Tampa, Fla., built this 400 gallon sprayer with stock parts available from many suppliers. He says the rig, which will be commercially available in Florida next year, costs less than other rigs because of the use of inexpensive parts. Gerald Knuth, of Benton township, reports that he has seen the rig in action and says it works well. Sprayer was at an equipment show in Allegan county earlier this year. It can handle full dilute, 400 gallons an acre, or concentrate, 400 gallons per 20 acres. Spray nozzles, seen at rear, are less apt to clog because box from which hoses come contains a V-shaped manifold. Chemical, under a slight 5 psi pressure, enters manifold at bottom, at point of "V." As chemical fans out, dirt and other particles settle downward, away from the outlet to the nozzles. (Photo by Everett Hutchinson)

Good Mixture Of Subjects At Hort. Convention

The annual meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society will feature the wide spectrum of speakers and topics which makes it the most important meeting of the year for fruit and vegetable growers.

Next month American and foreign researchers will talk about new developments; Michigan and Canadian marketers will discuss farm-to-consumer sales; a panel will tackle the state's Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act; an economist will outline the new state business activity tax; and an EPA official will speak.

The convention will be held Dec. 2 to 4 in the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium. In the nearby Pantlind Hotel, two grower meetings will be held on Monday, Dec. 1. Jerome Hull, society secretary, said.

The Michigan Pear Research Association will hold its annual business meeting at 2 p.m. Then at 8 p.m., the Michigan Apple Committee will hold a marketing meeting.

Speaker at Wednesday night's banquet will be Roscoe Drummond, syndicated newspaper columnist.

TUESDAY

10 a.m. — Don Harmon, society president, gives a word of welcome.

10:15 — Controlling perennial weeds, A.R. Putnam, Michigan State university horticulturist.

10:35 — Panel to discuss labor-saving and cost cutting ideas. Among panelists are Walter Rick, Baroda, discussing the quickness of planting trees with a trencher; Larry Culby, Benton Harbor, on mechanical pruning; Frank Klackie, Grand Rapids, on using clothes pins to reduce tree training costs.

11:40 — Michigan's new business activity tax, Myron Kelsey, MSU agricultural economist.

1:50 — Brown rot control, MSU Plant Pathologist Edward Kios.

Future Of French Grapes

Winemakers Blend Caution With Optimism

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

French hybrid grapes, which process into drier, finer wines than can be made from Concord or Niagara, will be the staple of the Michigan wine industry in future years, spokesmen say.

But how the state's wine industry will stand up to the heavy importation of inexpensive California wines expected to begin next fall is uncertain.

The advice to growers is to plant French grapes only if a future market is known, the men say. "This is not the time for speculative plantings."

Future plans at Warner Vineyards, Paw Paw, and Bronte Wine Co., Keeler, call for a near-total conversion to wines made from hybrid grapes.

Dick Vine, of Warner, Angelo Spinazze, of Bronte, and Stan Howell, Michigan State university grape researcher, say that wine quality will determine the sales of Michigan wines in the future.

Vine, who hosts about 100 wine tastings a year, reports that wine drinkers are becoming more sophisticated. They prefer wine made from French grapes, and Vine said sales of those wines "have been excellent."

Five years ago, 100 per cent of the wine bottled by Warner was made from Concord, Niagara or Delaware grapes, said Vine. That percentage has dropped to 80 now, with French grapes taking up the slack.

"The French-American varieties might be the only wine varieties we use in the future," he said.

Of course, the conversion will be slow. Warner now has over 100 acres of French grapes planted and, Vine said, "we're putting in 35 more acres this year." Growers that sell to Warner account for another 50 to 75 acres. It can be seen that hybrids are a small part of the winery's 2,500 acres.

Bronte Wine Co., which has a vineyard of 150 acres, is removing Niagara grapes each year in favor of several hybrid varieties, Spinazze said. With over 100 acres of hybrids, Spinazze says that in future years the winery will continue to use some Delaware or other American grapes for a few popular sweet wines, like white port, but will concentrate on hybrid-based wine.

Into, this, sunny future, however, roll black clouds from the West.

Between 1970 and 1974, about 180,000 acres of new vineyards were planted in California, more than doubling existing acreage, according to Editorial Research Reports, a news service. Over the same period, wine distribution increased by 65 per cent.

Dr. Howell, a booster of the Michigan wine industry, pointed out that the over-abundance of wine grapes in California puts Michigan "in a less than desirable marketing situation."

"The California wineries have a powerful effect here, according to Spinazze. This September, for example, Gallo sold three times more wine in Michigan than did all the state wineries together, he said.

Michigan's minuscule wine output of 1.8 to 2 million gallons a year compares with some 300 million gallons a year made in California, the state which produces 80 per cent of the wine drunk in America.

Vine says the California overplanting becomes Michigan's problem in the marketplace, and there "we can take them to task."

Against the overwhelming marketing machinery of the California wineries, Michigan's asset is "We make better wine than California," as Spinazze said. Howell points out the large quantity of Western wine is not of the best quality.

Michigan must avoid the "boom" in planting that now distresses California prices, Howell added.

A talk with Winemakers Vine and Spinazze shows that such a boom is unlikely to come because growers have always been reluctant to plant the French varieties.

At present, Howell said, hybrids account for fewer than 500 acres in Michigan. About 2,000 acres total are used by the winemakers, he estimated.

Although growers earn good money from hybrids — the lowest price paid by three wineries is $275 a ton — planting them is an expensive proposition, technology is different and, Vine said, "Growers are asking 'Are the wineries experimenting with my capital?'"

The owner of Lambrecht's Package Liquor store, a large wine retailer in St. Joseph, said that Michigan wines currently sell well despite the fact that California wines of comparable quality are, in some cases, less expensive.

Dick Lambrecht, who sells wine bottled by the 10 largest California wineries, said he feels the price of those wines will drop in about a year, when this year's vintage hits the shelf.

Storage Apple Prices Published, Broadcast

Information on FOB shipping point prices for storage apples in Southwestern Michigan will be published on the Market Page of this newspaper on a daily basis.

The report, prepared by Mike Pfleger, of the USDA Market News Service's Benton Harbor office, will contain prices for four different package sizes. The report covers shippers and grower-shippers from Berrien county to Grand Rapids, he said.

The report can also be heard on radio station WJLB. It will be broadcast at 6:55 in the morning from Tuesday to Saturday on AM and FM. FM listeners can hear the report again at 5:50 in the evening Monday through Friday.

UAW-Represented Workers Due For COLA Wage Hikes

DETROIT (AP) — Some 852,500 U.S. auto and agricultural implement workers will receive a cost-of-living wage increase of 10 cents an hour beginning next month, the United Auto Workers said Thursday.

In addition, 69,000 aerospace workers represented by the UAW will receive a cost-of-living increase of at least nine cents an hour, and 27,500 agricultural implement workers will get a 1.7 per cent cost-of-living raise, the union said.

The quarterly wage increase, won in UAW contracts to offset rising living costs, is based on the rise in the Consumer Price Index for the third quarter of this year.

The 10-cent Cost Of Living Allowance (COLA) applies to 852,500 UAW salaried and hourly workers at the Big Four auto makers, 147,500 in the agricultural implement industry and 50,000 at UAW-represented auto supply plants.

The increase will begin appearing in paychecks next month except at Chrysler Corp., where employees will receive a lump sum of $535.80 in March.

Including previous quarterly increases this year, auto workers have received a 37-cents-an-hour COLA raise, bringing the average straight pay for UAW workers employed by the auto makers to $6.77 an hour, the union said.

Under the COLA agreement, each company also increases its contribution to an employee's fringe benefits each quarter at the rate of one cent an hour.

Worker layoffs in the auto industry will decline next week by 6,900 with a production cutback scheduled for only one assembly facility.

Indefinite and temporary layoffs during the three-day week will affect 68,425 of the industry's 701,000 hourly workers.

Nearly half the layoff decline is the result of a bookkeeping revision at General Motors Corp., which said Thursday it had 43,000 of its 408,000 workers on indefinite layoff as of Nov. 1.

Previously, the firm listed 46,000 worker layoffs.

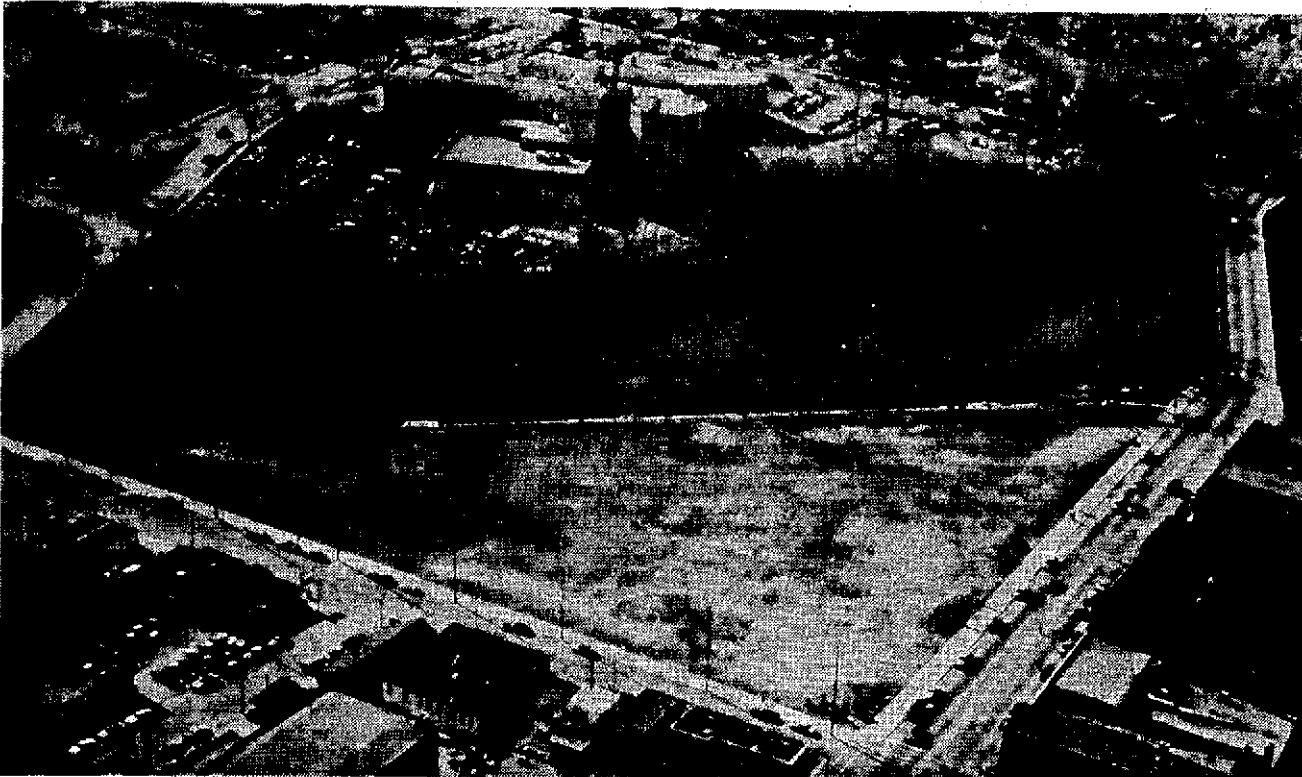

GM's Pontiac Division said it will recall 500 hourly workers from layoff Dec. 8, when it adds a second shift to its engine plant operations in Pontiac, Mich.

American Motors Corp. said it will halt Pacer and Hornet production at Kenosha, Wis., for the three-day work period, idling 3,100 temporarily.

Ford said 550 workers at the Cleveland Engine Plant No. 1 and 50 at the Saline, Mich., parts plant will be on temporary layoff next week.

The layoff picture contrasts sharply with a year ago, when the companies began extensive plant shutdowns and indefinite layoffs for tens of thousands of workers just before Thanksgiving because of slumping sales. Layoffs peaked at about 300,000 last winter.

Jobless Benefits Running Out For Many

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment benefits, often referred to by President Ford as "our first line of defense in a recession," are running out for tens of thousands of jobless Americans.

For the most part, they are men in the prime of their working years who were employed in blue-collar jobs. But a disproportionate number are blacks and the elderly — usually the last to be rehired.

Despite the improving economy, unemployment remains at its highest level since the Great Depression of the 1930s, and most economists agree it will remain at high levels through most of the decade.

2,470,000 Americans will use up their benefits.

Some will find jobs. Others have alternative sources of income; some states, for example, permit retirees to draw benefits. But others will be forced to turn to welfare.

"As their unemployment compensation terminates," says Senate Labor Committee Chairman Harrison A. Williams Jr., "family savings and other assets are the first to go. Eventually, they can qualify for public assistance on the welfare rolls. The next recourse is bankruptcy. And then there is crime."

The amount and duration of unemployment benefits vary from state to state because of differences in benefit and eligibility regulations. Payments generally range from $65 to $100 a week, although payments run higher in a few states.

Labor Department officials say they are only beginning to compile up to date figures on the number of persons who have exhausted their benefits, and data to provide an accurate picture of who they are and where they live.

"We're doing a lot of guessing at this point," said James Manning of the department's Employment and Training Administration. "The problem is the newness of the extended benefits program and the magnitude of unemployment."

However, a limited government survey of 10 states showed that half of the people exhausting their benefits were between 22 and 44 years old, and about 80 per cent were men.

A relatively large proportion were over 65, an age group that experiences the most difficulty in finding work. The survey found that 14 per cent were in this group, which accounts for only 2.5 per cent of the unemployed.

Congress Eyes Budget Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate wants to spend more tax money this year than the House does, and so negotiators from both chambers are seeking a compromise ceiling that will be binding on Congress.

In setting a proposed spending ceiling, the Senate voted Thursday for a sum that calls for $9.6 billion more in spending and a $6-billion larger deficit than Congress approved in May.

The new Senate budget resolution, passed 69-23, calls for $375.6 billion in spending with a $74.8 billion deficit in fiscal 1976.

Despite the improving economy, unemployment remains at its highest level since the Great Depression of the 1930s, and most economists agree it will remain at high levels through most of the decade.

To soften the impact of the recession, Congress repeatedly extended unemployment benefits to a maximum of 65 weeks for some workers. But for the first victims of the business slump and those caught in the wave of layoffs during the 1973 Arab oil embargo that preceded it, even this economic prop has been exhausted.

Labor Department officials say 287,000 people had used up their eligibility as of last June and were forced to look elsewhere for income. The number is increasing each week, and the department estimates that in 1976 some

2,470,000 Americans will use up their benefits.

Claim Zollar's Amendment Guts 'Open Meetings' Bill

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has gutted an "open meetings" bill with a provision which, the bill's supporters say, would permit widespread secret meetings of public bodies. Backers of the bill said they would try to remove the controversial amendment next week. Otherwise, they threatened to vote against their own bill.

The amendment, which passed 26-7 Thursday, includes language which would permit closed meetings on the part of any public body to informally discuss or decide public issues. The bill is intended to require that nearly all business of public bodies, from local boards to the state legislature, be conducted in open meetings. It would have required deliberations and decisions be made in open session, public notice be given of meetings and minutes be provided to the public afterward. It permits emergency sessions at short notice, and exempts certain discussions on employment matters, collective bargaining strategy, purchase or sale of property and other touchy matters.

It is not as strong as a bill now in a House committee, which virtually outlaws all closed meetings, but in general it requires that public business, both discussion and decision, be done in open session. But the amendment added Thursday, sponsored by Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, creates a big loophole, said the bill's supporters. The amendment would make the law apply only to meetings held "to make a formal decision or to formally deliberate toward a decision."

Apart from the vagueness of the word "formal," the amendment would permit such practices as a public body meeting in secret to talk things over, then marching out to make a "formal" discussion and vote, critics said. They noted that all the vital discussion and an informal decision could be made in private.

"It guts the bill," said Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint. "It gives legal sanction to the things we're trying to correct." Sen. David Plawecki, D-Deerborn Heights, sponsor of the bill, said the amendment "destroys one of the major provisions" of the bill. "If we do not delete it... I may very well have to vote against the bill," he said.

Zollar defended the amendment by saying, "If you want to tie down the hands of government so they will be ineffective, then you pass a law like this." Other senators said the bill was so stringent that public officials would violate it accidentally if they met by chance. Sen. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, won acceptance of another amendment, which exempted chance meetings or office gabfests from the bill's provisions.

Should the backers of the bill vote against it, it won't be the first time. Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, voted against his own open meetings bill last year after the House watered it down. "You can always count on the legislature to gut an open meetings bill," Kildee observed.

Here is how the Senate voted 26-7 for the amendment:

Democrats For (14) — Bowman, Cartwright, Cooper, Derezinski, Faxon, Fitzgerald, Guastello, Hart, Huffman, Mack, McCollough, Nelson, O'Brien, Snyder.

Democrats Against (7) — Corbin, Faust, Hertel, Kammer, Kildee, Otterbacher, Plawecki.

Republicans For (12) — Allen, Bursley, Davis, DeGrow, DeMaso, Pursell, Toepf, VanderLaan, Welborn, Young, Ziegler, Zollar.

Republicans Against — None.

Late Kalamazoo Restaurateur Got Start In St. Joe

Charles J. Zeman, well-known Kalamazoo restaurateur and motel operator who died last Friday, started his career under the late Leon J. Harris, managing director of St. Joseph's famed Whitcomb hotel. Zeman fled his native Czechoslovakia just before the U.S. entered World War II. He was a refugee from Nazi persecution. Intent on helping victims of the Nazis, Harris hired Zeman from a refugee center in Chicago.

Mrs. Irma Harris of St. Joseph, widow of Leon Harris, recalls that Zeman started working in the kitchen and rose rapidly to an executive position. While in St. Joseph, he married Marianna Harris of Kalamazoo, daughter of Harry Harris, brother of Leon. Mrs. Randall (Gloria Harris) Burch of St. Joseph is a cousin to Zeman's widow.

The Zemans left St. Joseph when he was hired as catering manager for a national hotel chain. He returned to Kalamazoo to enter business for himself. Zeman was 57 when he died, victim of a long-time heart ailment. He suffered a stroke two weeks ago and had been a patient at Bronson hospital.

The Zeman home is 1734 Greenbriar, Kalamazoo.

At the time of his death, Zeman was president of the Continental Corp. and one of five partners in the Kalamazoo Wings hockey team.

The Continental Corp. operates the three Holiday Inns in Kalamazoo, another in Sturgis and one in Flint, along with two bowling alleys and a number of restaurants, including the Gull Harbor Inn.

Zeman was a director of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Michigan.

He was born Jan. 31, 1918, in Brno, Czechoslovakia. He studied for three years in the medical school at Masaryk University in Czechoslovakia.

After leaving the Whitcomb, now retirement center, Zeman served as catering manager and controller of hotels in St. Louis, Mo., Kansas City, Mo., and Dallas, Texas.

Zeman moved to Kalamazoo in 1948 to manage the Park American Hotel, which later became the Harris Motor Inn. The building, located on East Michigan avenue between Edwards and Pletcher streets was closed in 1968 and later demolished.

At one time, Zeman held a part interest in the Innman's restaurant of Galesburg.

He had been involved in the ownership and operation of the Gull Harbor Inn at Richland and Diamond Harbor Inn at Cassopolis.

The Continental Corp., in which he was a principal with James S. and Diana Gilmore and James Harris, opened its first Holiday Inn on Crosstown Parkway in 1961 and added the Holiday Inn-Expressway in 1967 and Holiday Inn-West in 1974.

Zeman's name is associated with the restaurants at the motels.

His wife, Marianna, is the daughter of the late Harry L. Harris, who formerly owned and managed the Harris Motor Inn and held part ownership of the Gull Harbor Inn.

Zeman was a member of B'Nai Israel Temple, the Kalamazoo Country Club, the Shrine Club, Elks Club and Kalamazoo Rotary. He was active in the Kalamazoo County Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Restaurant Association and Michigan Hotel Association.

Surviving besides his wife are a son, James C. of Detroit; two daughters, Mrs. Dawson (Linda) Slack of Kalamazoo and Cathy Zeman of Newhampton, Mass.; and several grandchildren.

Mr. Zeman was buried in Mountain Home cemetery, Kalamazoo. Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Kalamazoo Civic Auditorium.

TO SUB FOR REAGAN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, D-Ariz., will take over Ronald Reagan's "Viewpoint" radio commentary show for at least three weeks, the producer of the show says.

SUSPECT APPREHENDED: A man identified as Michael Carvin of Pompano, Fla., is grabbed by U.S. Secret Service agents after he allegedly approached Presidential candidate Ronald Reagan with a toy pistol during a rally in Miami. Reagan, who only hours before announced his intentions to run for the Presidency, was rushed away unharmed. (AP Wirephoto)

Reagan Security Tight After Toy Pistol Incident

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Ronald Reagan, undaunted by a toy-gun incident in Miami, fielded questions about some of his favorite topics from a New Hampshire audience and then completed his first day of presidential campaigning with a 30-minute autograph session. Security was tight as Secret Service agents checked handbags and tape recorders of the more than 900 persons entering the convention hall in Bedford, N.H., where the former Hollywood actor and California governor participated in what campaign aides called a "Citizen's Press Conference."

Reagan remained overnight in New Hampshire, which has the nation's first primary Feb. 24. He was to fly to Charlotte, N.C., and then on to Chicago and Los Angeles today, ending his first campaign swing after announcing formally Thursday his challenge to President Ford for the GOP nomination.

Reagan flew to New Hampshire from Miami, where he encountered a man wielding a plastic toy pistol as he shook hands after the first rally of his campaign. The man, identified as Michael Lance Carvin, 20, of Pompano, Fla., was grabbed by Secret Service agents and Reagan was hustled away.

Bob Newbrand, special agent in charge of the Miami area Secret Service office, said Carvin was charged with intimidating a presidential candidate and with assaulting a federal officer.

"I just thought someone had fallen down. It seems the man had pulled out a toy gun," Reagan said at a news conference later.

He made no mention of the incident after he arrived in New Hampshire, but security was especially tight. Reagan was flanked by six Secret Service agents as he and his wife entered the convention hall.

The 64-year-old Reagan looked tired and was a bit hoarse as he answered questions from the New Hampshire audience on such issues as unemployment, defense spending, détente, abortion, welfare reform, gun control, busing and foreign aid.

Reagan repeatedly cited his policy of fiscal conservatism and his fight for welfare reform as California's chief executive. He said "the same thing can be done on the national level."

Reagan hammered away at the same theme he outlined earlier in the day in speeches in Washington and Miami.

denied by Benton Harbor City Manager Charles A. Morrison.

Patrolman Webster said Sherman was booked at the county jail early today on a charge of fleeing police and also faces a ticket for failure to yield right-of-way. Sherman's address is listed as route 1, Benton Harbor, box 187, Townline road.

The complainants in Washington also included charges that black Benton Harbor is ruled by a white power structure. One of the complainants, Mrs. Ruthie Haralson, benefitted from the establishment when she was one of the first to use the services of the consumer protection unit of the Berrien prosecutor's office.

Andrew Novikoff, CPU project director, said an investigation by the CPU in 1974 resulted in a contractor repairing shoddy workmanship on Mrs. Haralson's Benton Harbor home. Novikoff said she had complained to the contractor for three years without getting results.

The coalition left Benton Harbor by bus at 10:30 p.m. Monday and arrived in Washington at 11 a.m. Tuesday. The group stayed in a Washington motel Tuesday night.

Some of the 56 people who went to Washington were sponsored by churches and businesses, according to Suzy Edwards, Berrien County Action, Inc., coordinator.

Joseph said a "majority of the people that went paid" the $48.50 charged to each person for the cost of the trip. Donna

Cooke, the mayor's administrative assistant and financial coordinator of the trip, said the trip was a "wide community effort in which every sector of the city was represented" and that the number of people who were sponsored was "very insignificant."

Mrs. Cooke said some people represented churches and businesses and since "all of them couldn't go, the members put their money together to send on representative." She said some people also donated small amounts of money for food for the trip.

Mrs. Edwards said no BCA funds were given to pay for the trip. The Benton Harbor city commission has not authorized any money for the trip.

U.S. GNP Increases Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economic output recorded the largest quarterly increase in 25 years during the three months ending in September, revised government figures show.

The Gross National Product, total output of goods and services, recorded a 13.2 per cent annual rate of growth in the third quarter, the government reported Thursday.

Earlier, an 11.2 per cent increase had been estimated. Corporate profits after taxes also showed the biggest quarterly increase in 25 years for the quarter. The government reported that the increase was $11.9 billion, or 16.9 per cent over the previous quarter.

Caroline Douses Lensman

LONDON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy threw a cup of water at a press photographer who was trailing her, the Daily Express reported today with pictures. The Express said the "splash and run" encounter occurred when Jacqueline Onassis' 17-year-old daughter popped out of Sotheby's, the London auction house where she is taking an art course, for mid-morning coffee Thursday.

Her target was freelance photographer Mike Daines, one of five cameramen who were pursuing the late President Kennedy's long-haired daughter, the paper said.

Renovation Plans Dropped

COLOMA — Plans to relocate and renovate the Coloma railroad depot by the North Berrien Historical society, have been abandoned according to Mrs. Mary Krizan, society president. Original plans of the society called for acquiring the old depot located near the intersection of Washington and West streets and moving the building to property owned by the society in Coloma township. The building was to have been used as a museum to house antiques from the area's past history. Mrs. Krizan confirmed society members have decided to drop plans to relocate the structure after learning the moving costs and renovating of the old structure would total an estimated $40,000.

Take-Out Dinner Set Saturday

The Parents Council of Community Parents, Inc., Child Care Center, 636 Pipestone street, is sponsoring a take-out dinner Saturday from 11:30 to 2 p.m., according to Mrs. Irene Ellis, council secretary. Dinners will be delivered in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph by calling the center or they may be picked up at the center. The dinners will be creole gumbo of seafood, meat and rice and are $1.75 an order. Proceeds will go for children's activities at the center.

Bard 4-H Talent Show Tonight

The Bard school 4-H club will present a talent show this evening at Seely McCord school, Benton Harbor, according to Lue Bucana and Alma Vaughn leaders. Miss Bucana said the show will consist of about 20 acts with admission $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. Curtain time is 7 o'clock.

Bangor Board To Meet

BANGOR — The Bangor school board has scheduled a special meeting for Monday, Nov. 24, at 8 p.m. in the high school. Acting Superintendent Frederick Slap said the board would take action on matters discussed in an executive session, but declined to say just what the board would be considering.

Elks Initiate New Members

Four new members were initiated by Benton Harbor Elks Lodge 544 during its annual exchange with St. Joseph Lodge 541 Thursday night. Six other members were reinstated during the dinner meeting at the Benton Harbor lodge on Kerlikowske road and both Frank Rogel and Bill Russell were presented golden antler awards by Exalted Ruler Dick Hecking.

Claim Zollar's Amendment Guts 'Open Meetings' Bill

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has gutted an "open meetings" bill with a provision which, the bill's supporters say, would permit widespread secret meetings of public bodies. Backers of the bill said they would try to remove the controversial amendment next week. Otherwise, they threatened to vote against their own bill.

The amendment, which passed 26-7 Thursday, includes language which would permit closed meetings on the part of any public body to informally discuss or decide public issues. The bill is intended to require that nearly all business of public bodies, from local boards to the state legislature, be conducted in open meetings. It would have required deliberations and decisions be made in open session, public notice be given of meetings and minutes be provided to the public afterward. It permits emergency sessions at short notice, and exempts certain discussions on employment matters, collective bargaining strategy, purchase or sale of property and other touchy matters.

It is not as strong as a bill now in a House committee, which virtually outlaws all closed meetings, but in general it requires that public business, both discussion and decision, be done in open session. But the amendment added Thursday, sponsored by Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, creates a big loophole, said the bill's supporters. The amendment would make the law apply only to meetings held "to make a formal decision or to formally deliberate toward a decision."

Apart from the vagueness of the word "formal," the amendment would permit such practices as a public body meeting in secret to talk things over, then marching out to make a "formal" discussion and vote, critics said. They noted that all the vital discussion and an informal decision could be made in private.

"It guts the bill," said Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint. "It gives legal sanction to the things we're trying to correct." Sen. David Plawewski, D-Dearborn Heights, sponsor of the bill, said the amendment "destroys one of the major provisions" of the bill. "If we do not delete it...I may very well have to vote against the bill," he said.

Zollar defended the amendment by saying, "If you want to tie down the hands of government so they will be ineffective, then you pass a law like this." Other senators said the bill was so stringent that public officials would violate it accidentally if they met by chance. Sen. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, won acceptance of another amendment, which exempted chance meetings or office gabfests from the bill's provisions.

Should the backers of the bill vote against it, it won't be the first time. Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, voted against his own open meetings bill last year after the House watered it down. "You can always count on the legislature to gut an open meetings bill," Kildee observed.

Here is how the Senate voted 26-7 for the amendment:

Democrats For (14) — Bowman, Cartwright, Cooper, Derezinski, Faxon, Fitzgerald, Guastello, Hart, Huffman, Mack, McCollough, Nelson, O'Brien, Snyder.

Democrats Against (7) — Corbin, Faust, Hertel, Kammer, Kildee, Otterbacher, Plawewski.

Republicans For (12) — Allen, Bursley, Davis, DeGrow, DeMaso, Pursell, Toepp, VanderLaan, Welborn, Young, Ziegler, Zollar.

Republicans Against — None.

Late Kalamazoo Restaurateur Got Start In St. Joe

Charles J. Zeman, well-known Kalamazoo restaurateur and motel operator who died last Friday, started his career under the late Leon J. Harris, managing director of St. Joseph's famed Whitcomb hotel. Zeman fled his native Czechoslovakia just before the U.S. entered World War II. He was a refugee from Nazi persecution. Intent on helping victims of the Nazis, Harris hired Zeman from a refugee center in Chicago.

Mrs. Irma Harris of St. Joseph, widow of Leon Harris, recalls that Zeman started working in the kitchen and rose rapidly to an executive position. While in St. Joseph, he married Marianna Harris of Kalamazoo, daughter of Harry Harris, brother of Leon. Mrs. Randall (Gloria Harris) Burch of St. Joseph is a cousin to Zeman's widow.

The Zemans left St. Joseph when he was hired as catering manager for a national hotel chain. He returned to Kalamazoo to enter business for himself. Zeman was 57 when he died, victim of a long-time heart ailment. He suffered a stroke two weeks ago and had been a patient at Bronson hospital.

The Zeman home is 1734 Greenbriar, Kalamazoo.

At the time of his death, Zeman was president of the Continental Corp. and one of five partners in the Kalamazoo Wings hockey team.

The Continental Corp. operates the three Holiday Inns in Kalamazoo, another in Sturgis and one in Flint, along with two bowling alleys and a number of restaurants, including the Gull Harbor Inn.

Zeman was a director of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Michigan.

He was born Jan. 31, 1918, in Brno, Czechoslovakia. He studied for three years in the medical school at Masaryk University in Czechoslovakia.

After leaving the Whitcomb, now retirement center, Zeman served as catering manager and controller of hotels in St. Louis, Mo., Kansas City, Mo., and Dallas, Texas.

Zeman moved to Kalamazoo in 1948 to manage the Park American Hotel, which later became the Harris Motor Inn. The building, located on East Michigan avenue between Edwards and Pitcher streets was closed in 1968 and later demolished.

At one time, Zeman held a part interest in the Inman's restaurant of Galesburg.

He had been involved in the ownership and operation of the Gull Harbor Inn at Richland and Diamond Harbor Inn at Cassopolis.

The Continental Corp., in which he was a principal with James S. and Diana Gilmore and James Harris, opened its first Holiday Inn on Crosstown Parkway in 1961 and added the Holiday Inn-Expressway in 1967 and Holiday Inn-West in 1974.

Zeman's name is associated with the restaurants at the motels.

Zeman was a member of B'Nai Israel Temple, the Kalamazoo Country Club, the Shrine Club, Elks Club and Kalamazoo Rotary. He was active in the Kalamazoo County Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Restaurant Association and Michigan Hotel Association.

Surviving besides his wife are a son, James C. of Detroit; two daughters, Mrs. Dason (Linda) Slack of Kalamazoo and Cathy Zeman of Newhampton, Mass.; and several grandchildren.

Mr. Zeman was buried in Mountain Home cemetery, Kalamazoo. Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Kalamazoo Civic Auditorium.

TO SUB FOR REAGAN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, D-Ariz., will take over Ronald Reagan's "Viewpoint" radio commentary show for at least three weeks, the producer of the show says.

SUSPECT APPREHENDED: A man identified as Michael Carvin of Pompano, Fla., is grabbed by U.S. Secret Service agents after he allegedly approached Presidential candidate Ronald Reagan with a toy pistol during a rally in Miami. Reagan, who only hours before announced his intentions to run for the Presidency, was rushed away unharmed. (AP Wirephoto)

Reagan Security Tight After Toy Pistol Incident

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Ronald Reagan, undaunted by a toy-gun incident in Miami, fielded questions about some of his favorite topics from a New Hampshire audience and then completed his first day of presidential campaigning with a 30-minute autograph session. Security was tight as Secret Service agents checked handbags and tape recorders of the more than 900 persons entering the convention hall in Bedford, N.H., where the former Hollywood actor and California governor participated in what campaign aides called a "Citizen's Press Conference."

Reagan remained overnight in New Hampshire, which has the nation's first primary Feb. 24. He was to fly to Charlotte, N.C., and then on to Chicago and Los Angeles today, ending his first campaign swing after announcing formally Thursday his challenge to President Ford for the GOP nomination.

Reagan flew to New Hampshire from Miami, where he encountered a man wielding a plastic toy pistol as he shook hands after the first rally of his campaign. The man, identified as Michael Lance Carvin, 20, of Pompano, Fla., was grabbed by Secret Service agents and Reagan was hustled away.

Bob Newbrand, special agent in charge of the Miami area Secret Service office, said Carvin was charged with intimidating a presidential candidate and with assaulting a federal officer.

"I just thought someone had fallen down. It seems the man had pulled out a toy gun," Reagan said at a news conference later.

He made no mention of the incident after he arrived in New Hampshire, but security was especially tight. Reagan was flanked by six Secret Service agents as he and his wife entered the convention hall.

The 64-year-old Reagan looked tired and was a bit hoarse as he answered questions from the New Hampshire audience on such issues as unemployment, defense spending, detente, abortion, welfare reform, gun control, busing and foreign aid.

Reagan repeatedly cited his policy of fiscal conservatism and his fight for welfare reform as California's chief executive. He said "the same thing can be done on the national level."

Reagan hammered away at the same theme he outlined earlier in the day in speeches in Washington and Miami.

Actor Reagan Is Off Air For Duration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even if you like Ronald Reagan better as a cowboy than as a presidential candidate, you'll have to wait until Nov. 3, 1976 to see any more reruns of "Death Valley Days." Milton Gross, chief of the political fairness branch of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington said Thursday, "If any of the former actor's movies or television series are aired before election day (Nov. 2, 1976) other presidential candidates could demand equal television time under provisions set by the FCC fairness doctrine." Gross said Thursday the Death Valley Days television series was taken off the air in Los Angeles when Reagan campaigned for governor in California. Reagan has made some 50 movies.

Berrien Social Services Consolidation Set

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien county expects to consolidate all social services programs operating in the northern part of the county into one building, the county board of commissioners learned yesterday.

The present social services building at 1134 Crystal avenue in Benton township would be expanded by more than 50 per cent in order to bring three other social services-operated programs into the building, hopefully by next fall.

But the consolidation is contingent upon an opinion by the state attorney general regarding a new state law in which the state assumes all existing leases for social services rentals, according to County Coordinator Roger Petrie.

The law says the state, after Dec. 1, will pay the entire amount of the leases for social services offices, compared with the 55 per cent the state now pays. Petrie said the attorney general's opinion is expected soon, and if the law is upheld, then the county will proceed with plans to consolidate the offices.

The county board yesterday approved extending the lease on the current building until 1985, and authorized a lease for the proposed addition, also until 1985.

The 11,000 square foot addition will bring the total space of the building to about 27,000 square feet, and the cost of the addition will be borne by the owner, Twin City Realty, of St. Joseph. Petrie indicated construction on the addition could begin in the spring, and the move should be completed by early fall.

Offices that would move into the addition are the food stamp office, at 242 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor; Child Abuse-Child Welfare and Protective Services, operating from an office at 214 East Britain avenue, Benton Harbor; and a program called Social Services Project, located in the Fidelity Building in Benton Harbor.

Rent for the current office space in the Crystal avenue building is $82,600 per year, and the total annual rent when the addition is completed would be $147,535. That entire sum would be paid by the state under the new law which was passed in September.

But Petrie noted that if the state does not take over full payment, the county will probably not go through with the consolidation plans.

In other business during a routine November meeting the board:

—Approved payment of $6,300 to the City of St. Joseph and $10,000 to the Greater Niles Recreation board as part of a parks and recreation commission revenue sharing program. The two units have already completed their projects.

—Accepted a $10,044 Sickle Cell Continuation grant from the state health department to provide Sickle Cell counseling and educational activities.

—Received a $18,075 check from Friend of the Court George Westfield, on behalf of the state, as part of a reimbursement program in which counties get a share of child support collections.

—Heard an annual report from the county's Cooperative

Extension Service.

—Made appointments to various boards and committees including:

Leo Rutz, Arthur Reed, Gene Rose, and Fred Krause to three-year terms on the planning commission, and elected Bill Womer to the balance of a three-year term which expires in 1978.

Lester Krumrie and Lamont Tufts to three-year terms on the board of public works.

George Sharpe to a five-year term on the library board.

Lee Auble, R.J. Burkholz, and Charles Gray to three-year terms on the parks and recreation commission.

Mrs. Charles Duncan, Mrs. Donald Camp, Mrs. Thomas Nowlen, and Mrs. Edward Barlow to four-year terms on the mental health services board. O.D. Proseus was appointed to fill the remainder of the term of Beryl Dornay, who has resigned.

New Berrien Rule Turning Lights Out On Fun In Park

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON

Berrien county commissioners were discussing changes in county park rules yesterday when Commissioner George Wyburn, of Niles township, questioned the new closing time. The new rule sets closing at sunset, but previously had been 11 p.m. Addressing himself to parks in Niles and Niles township, Wyburn noted: "We have quite a bit of activity after dark." After a burst of laughter by other commissioners, he clarified his statement by adding: "That's legitimate activity." The changes were adopted unanimously.

Baroda Woman Dies In Car-Tree Crash

BY JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau
BERRIEN SPRINGS — A Baroda woman was killed and her infant grandchild was injured seriously late yesterday morning when the auto she was driving skidded off rain-slickened Shawnee road and slammed into a tree west of

Eronounced dead on arrival at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, was Mrs. Preston (Betty Jean) Gremore, 44, lot 244, 1558 West Shawnee road, Baroda.

She suffered massive head and chest injuries in the crash which occurred shortly after 10 a.m., according to Fred Foster, Berrien Springs village - Oronoko township police patrolman.

Mrs. Gremore's one-year-old granddaughter, Stacey Gremore, the daughter of Sherry Gremore, of the same Baroda address, was listed in guarded condition at Berrien General's intensive care unit this morning.

About seven hours after the fatal crash, a Park Forest, Ill., man suffered minor injuries when his car slid out of control along the same section of road in Oronoko township, and crashed in a ditch only 50 feet from the accident scene, Foster said.

Foster said Mrs. Gremore, a mother of three children, was driving her compact auto east on Shawnee road, about half a mile west of Burgoyne road, when she apparently lost control of the car as it passed through a large puddle of water.

The auto skidded across the pavement and crashed into a tree on the north side of the road, Foster said.

Like Mrs. Gremore, Frederick Furman, 19, Park Forest, told officers he was driving a car east on Shawnee about 5:15 p.m., yesterday, county road commission employe from Benton Harbor, told police he was driving a county truck west on Shawnee when an eastbound car passed by him seconds before he drove upon the accident.

Police said Atkins radioed for help.

Foster said the driver of the auto which passed Atkins may have witnessed the accident and asked that anyone with information about the crash to contact his office.

The death brought Berrien county's traffic fatality toll to 55 for this year, 21 more than in all of 1974.

Surviving are her husband, Preston; a son Doyle Gremore, Eau Claire; two daughters, Sherry and Sally, both at home and four brothers, Albert Cooper, Elkhart, Ind., Charles and Fred Cooper, St. Joseph and Donald Cooper, Stevensville.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the Boyd funeral home, Bridgman, where friends may call after 7 p.m. Saturday and after 2 p.m. Sunday. Burial will be in North Shore Memory Gardens, Benton Harbor.

when his auto hit the same puddle.

He said he lost control of the car and it crashed into the ditch. Foster said Furman sought his own treatment.

Foster said investigation of the fatal crash is continuing and police are seeking a possible witness to the morning accident.

Migrant Is Arrested In Knifing Case

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A migrant farm worker was arrested last night after an alleged knife assault on another worker at the Lloyd Zeel farm, Hinchman road, Oronoko township, according to Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police.

Police said Jesus Landeros, about 20, was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. He was lodged in Berrien county jail pending arraignment in court, police said.

Officers said Rueben Hernandez, 40, another worker at the farm, suffered a cut on his chest about 10 p.m. but was released from Berrien General hospital after treatment.

Police said they confiscated a kitchen knife with a 5½-inch blade.

Bo Gets Note From Milliken

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken told University of Michigan coach Bo Schembechler Thursday he will be in the stands cheering on the Wolverines in their game Saturday against Ohio State.

Milliken's telegram to the Michigan coach said, "Dear Bo: The eyes of Michigan — and the nation — are upon you. Mrs. Milliken and I will be in the stands cheering for you and your fine team."

"It's time to cut through the woods, and you are just the people to do it. Today the Buckeyes; tomorrow the Roses."

New Buffalo Police Post Cuts Protested

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday urged the state not to curtail service at the New Buffalo state police post.

The resolution came in the wake of a report that the state may discontinue manning the post on a 24-hour basis in an effort to cut the budget.

The county board's resolution, passed unanimously by the 12 commissioners present, said the board recognizes "the need for the state to cut expenditures for the purpose of balancing its budget, but not to the extent of cutting police service in this most vital area of the state."

Commissioner Bill Joseph was absent from the meeting.

State police officials in early November said the cut-back at the New Buffalo post is one of many "alternatives" being proposed in an effort to trim about $4 million from the department's $66.8 million 1975-76 budget.

A department spokesman indicated troopers, if the cut goes through, would not be inside the post 24-hours-a-day, but only for a period of about 12 to 16 hours a day. He said during the time the post is not manned, troopers stationed at New Buffalo would be in radio contact with the Benton Harbor post.

Commissioners noted that several municipalities have their ambulance, fire, and police calls dispatched through the New Buffalo post. The resolution added that troopers stationed in New Buffalo "have an excellent working relationship with the local police units making for more effective police service."

As part of the resolution, the board voted to send copies to Gov. William Milliken, the state's budget director, Sen. Charles O. Zollar, and Reps. Harry Gast, Ray Millan, and Bela Kennedy.

The New Buffalo post was established in 1935.

Paw Paw Lake Residents Favor Weed Control Plan

COLOMA — In an advisory vote, shoreline property owners around Paw Paw lake have voted 252 to 112 in proceed with a proposed one-year weed control program of the lake.

Ballots were counted yesterday by the lake improvement board.

The advisory vote was sought by the board after running into opposition to its proposed $40,631 program to control lake bottom weed growth.

The lake board confirmed an assessment roll to finance the project after announcing the results of the vote despite a threatened lawsuit.

Michael J. McArdle of Watervliet said he will seek a court order Monday to review the secret balloting. He said he wants signatures of voters and tax description numbers used on the ballots for authenticity checked.

McArdle, route 1, Windermere Landing, spearheaded a petition drive in opposition to the weed control program proposal last month. The petitions led to the advisory ballot of the 513 property owners around the lake.

McArdle said following the meeting he feels the vote taken by the board is unconstitutional and that the entire county should vote on paying for removal of the weeds in the lake.

According to lake board officials, property owners around the lake will be assessed at $2½ cents per foot of lakefront property under the special assessment district to finance the treatment of the lake.

Total cost of the program has been estimated by the board at $40,631 with $5,000 coming from a grant through Berrien county government. The balance would be financed from the special assessment on property owners, in one payment due by March 1, 1976.

In a related development, Lake Board Chairman Robert Jackson announced he is resigning from the board due to a press of business commitments. Jackson has been chairman of the board since February.

Berrien Social Services Consolidation Set

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien county expects to consolidate all social services programs operating in the northern part of the county into one building, the county board of commissioners learned yesterday.

The present social services building at 1134 Crystal avenue in Benton township would be expanded by more than 50 percent in order to bring three other social services-operated programs into the building, hopefully by next fall.

But the consolidation is contingent upon an opinion by the state attorney general regarding a new state law in which the state assumes all existing leases for social services rentals, according to County Coordinator Roger Petrie.

The law says the state, after Dec. 1, will pay the entire amount of the leases for social services offices, compared with the 55 percent the state now pays. Petrie said the attorney general's opinion is expected soon, and if the law is upheld, then the county will proceed with plans to consolidate the offices.

The county board yesterday approved extending the lease on the current building until 1985, and authorized a lease for the proposed addition, also until 1985.

The 11,000 square foot addition will bring the total space of the building to about 27,000 square feet, and the cost of the addition will be borne by the owner, Twin City Realty, of St. Joseph. Petrie indicated construction on the addition could begin in the spring, and the move should be completed by early fall.

Offices that would move into the addition are the food stamp office, at 242 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor; Child Abuse-Child Welfare and Protective Services, operating from an office at 214 East Britain avenue, Benton Harbor; and a program called Social Services Project, located in the Fidelity Building in Benton Harbor.

Rent for the current office space in the Crystal avenue building is $82,600 per year, and the total annual rent when the addition is completed would be $147,535. That entire sum would be paid by the state under the new law which was passed in September.

But Petrie noted that if the state does not take over full payment, the county will probably not go through with the consolidation plans.

In other business during a routine November meeting the board:

—Approved payment of $6,300 to the City of St. Joseph and $10,000 to the Greater Niles Recreation board as part of a parks and recreation commission revenue sharing program. The two units have already completed their projects.

—Accepted a $10,044 Sickle Cell Continuation grant from the state health department to provide Sickle Cell counseling and educational activities.

—Received a $16,075 check from Friend of the Court George Westfield, on behalf of the state, as part of a reimbursement program in which counties get a share of child support collections.

—Heard an annual report from the county's Cooperative

Extension Service.

—Made appointments to various boards and committees including:

Leo Rutz, Arthur Reed, Gene Rose, and Fred Krause to three-year terms on the planning commission, and elected Bill Womer to the balance of a three-year term which expires in 1976.

Lester Krumrie and Lamont Tufts to three-year terms on the board of public works.

George Sharpe to a five-year term on the library board. Lena Abrahamsen, Joan Weishaupt, and Linda Griswold to one-year terms on the election scheduling committee.

terms on the park and recreation commission.

Mrs. Charles Duncan, Mrs. Donald Camp, Mrs. Thomas Nowlen, and Mrs. Edward Barlow to four-year terms on the mental health services board. O.D. Proseus was appointed to fill the remainder of the term of Beryl Dominy, who has resigned.

U-M Battling For Big Ten, National Honors

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — It's for all the marbles, as they say. Or, in this case, all the roses. Or all the oranges.

The 1975 Big Ten football championship, as just about everyone has come to expect the last eight years, boils down to Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan battle.

A record college crowd of 105,000, plus a national television audience, is expected to watch the conference's "Big Two" clash in a game which could decide the national championship.

Ohio State, 10-0 overall and 7-0 in the conference, is ranked No. 1. Michigan, 8-4-2 and 7-0, is No. 4.

The last time a team other than Michigan or Ohio State won the conference title was 1967, when Indiana, Minnesota and Purdue tied for first. The series between the archrivals since OSU entered the league in 1913 stands at 27-23.

This is the 72nd meeting of the teams, including games before 1913. Michigan leads the series 39-27-5.

Last year, Ohio State won 12-10 on four field goals by Tom Klaban and the Buckeyes went to the Rose Bowl for the third straight time. That was the first time in six years they hadn't crossed an opponents' goal line.

Ohio State was conference champion in 1968. The rivals shared the title in 1969. Ohio State won in 1970, Michigan in 1971, and they have shared it the last three years.

Saturday's winner will go to the Rose Bowl — the first time a conference runnerup has been allowed to go to another bowl game. If there's a tie, the Buckeyes would go to Pasadena because of a better overall record.

Michigan's ties were at home against Stanford and Baylor. The Wolverines haven't lost at home in 41 consecutive games.

"This is the greatest rivalry in college football," said Woody Hayes, the Buckeyes' coach for 25 years. "Our season boils down to this game and that is just the way it should be."

Bo Schembechler, former assistant under Hayes and now in his seventh year as Michigan's coach, said he hopes his Wolverines "play like all Michigan teams in the past have played in this game."

"The bowl situation is not primary at this time. We know we're going to a bowl, but the primary thing is the Big Ten championship."

The last four games in the series have been defensive struggles. Ohio State has totaled 43 points, Michigan 41.

"I think we are in good shape for this game," Schembechler said. "It should be a low scoring game, but both teams have enough talent out there to break a big play. I know if we are to win this game, we'll have to avoid turnovers. That is imperative."

Michigan's consistently tough defense must contend with Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin. The senior tailback has 31 consecutive regular games with more than 100 yards rushing and has rushed for a record 5,450 yards in 44 games, including three Rose Bowls.

With him in the backfield is junior fullback Pete Johnson, who has a Big Ten record 22 touchdowns this year.

Senior quarterback Cornelius Greene has completed 62 per cent of his passes (54 of 87). He has thrown five touchdowns passes for an Ohio State team that, like Michigan, is ground oriented.

Tom Skladany is the leading punter in the nation, averaging 47.3 yards a punt. Of his 62 kickoffs, 31 have not been returned. He has kicked a 59-yard field goal this year, while Klaban has converted 42 of 44 extra point kicks and hit on five field goals.

Craig Cassidy leads a stand-out defensive backfield for the Bucks with six interceptions, while linebacker Ed Thompson is the top tackler with 114, including 49 solos.

Tailback Gordon Bell leads Michigan's offense. He has averaged 5.2 yards a carry this season with 1,211 yards rushing and 12 touchdowns. Griffin averages 5.8 with 1,311 yards and four TDs.

Rob Lytle, U-M's fullback with tailback speed, has rushed for 894 yards in 185 carries for an average 5.4 average.

Freshman quarterback Rick Leach has completed only 35 per cent of his passes (23 of 65), but has rushed for a 5.8 average with 472 yards in 84 carries.

Wideback Jim Smith is a big threat. He has caught 21 passes for 522 yards, including TD catches of 48 and 83 yards.

Field goal kicker Bob Wood has set a U-M record with 11 field goals, including a 40-yarder.

Linebacker Calvin O'Neal tops the Wolverines with 120 tackles, 78 solos.

Walker Treated Like An 'Idiot'

CHET WALKER

CHICAGO (AP) — Benton Harbor's Chet Walker, a premier forward in the National Basketball Association for 13 years and the league's 10th all-time scorer, says he quit the Chicago Bulls because team management treated him as an idiot.

Walker announced after last season that he would not play again in the NBA unless the Bulls traded him. Dick Motta, the general manager and coach, refused, and the team is struggling without Walker. The Bulls have lost seven straight games, are in last place in the NBA's Midwest Division and at 3-9 have the worst record in the league.

Motta and club owner Arthur Wirtz asked Walker to return last week "without offering more money or anything else," the veteran said. "In fact, they were talking about not paying me for the first eight games."

"I truly believe the people who manage the Bulls think I'm an idiot—a dumb black man with no pride or principles," Walker told an interviewer.

"I ruined my health for this team, played all last season with a bleeding kidney when the doctors said I could have sat out and drawn my salary."

"When I went into the hospital to get it cleared up," he continued, "management refused to pay the $470 bill, claiming the injury had nothing to do with basketball. Can you believe that? They finally paid it this summer out of sheer embarrassment."

"Is it too late now? Absolutely," Walker said. "There's nothing the Bulls could do to get me back, even if the money was right. I asked them to trade me and they wouldn't do it."

"After all these years in the NBA, they still treat me like a machine—paid a certain amount of money in exchange for forfeiting my rights as a human being."

Neither Motta nor Wirtz could be reached for comment.

Walker has scored 18,831 career points, which puts him in the company of such NBA scoring notables as Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and John Havlicek. But as a player for the last six years with the team-conscious Bulls, Walker rarely received the national attention accorded other league superstars.

He was named to the NBA all-star team seven times, and when the Bulls needed that clutch basket in the closing seconds of a tight game, it was Walker, more than any other player who was counted on to make the shot—and frequently did.

Technically, Walker now is playing out his option with the Bulls and would be free next season to sign with any team in either league. But he said he's through for good if he doesn't play this year.

"The thing the Bulls' management can't seem to understand is that I can't be bought. My feeling was that Motta figured Wirtz could call me in and get me back by tossing me a bone," Walker said.

"I was forced to quit. I was forced to quit by people who wanted to control my destiny. I had a choice of playing basketball in a chaotic situation or retiring and I chose the latter."

Bears Boast Better Shooting, Defensive Skills

SJ Cagers Top Contenders Again

St. Joseph returns three of last season's top six scorers and appears to have better shooting and defensive skills than a year ago, but the Bear cagers could find it difficult to improve on last winter's excellent 16-6 record.

Coach George Gaunder feels the conference will be stronger this time around with the addition of Battle Creek Lakeview and Holland to the league....he rates them as championship contenders.

Tough Kalamazoo Central has also been added to the schedule, and then there's the top-notch Christmas tournament where St. Joe will host rugged Saginaw, Detroit Denby and Benton Harbor.

"I think we have a team that looks promising, and we can be in every ball game....and will be in every ball game," declares Gaunder.

"We have improved shooting, and we should be improved defensively. And with the average height we have, we can do the job on the boards as well."

That leaves Gaunder with the job of bringing out "that No. 1 ingredient...determination and desire."

St. Joe lost the top two scorers — Mickey Ott and Mike Ryan — from last season's squad which tied for second in the Big Six at 7-3. Top pointmakers returning are seniors Henry Follman (174), Fred Pries (161) and Dave Ziebart (134).

Rounding out the list of five lettermen are two more seniors, Cory Benford and Mike Collier.

The 6-4 Pries and 6-3½ Follman will be the inside men, along with 6-5 junior Dale Wright, who is up from the Jayvets. On the perimeter the Bears will feature 6-2 Ziebart, 6-0 Benford and 6-0 Collier.

Pries is one of St. Joe's better defensive players, and he's added an outside shot to his repertoire. Wright also has a "pretty good long range shot," and Gaunder knows Follman — a three-year varsity player — "can do the job."

The Bears could be without another promising inside man, 6-3½ junior Mike Tinberg, who is bothered by a knee injury. "I felt he would have been one of our starters," states Gaunder.

Collier and Benford appear set on the outside, along with Ziebart, but Gaunder says there will be times when he has three big men on the floor.

"We have several players capable of putting that outside shot in the basket....Benford, Collier, and Ziebart in particular," adds the Bear mentor.

"I'm sure shooting is going to be a definite improvement over a year ago."

Gaunder is also impressed with Benford and Collier's quickness on defense and Ziebart's aggressive play.

"I hate to slight anybody," adds the dean of southwestern Michigan coaches. "Everyone up and down the roster has better overall quickness than we have had in the past. Defense is better than it has been in the past."

Regular Season Finales Deciding Bowl Bids

From Associated Press

Ohio State and Nebraska, college football's top-ranked teams, put their unbeaten records and national championship hopes on the line Saturday in road games against arch rivals.

The No. 1-ranked Buckeyes, 10-0, face No. 4 Michigan, 8-4-2, at Ann Arbor with the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid at stake. The Cornhuskers, 10-0 and rated No. 2, invade Norman, Okla., to meet No. 7 Oklahoma, 9-1, with the Big Eight crown and an Orange Bowl bid awaiting the winner.

Both games were sold out almost before the ink was dry on the tickets and coaches Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Tom Osborne of Nebraska are beside themselves with anticipation.

"It'll be the best against the best," said Osborne. "I'm not even going to predict victory. I will predict there will be 100 per cent effort on our part."

The Nebraska-Oklahoma game matches the Sooners' explosive wishbone attack, keyed by swift halfback Joe Washington and deft quarterback Steve Davis, against a Cornhusker attack that mixes the passing of Vince Ferragamo with the running of power backs Tony Davis and John O'Leary.

Oklahoma, the defending national champion, will be gunning for its fourth straight victory in the series. If the Sooners lose they have agreed to play in the Fiesta Bowl. If the Cornhuskers lose, they have agreed not to play anywhere.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 8 Colorado, headed for the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, hosts Kansas State; No. 10 Penn State, set for the Sugar Bowl, visits No. 17 Pittsburgh, a Sun Bowl invitee, for the "Pennsylvania State Championship" and attendant recruiting benefits; No. 11 Arizona hosts Utah at night; No. 13 California is at Stanford in a key Pac-8 matchup; No. 16 Miami of Ohio, headed for the Tangerine Bowl, entertains Cincinnati; No. 18 Missouri is at Kansas with a Sun Bowl bid awaiting the winner; No. 19 Arkansas, still in the running for the Southwest Conference title, hosts Texas Tech and No. 20 Maryland, a Gator Bowl club, hosts Virginia.

The other ranked teams are idle.

Other key matchups find Harvard at Yale for the Ivy League crown and Clemson at South Carolina, North Carolina at Duke and LSU at Tulane in traditional grudge matches.

Confiscated Film Will Be Returned

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Confiscated film of a secret Michigan football practice will be returned after halftime of Saturday's showdown game against Ohio State, Washtenaw County Prosecutor William F. Delhey said Thursday.

Ann Arbor police took the film Wednesday from freelance photographer Andrew Sacks of Ann Arbor, who was on assignment for United Press International.

"He was not arrested. He was advised to come to the police station, which he did," Delhey said. "The police requested him to remove the film from his camera, which he did himself. It hasn't been developed or exposed."

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Three Big Ten football coaches, pick Ohio State to win Saturday's showdown at Ann Arbor, while two more rate it a tossup and another picks Michigan.

Michigan State's Denny Stolz, lone Michigan supporter among the coaches contacted by Mike Christopoulos of the Milwaukee Sentinel, said he had "no particular reason for his choice."

"I just think Michigan is going to win," Stolz said. "Ohio State has been to the Rose Bowl three years in a row. Michigan might have a little more incentive. Ohio State's got a little better personnel, but I still think Michigan will win."

Coaches picking Ohio State were John Jardine of Wisconsin, John Pont of Northwestern and Cal Stoll of Minnesota.

Stoll noted Ohio State's Rose Bowl experience and the maturity of Buckeye quarterback Cornelius Greene and halfback Archie Griffin, both four year veterans.

"They're both very talented teams," Stoll said. "One team, Michigan, is young and coming on. If it's come on enough, it'll be a hell of a game."

"Michigan has a freshman quarterback, Rick Leach, whom we think is going to be a great one," he said. "But, has he closed the gap enough? That's the big question."

Jardine said the two rate equally on defense, "but I think Ohio State has a little more offense."

Jardine's team lost 23-6 to Michigan and 56-0 to Ohio State.

Pont, Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler's roommate at Miami of Ohio nearly a quarter century ago, picked Ohio State "in another 12-10 game, or something like that."

"I lean a little bit to Ohio State and think its offensive line might be the determining factor," Pont said.

Purdue Coach Alex Agase predicted a tie.

Bob Blackman, whose Illinois team lost to Ohio State and Michigan the last two weekends, called the game even.

"Ohio State is more physical, but Michigan might have a slight edge in quickness," Blackman said. "Ohio State has a slight edge in its kicking game. Michigan has the home field advantage. So, I think things pretty well balance out."

U-M Battling For Big Ten, National Honors

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — It's for all the marbles, as they say. Or, in this case, all the roses. Or all the oranges.

The 1975 Big Ten football championship, as just about everyone has come to expect the last eight years, boils down to Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan battle.

A record college crowd of 105,000, plus a national television audience, is expected to watch the conference's "Big Two" clash in a game which could decide the national championship.

Ohio State, 10-0 overall and 7-0 in the conference, is ranked No. 1. Michigan, 8-0-2 and 7-0, is No. 4.

The last time a team other than Michigan or Ohio State won the conference title was 1967, when Indiana, Minnesota and Purdue tied for first. The series between the archrivals since OSU entered the league in 1913 stands at 27-27-3.

This is the 72nd meeting of the teams. Including games before 1913, Michigan leads the series 39-27-5.

Last year, Ohio State won 12-10 on four field goals by Tom Klaban and the Buckeyes went to the Rose Bowl for the third straight time. That was the first time in six years they hadn't crossed an opponents' goal line.

Ohio State was conference champion in 1968. The rivals shared the title in 1969. Ohio State won in 1970, Michigan in 1971, and they have shared it the last three years.

Saturday's winner will go to the Rose Bowl. The loser will go to the Orange Bowl — the first time a conference runnerup has been allowed to go to another bowl game. If there's a tie, the Buckeyes would go to Pasadena because of a better overall record.

Michigan's ties were at home against Stanford and Baylor. The Wolverines haven't lost at home in 41 consecutive games.

"This is the greatest rivalry

in college football," said Woody Hayes, the Buckeyes' coach for 25 years. "Our season boils down to this game and that is just the way it should be."

Bo Schembechler, former assistant under Hayes and now in his seventh year as Michigan's coach, said he hopes his Wolverines "play like all Michigan teams in the past have played in this game."

"The bowl situation is not primary at this time. We know we're going to a bowl, but the primary thing is the Big Ten championship."

The last four games in the series have been defensive struggles. Ohio State has totaled 43 points, Michigan 41.

"I think we are in good shape for this game," Schembechler said. "It should be a low scoring game, but both teams have enough talent out there to break a big play. I know if we are to win this game we'll have to avoid turnovers. That is imperative."

Michigan's consistently tough defense must contend with Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin. The senior tailback has 31 consecutive regular games with more than 100 yards rushing and has rushed for a record 5,450 yards in 44 games, including three Rose Bowls.

With him in the backfield is junior fullback Pete Johnson, who has a Big Ten record 22 touchdowns this year.

Senior quarterback Cornelius Greene has completed 62 per cent of his passes (54 of 87). He has thrown five touchdown passes for an Ohio State team that, like Michigan, is ground oriented.

Tom Skladany is the leading punter in the nation, averaging 47.3 yards a punt. Of his 62 kickoffs, 31 have not been returned. He has kicked a 59-yard field goal this year, while Klaban has converted 42 of 44 extra point kicks and hit on five field goals.

Craig Cassidy leads a stand-out defensive backfield for the Bucks with six interceptions, while linebacker Ed Thompson is the top tackler with 114, including 49 solos.

Tailback Gordon Bell leads Michigan's offense. He has averaged 5.2 yards a carry this season with 1,211 yards rushing and 12 touchdowns. Griffin averages 5.8 with 1,311 yards and four TDs.

Rob Lytle, U-M's fullback with tailback speed, has rushed for 894 yards in 165 carries for an average 5.4 average.

Freshman quarterback Rick Leach has completed only 35 per cent of his passes (23 of 65), but has rushed for a 5.6 average with 472 yards in 84 carries.

Wingback Jim Smith is a big threat. He has caught 21 passes for 522 yards, including TD catches of 48 and 83 yards.

Field goal kicker Bob Wood has set a U-M record with 11 field goals, including a 46-yarder.

Linebacker Calvin O'Neal tops the Wolverines with 120 tackles, 78 solos.

Walker Treated Like An 'Idiot'

CHET WALKER

CHICAGO (AP) — Benton Harbor's Chet Walker, a premier forward in the National Basketball Association for 13 years and the league's 10th all-time scorer, says he quit the Chicago Bulls because team management treated him as an idiot.

Walker announced after last season that he would not play again in the NBA unless the Bulls traded him. Dick Motta, the general manager and coach, refused, and the team is struggling without Walker. The Bulls have lost seven straight games, are in last place in the NBA's Midwest Division and at 3-9 have the worst record in the league.

Motta and club owner Arthur Wirtz asked Walker to return last week "without offering more money or anything else," the veteran said. "In fact, they were talking about not paying me for the first eight games..."

"I truly believe the people who manage the Bulls think I'm an idiot—a dumb black man with no pride or principles," Walker told an interviewer.

"I ruined my health for this team, played all last season with a bleeding kidney when the doctors said I could have sat out and drawn my salary..."

"When I went into the hospital to get it cleared up," he continued, "management refused to pay the $470 bill, claiming the injury had nothing to do with basketball. Can you believe that? They finally paid it this summer out of sheer embarrassment."

"Is it too late now? Absolutely," Walker said. "There's nothing the Bulls could do to get me back, even if the money was right. I asked them to trade me and they wouldn't do it..."

"After all these years in the NBA, they still treat me like a machine—paid a certain amount of money in exchange for forfeiting my rights as a human being..."

Neither Motta nor Wirtz could be reached for comment.

Walker has scored 18,831 career points, which puts him in the company of such NBA scoring notables as Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and John Havlicek. But as a player for the last six years with the team-conscious Bulls, Walker rarely received the national attention accorded other league superstars.

He was named to the NBA all-star team seven times, and when the Bulls needed that clutch basket in the closing seconds of a tight game, it was Walker more than any other player who was counted on to make the shot—and frequently did.

Technically, Walker now is playing out his option with the Bulls and would be free next season to sign with any team in either league. But he said he's through for good if he doesn't play this year.

"The thing the Bulls' management can't seem to understand is that I can't be bought. My feeling was that Motta figured Wirtz could call me in and get me back by tossing me a bone..." Walker said.

"I was forced to quit. I was forced to quit by people who wanted to control my destiny. I had a choice of playing basketball in a chaotic situation or retiring and I chose the latter."

Regular Season Finales

Deciding Bowl Bids

From Associated Press

Ohio State and Nebraska, college football's top-ranked teams, put their unbeaten records and national championship hopes on the line Saturday in road games against arch rivals.

The No. 1-ranked Buckeyes, 10-0, face No. 4 Michigan, 8-0-2, at Ann Arbor with the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid at stake. The Cornhuskers, 10-0 and rated No. 2, invade Norman, Okla., to meet No. 7 Oklahoma, 9-1, with the Big Eight crown and an Orange Bowl bid awaiting the winner.

Both games were sold out almost before the ink was dry on the tickets and coaches Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Tom Osborne of Nebraska are beside themselves with anticipation.

"It'll be the best against the best," said Osborne. "I'm not even going to predict victory. I will predict there will be 100 per cent effort on our part."

The Nebraska-Oklahoma game matches the Sooners' explosive wishbone attack, keyed by swift halfback Joe Washington and deft quarterback Steve Davis, against a Cornhusker attack that mixes the passing of Vince Ferragamo with the running of power backs Tony Davis and John O'Leary.

Oklahoma, the defending national champion, will be gunning for its fourth straight victory in the series. If the Sooners lose they have agreed to play in the Fiesta Bowl. If the Cornhuskers lose, they have agreed not to play anywhere.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 9 Colorado, headed for the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, hosts Kansas State; No. 10 Penn State, set for the Sugar Bowl, visits No. 17 Pittsburgh, a Sun Bowl invitee, for the "Pennsylvania State Championship" and attendant recruiting benefits; No. 11 Arizona hosts Utah at night; No. 13 California is at Stanford in a key Pac-8 matchup; No. 16 Miami of Ohio, headed for the Tangerine Bowl, entertains Cincinnati; No. 18 Missouri is at Kansas with a Sun Bowl bid awaiting the winner; No. 19 Arkansas, still in the running for the Southwest Conference title, hosts Texas Tech and No. 20 Maryland, a Gator Bowl club, hosts Virginia.

The other ranked teams are idle.

Other key matchups find Harvard at Yale for the Ivy League crown and Clemson at South Carolina, North Carolina at Duke and LSU at Tulane in traditional grudge matches.

Confiscated Film Will Be Returned

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Confiscated film of a secret Michigan football practice will be returned after halftime of Saturday's showdown game against Ohio State, Washtenaw County Prosecutor William F. Delhey said Thursday.

Ann Arbor police took the film Wednesday from freelance photographer Andrew Sacks of Ann Arbor, who was on assignment for United Press International.

"He was not arrested. He was advised to come to the police station, which he did," Delhey said. "The police requested him to remove the film from his camera, which he did himself. It hasn't been developed or exposed."

Bears Boast Better Shooting, Defensive Skills

SJ Cagers Top Contenders Again

St. Joseph returns three of last season's top six scorers and appears to have better shooting and defensive skills than a year ago, but the Bear cagers could find it difficult to improve on last winter's excellent 16-6 record.

Coach George Gaunder feels the conference will be stronger this time around with the addition of Battle Creek Lakeview and Holland to the league....he rates them as championship contenders.

Tough Kalamazoo Central has also been added to the schedule, and then there's the top-notch Christmas tournament where St. Joe will host rugged Saginaw, Detroit Denby and Benton Harbor.

"I think we have a team that looks promising, and we can be in every ball game...and will be in every ball game," declares Gaunder.

"We have improved shooting, and we should be improved defensively. And with the average height we have, we can do the job on the boards as well."

That leaves Gaunder with the job of bringing out "that No. 1 ingredient...determination and desire."

St. Joe lost the top two scorers — Mickey Ott and Mike Ryan — from last season's squad which tied for second in the Big Six at 7-3. Top pointmakers returning are seniors Henry Follman (174), Fred Pries (151) and Dave Ziebart (134).

Rounding out the list of five lettermen are two more seniors, Cory Benford and Mike Collier.

The 6-4 Pries and 6-3½ Follman will be the inside men, along with 6-5 junior Dale Wright, who is up from the jayvees. On the perimeter the Bears will feature 6-2 Ziebart, 6-0 Benford and 6-0 Collier.

Pries is one of St. Joe's better defensive players, and he's added an outside shot to his repertoire. Wright also has a "pretty good long range shot," and Gaunder knows Follman — a three-year varsity player — "can do the job."

The Bears could be without another promising inside man, 6-3½ junior Mike Timberg, who is bothered by a knee injury. "I felt he would have been one of our starters," states Gaunder.

Collier and Benford appear set on the outside, along with Ziebart, but Gaunder says there will be times when he has three big men on the floor.

"We have several players capable of putting that outside shot in the basket...Benford, Collier and Ziebart in particular," adds the Bear mentor. "I'm sure shooting is going to be a definite improvement over a year ago."

Gaunder is also impressed with Benford and Collier's quickness on defense and Ziebart's aggressive play.

"I hate to slight anybody," adds the dean of southwestern Michigan coaches. "Everyone up and down the roster has better overall quickness than we have had in the past. Defense better than it has been in the past."

Gaunder has coached St. Joseph to five straight winning seasons and he sees another good campaign coming up, along with a shot at the Big Seven championship.

The Bears open Saturday, Nov. 29, at Lakeshore.

Stolz Favors Wolverines

Most Coaches Lean Toward Buckeyes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Three Big Ten football coaches pick Ohio State to win Saturday's showdown at Ann Arbor, while two more rate it a tossup and another picks Michigan.

Woodward Key For Coloma Comets Return Seven To Cage Program

COLOMA — Senior forward Gregg Woodward heads a group of seven lettermen who boast an upbeat cage picture at Coloma this season.

Woodward (6-3) averaged 15.8 points a game last season. He was an honorable mention pick in the Blossomland league all-league voting and was the fourth top scorer in the conference (16.8).

Other senior letter winners returning are Ron Cooper (79 points), Randy Wotowis (43), Jerry Gagliardo (61), John Bertuca (7), Karl Webb (18) and Greg Eastman (41). Bertuca and Gagliardo are both still recovering from ankle injuries suffered during the football season.

Coloma, which went 4-17 last season and finished last in the Blossomland standings, ended as the worst defensive team in southwestern Michigan last season, giving up an average of 74.3 points a game. So new coach Sam Wright is stressing defense.

"Right now we're stressing fundamental basketball and especially working on defense," notes Wright, who was head coach at Pellston last year. "We'll start out with man-to-man defense. We've seen progress on our defense already and we'll continue to work on it."

Wright indicated he hasn't yet determined a starting lineup for Tuesday's opener at Watervliet with the probable exception of starting Woodward.

Heading the list of non-lettermen is Dennis Nitz, who led the Jayvees in scoring last year.

The Comets, who have had 11 straight losing seasons, do have some solid overall height with 10 of the 15 players 6-0 or taller.

"We could run a bit and maybe press...I just have to see how the players adapt to it right now," offers Wright. "Our goal is to be competitive in every game, to try to play good basketball and try to pull out some wins along the way."

Wright sees Buchanan, Lakeshore, Dowagiac and Cassopolis as the teams to beat in the conference this season.

Badgers' Jardine Says He's Staying

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — John Jardine said Thursday he intends to stay on as University of Wisconsin football coach, despite waves of criticism of his team's 4-5 record in a season born amid bowl talk and championship ambitions.

"I'm not going to quit," Jardine said before the Badgers' last major practice for their season finale at Minnesota Saturday.

"I had been thinking about it (quitting)," he said. "But I've had a lot of players come in and talk to me. I think it (resigning) would be unwise right now."

Tournaments Bring Out Best Stickney, SJ Top Tigers

Post-season tournaments in any sport tend to bring out the best in many teams or individuals, and the girls' basketball districts which got underway Thursday night at six area sites were no exception.

St. Joseph's Kay Stickney poured in 21 points to spark the Bears to a 53-36 win over Benton Harbor at the Class A District in St. Joseph. Jodi Rabbers literally stole the show for Lakeshore, scoring 20 points in the Lancers' 47-27 win over Buchanan in the Class B tourney at Lakeshore.

But the big story of the night appeared at the Class C District in Berrien Springs. Denise and Billie Goins combined for 91 points as Cassopolis set an area scoring record in rolling to a 122-21 win over New Buffalo.

In other area tourney action, Berrien Springs ripped Eau Claire 72-24, Lake Michigan Catholic rolled past Hartford 49-16, Watervliet toppled Bloomingdale 38-18 and Marcellus nipped Mattawan 40-41 in Class C action.

The Class D tourney being played at Lawrence saw Gallien squeak by Lawton 40-37 and Lawrence smothered Covert 69-15.

Neither Stickney nor her St. Joseph teammates could get on track in the first quarter. Despite the missed layups and the two-for-17 shooting from the floor, the Bears led the Tigers 11-10.

But the defense went to work in the second and third quarters as the Bears gave up just 10 points in the middle two quarters while scoring 30 themselves.

"We had the good shots in the first quarter, but we just simply missed them," said St. Joe's head coach Marty Scherr. "Both teams were tight in the beginning, too."

While Stickney was doing the scoring, Andy Gast, Sue King and Sue Griswold claimed most of the rebounds. Gast netted nine points while snaring 17 boards. King had eight points and 13 rebounds and Griswold had 11 caroms.

St. Joseph, now 20-1 on the season, faces Niles in the championship game at the Bears' gym Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Rabbers, a diminutive 5-3, 115-pound senior guard, connected on 10 of 21 from the floor for her game-high 20 points. She also contributed eight steals in the easy Lancer win.

Lakeshore, now 14-7, faces Brandywine at 7 p.m. Saturday in the district semifinals. Buchanan bows out at 11-8.

Jodi hit tonight so nobody else had to," Lakeshore coach Denny Knola said. "She's a tremendous ball hawk. I honestly believe Jodi is the finest all-around girl athlete in southwestern Michigan."

Rabbers also combined with teammate Mandy Smith to hold Buchanan standout Patience Vanderbush to just 12 points and 11 rebounds.

"The girls did a big job on Patience," Knola said. "She wasn't getting the shots. We tried to take the baseline away from her. The girls worked hard and kept her away from the basket."

The defense was especially effective in the second half as the Lancers held Buchanan to just eight points, including a measly two free throws in the fourth quarter.

Denise Goins tossed in 50 points and Billie added 41 in the incredible Cass win. The Rangers roared out to a 58-11 halftime lead and were never headed. The 122 points easily broke the area record of 90 set six weeks ago by Berrien Springs, also set against New Buffalo.

Lisa Wagner headed a balanced Berrien Springs attack. Wagner tallied 13 points and was joined by Diana Umfress (12), Janet Hile (10) and Jill Quiriconi (10) in double figures.

Allison Sziede scored a basket with less than 1:30 to play to give Marcellus its narrow win. Denise Brown scored 17 for the winners, who are now 18-2.

Ann Donahue's 14 points sparked Lake Michigan Catholic and Kim Philpott tossed in 10 to lead Watervliet. Donna Brown led the Bulldogs for pouring in 18 points. Teammate Geri Olistra added 11 more. Earline Stubbs was high scorer for Covert with six.

Gallen overcame a 17-point performance by Lawton's Carol Clair to claim its victory. Becky and Cathy Hemminger each notched eight points for the Gaels.

'Ignored' Franklin In Class A Finale

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ignored Livonia Franklin gets its big chance to say, "Hey, here we are and we're good." Saturday when the unranked Patriots battle second-ranked Traverse City in the first Michigan high school football playoff championships in modern times.

The two will clash in the Class A final at 2 p.m. at Western Michigan University's Waldo Stadium in Kalamazoo. Preceding that will be the Class B title tussle at 11 a.m., pitting second-ranked Flint Holy Rosary (8-1) against No. 4 Crystal Falls Forest Park (9-1).

The Class C and B championships will be at Central Michigan University's Perry Sports Stadium, also at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Top-ranked Hudson (10-0), which set the national record of 72 consecutive triumphs by beating Kalamazoo Hackett in the semifinals last week, takes on No. 8 Ishpeming (9-1) in Class C.

Another No. 1-rated team, Dearborn Divine Child (10-0), meets sixth-ranked Saginaw MacArthur (9-1) in the "B" game.

A possible state championship was third on the list of Livonia Franklin's goals this season, Coach Armand Vigna said.

"Our first goal was to beat Dearborn Fordson," said Vigna.

na, a Fordson and University of Michigan graduate. "Our second was to win our league title for the third year in a row. If we achieved the first two we were willing to think about the playoffs."

Franklin achieved its first two goals and had an 8-1 regular season record. But the Patriots didn't get ranked.

"That's hard for me to understand," Vigna said. "We've won 26 of our last 28 games. The last eight years we've got a 58-10 record."

Franklin qualified for the playoffs by having the leading point total in its region according to the Michigan High School Athletic Association's formula. Last week in the semifinals the Patriots upset third-ranked Detroit Southwestern 12-8.

This is the 40-year-old Vigna's first year as head coach after nine years as an assistant. But the Patriots have the same staff as last year when they had a 9-0 record under Coach George Lovich.

"The athletic director died and George got that job," Vigna said. "We have a policy against an athletic director being head coach of a major sport. He's still a coach but he's an assistant. We do things just like last year. He runs the defense and I run the offense."

"I feel I'm getting all the credit," for this year's performance, he said, "but he (Lovich) has done all the work."

Franklin's top players include tailback-safety Jimmy Casey, who rushed for 142 yards in the semifinal; linebacker Tim Hollandsworth and Sam Williams, son of the ex-Detroit Lion defensive end Sam Williams. The young Williams, who missed six games with a dislocated shoulder, kicked two field goals against Southwestern.

In the Upper Peninsula, meanwhile, Ishpeming Coach Mike Mileski said the Hermittes are not afraid of Hudson's winning streak. Beating it "is a big, old dream of mine," he said.

Dawson To Start

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs will start 40-year-old Len Dawson at quarterback Sunday in their National Football League game against the Detroit Lions here.

Hoople To Attend All The Big Ones

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Big Game Bagger
Egad, staunch football fanatics. It's time again for the final BIG football weekend of the season.

The ole Major is losing the little sanity he has in trying to determine which colossal football struggle to attend this fateful Saturday.

But my foxy travel agent, Shaky Bookings, has the perfect solution to my dilemma. He's putting together a travel plan which will enable me to attend the OSU-Michigan, Nebraska-Oklahoma, Yale-Harvard, Penn State-Pittsburgh and Washington-Washington State games and also stop off at Lefty's Bar for some refueling. Hurrmmphhh!

According to Shaky's pinpoint planning, I will catch a Putt-Putt Airways plane from Ann Arbor to Norman, Oklahoma, a caboose on a 101-car freight train from Norman to Harvard Stadium, a 25-mph barge from Harvard to Pittsburgh and a used big rubber thumb to hitch a ride from Pittsburgh to Seattle, Washington.

Getting down to the nitty-gritty or the Woody-Bo Bowl, I see a Buckeye victory. But, of course, I also predicted Goliath would slay David and was wrong.

But then I've always enjoyed

Florida oranges to California roses. Awk! Awk!

Speaking of sweet smelling things, on with the forecast!

Woodward Key For Coloma

Comets Return Seven To Cage Program

COLOMA — Senior forward Gregg Woodward heads a group of seven lettermen who boast an upbeat cage picture at Coloma this season.

Woodward (6-3) averaged 15.8 points a game last season. He was an honorable mention pick in the Blossomland league all-league voting and was the fourth top scorer in the conference (16.8). Other senior letter winners returning are Ron Cooper (79 points), Randy Wotowis (43), Jerry Gagliardo (61), John Bertuca (7), Karl Webb (18) and Greg Eastman (41). Bertuca and Gagliardo are both still recovering from ankle injuries suffered during the football season. Coloma, which went 4-17 last season and finished last in the Blossomland standings, ended as the worst defensive team in southwestern Michigan last season, giving up an average of 74.3 points a game. So new coach Sam Wright is stressing defense.

Badgers' Jardine Says He's Staying

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — John Jardine said Thursday he intends to stay on as University of Wisconsin football coach, despite waves of criticism of his team's 4-5-1 record in a season born amid bowl talk and championship ambitions.

"I'm not going to quit," Jardine said before the Badgers' last major practice for their season finale at Minnesota Saturday.

"I had been thinking about it (quitting)," he said. "But I've had a lot of players come in and talk to me. I think it (resigning) would be unwise right now."

Tournaments Bring Out Best Stickney, SJ Top Tigers

Post-season tournaments in any sport tend to bring out the best in many teams or individuals, and the girls' basketball districts which got underway Thursday night at six area sites were no exception.

St. Joseph's Kay Stickney poured in 21 points to spark the Bears to a 53-36 win over Benton Harbor at the Class A District in St. Joseph. Jodi Rabbers literally stole the show for Lakeshore, scoring 20 points in the Lancers' 47-27 win over Buchanan in the Class B tourney at Lakeshore.

But the big story of the night appeared at the Class C District in Berrien Springs. Denise and Billie Goins combined for 91 points as Cassopolis set an area scoring record in rolling to a 122-21 win over New Buffalo.

In other area tourney action, Berrien Springs ripped Eau Claire 72-24. Lake Michigan Catholic rolled past Hartford 49-15. Watervliet toppled Bloomingdale 38-18 and Marcellus nipped Mattawan 43-41 in Class C action.

The Class D tournament being played at Lawrence saw Galien squeak by Lawton 40-37 and Lawrence smothered Covert 69-15.

Neither Stickney nor her St. Joseph teammates could get on track in the first quarter. Despite the missed layups and the two-for-17 shooting from the floor, the Bears led the Tigers 11-10.

But the defense went to work in the second and third quarters as the Bears gave up just 10 points in the middle two quarters while scoring 30 themselves.

"We had the good shots in the first quarter, but we just simply missed them," said St. Joe's head coach Marty Scherr. "Both teams were tight in the beginning, too."

While Stickney was doing the scoring, Andy Gast, Sue King and Sue Griswold claimed most of the rebounds. Gast netted nine points while snaring 17 boards. King had eight points and 13 rebounds and Griswold had 11 caroms.

St. Joseph, now 20-1 on the season, faces Niles in the championship game at the Bears' gym Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Rabbers, a diminutive 5-3, 115-pound senior guard, connected on 10 of 21 from the floor for her game-high 20 points. She also contributed eight steals in the easy Lancer win.

Lakeshore, now 14-7, faces Brandywine at 7 p.m. Saturday in the district semifinals. Buchanan bows out at 11-8.

"Jodi hit tonight so nobody else had to," Lakeshore coach Denny Kniola said. "She's a tremendous ball hawk. I honestly believe Jodi is the finest all-around girl athlete in southwestern Michigan."

Rabbers also combined with teammate Mandy Smith to hold Buchanan standout Patience Vanderbush to just 12 points and 11 rebounds.

"The girls did a big job on Patience," Kniola said. "She wasn't getting the shots. We tried to take the baseline away from her. The girls worked hard and kept her away from the basket."

The defense was especially effective in the second half as the Lancers held Buchanan to just eight points, including a measly two free throws in the fourth quarter.

Denise Goins tossed in 50 points and Billie added 41 in the incredible Cass win. The Rangers roared out to a 58-11 halftime lead and were never headed. The 122 points easily broke the area record of 99 set six weeks ago by Berrien Springs, also set against New Buffalo.

Lisa Wagner headed a balanced Berrien Springs attack. Wagner tallied 13 points and was joined by Diana Umfress (12), Janet Hile (10) and Jill Quiriconi (10) in double figures.

Allison Sziede scored a basket with less than 1:30 to play to give Marcellus its narrow win. Denise Brown scored 17 for the winners, who are now 18-3.

Ann Donahue's 14 points sparked Lake Michigan Catholic and Kim Phillippi tossed in 10 to lead Watervliet. Donna Brown led the Tigers to their win over the Bulldogs by pouring in 18 points. Teammate Geri Glista added 11 more. Earline Stubs was high scorer for Covert with six.

Galien overcame a 17-point performance by Lawton's Carol Clair to claim its victory. Becky and Cathy Hemminger each notched eight points for the Gaels.

'Ignored' Franklin In Class A Finale

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ignored Livonia Franklin gets its big chance to say, "Hey, here we are and we're good." Saturday when the unranked Patriots battle second-ranked Traverse City in the first Michigan high school football playoff championships in modern times.

The two will clash in the Class A final at 2 p.m. at Western Michigan University's Waldo Stadium in Kalamazoo. Preceding that will be the Class D title tussle at 11 a.m., pitting second-ranked Flint Holy Rosary (8-1) against No. 4 Crystal Falls Forest Park (9-1).

The Class C and B championships will be at Central Michigan University's Perry Sports Stadium, also at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Top-ranked Hudson (10-0), which set the national record of 72 consecutive triumphs by beating Kalamazoo Hackett in the semifinals last week, takes on No. 8 Ishpeming (9-1) in Class C.

Another No. 1-rated team, Dearborn Divine Child (10-0), meets sixth-ranked Saginaw MacArthur (9-1) in the "B" game.

A possible state championship was third on the list of Livonia Franklin's goals this season, Coach Armand Vigna said.

"Our first goal was to beat Dearborn Fordson," said Vigna.

You simply can't get a better whiskey at any price.

You can get more expensive whiskey. You can get less expensive whiskey. But the only way you can get the rich, smooth taste of 7 Crown is in a bottle of 7 Crown. Which explains why, since 1947, Seagram's 7 Crown has been the most popular whiskey of them all.

Say Seagram's and Be Sure.

Horton's First 600 Series Is Surprise Loggains Bows 248 Game

KAREN HORTON

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Karen Horton and Arlene Loggains both came up with surprise bowling efforts this week.

Karen cracked a 600 series in the Sunday Sleepers league at Lakeshore Lanes while Arlene smacked a 248 game in the Friday Niteers league at Blossom Lanes.

The 600 was the 11th of the season for area women bowlers while the 248 is the third best women's game this season.

Karen, who flung games of 180-208-211 — 600, wasn't even thinking about shooting a 600 series.

"I really never thought about a 600, just a good 500 series," tells Karen, who held a 147 average going in. "After my final ball they told me I had hit 600. I about fell out of my chair. I couldn't hardly believe it."

Karen came up with a spare in the 10th frame of her final game and then a nine-count for her first 600 series.

Arlene got her opening game off to a startling start as she crashed a strike, split and then six straight strikes to finish with the 248, her top game ever.

Arlene, who carries an 158 average, finished with games of 180 and 158 for a 586 series.

The Mad Hatters team, composed of Estelle Bailey, Jessie Smith, Sandy Mahoney, Sandy Clay and Joan Haase, improved its standing in the women's high team series listings by two pins with a 2496 in the Friday Nite Goodtimers league at Blossom Lanes. Estelle led the effort with her 541 series.

The Lake Michigan College men took five of a possible eight points Wednesday bowling against Delta and Oakland in Michigan Community College Athletic Association action at Lansing's Metro Bowl.

LMC's Ron Liggett produced the top efforts in both matches. He pitched a 628 series and 247 game against Delta and 562 series and 213 game against Oakland. LMC ended with a 1022 game against Delta. The 1022 is second high team game in the league this season. LMC ranks fourth (16) in the league standings with 13 points with Oakland tops with 22 points.

The LMC women only could collect two points Wednesday. Candy Bertuca and Rusty Klingenberg both tied for top series with 449's. Jessie Smith pitched the leading LMC game of 172. The LMC women are 12th in the standings with 12 points with Oakland tops with 20. The LMC ladies own the best team series of the season with a 2223.

Dowagiac Hoopsters Need Different Kind Of 'Breaks'

DOWAGIAC — The Chiefs from Dowagiac suffered through a losing season last winter while enduring a long list of injuries, so coach Norm Schuring is hoping for different kinds of "breaks" this time around.

"With a few breaks we will be up there," says Schuring, who returns six lettermen from a 7-14 squad, including three-year regular Bob Waalkes, a 6-7 senior.

Lettermen joining Waalkes as Dowagiac shifts to the Blossomland conference from the Big Six — where the Chiefs finished tied for last — are seniors Jim Laing, Oran Danzy, Scott Wiltse, Tom Russom and David Sprague.

Waalkes, who played with a chipped elbow last season, finished second among Chief scorers with a 10.1 average. John Kusson, the No. 1 point-maker, graduated.

Danzy was last winter's No. 3 scorer at 9.0. The other lettermen didn't score much, with Laing having 99 points and the rest less than 20.

Expected to help Dowagiac is transfer student Brad Manley, a 5-7 senior. He was the No. 2 scorer (9.9 average) on the Gobles team which won a Class D district title in the last campaign.

Schuring says he has a balanced club with "about 10 kids of equal ability." But Waalkes appears set at center. Forward candidates are Russom, Sprague, junior Kim Mulder and senior Harold Primley, who is up from the Juvies. Leading guard prospects are Danzy, Manley, Laing and Wiltse.

Dowagiac is also hoping for help from 6-2 senior Cleveland Jackson, a first-year player.

Dowagiac is smaller than a year ago, with Cleveland the biggest man after Waalkes. But the Chiefs appear quicker and "could play a little more pressure defense."

Schuring is also pleased with his team's outside shooting, which he feels Dowagiac will need because opponents are expected to sag around Waalkes near the basket.

Buffalo's Might Is On The Right Gare, Robert Help Sabres Rip Red Wings

From Associated Press
Until someone asks for a survivor's inquiry, the rest of the National Hockey League can maintain its belief that the ice surface is tilted to the right at Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

Thursday night, for example, right wings Rene Robert and Danny Gare combined for four of the Sabres' goals in a lopsided 7-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

In Gare's case, there is more than one imbalance. Goal scoring on his line, for instance, center Don Lucie has just four and left wing Craig Ramsay has five, while Gare has 13. Then there's the most surprising disparity of all: the 21-year-old second-year pro has just four assists when the figures are almost always the reverse.

None of the three forwards is bothered by the uneven statistics. "Lucie and Ramsay are having tough luck with their shooting and I'm cashing in on their rebounds," explains Gare. "Lucie and Ramsay are very good in the corners. They set me up. They'll start scoring soon and I'll get some assists."

"We're certainly glad to see Danny score," added Lucie, since the rest of the line has been having trouble finding the net. "It's getting frustrating that the puck won't go in for Craig and me."

It's going in for almost everybody else on the team, which has scored 90 goals in 19 games. Even Brian Spencer scored a pair — within 28 seconds — Thursday night, raising his season's total to three.

The Red Wings could have conceded after Robert opened the scoring, taking into account another runaway Buffalo statistic: the Sabres have scored the first goal in 13 of their league leading 15 triumphs this season. In the other NHL games Thursday night, the New York Islanders tied the Boston Bruins 2-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers topped the California Seals 3-2.

Rick Martin scored the other goal for Buffalo, which won its 11th game at home, with one tie, in 13 games so far. Dan Maloney and Terry Harper tallied for Detroit.

New York goalie Billy Smith weathered a 41-shot Boston barrage with a spectacular performance and Lorne Henning scored his first two goals of the season — one of them short-handed — as the Islanders twice battled back for the tie.

Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero didn't seem overly impressed by the aggressive young Seals. "If we played the way they did, everybody would have gone home — including me," he said after second period goals by Bobby Clarke and Gary Dornhoefer brought the Flyers from a 2-1 deficit.

Am Champ Qualifies For Tour

Andy Bean, last summer's Western Amateur champion at Point O'Woods, has turned pro and qualified to play on the PGA tour.

Bean, who hails from Lakeland, Fla., made the grade recently at PGA tour qualifying school at Orlando, Fla.

Jerry Pate of Pensacola, Fla., a Sweet Sixteen player in the 1974 Western Amateur, paced four school qualifiers with a 423 score on rounds of 70-69-70-72-73.

Bean was seven strokes back. Following at 433 and 436, respectively, were John Harris and Bill Mallon — a pair of Western Am Sweet Sixteen players last summer.

Also making the tour was Stan Lee, who failed to make the first cut in this year's Western Am. He shot a 431.

A total of 25 players made the tour, with the low qualifying score being 437 — a bracket which included Mark Pfeil, a Western Am Sixteen player in '74.

The LMC women only could collect two points Wednesday. Candy Bertuca and Rusty Klingenberg both tied for top series with 449's. Jessie Smith pitched the leading LMC game of 172. The LMC women are third in the standings with 12 points with Oakland tops with 20. The LMC ladies own the best team series of the season with a 2223.

Dowagiac Hoopsters Need Different Kind Of 'Breaks'

DOWAGIAC — The Chiefs from Dowagiac suffered through a losing season last winter while enduring a long list of injuries, so coach Norm Schuring is hoping for different kinds of "breaks" this time around.

"With a few breaks we will be up there," says Schuring, who returns six lettermen from a 7-14 squad, including three-year regular Bob Waalkes, a 6-7 senior.

Lettermen joining Waalkes as Dowagiac shifts to the Blossomland conference from the Big Six — where the Chiefs finished tied for last — are seniors Jim Laing, Oran Danzy, Scott Wiltse, Tom Russom and David Sprague.

Waalkes, who played with a chipped elbow last season, finished second among Chief scorers with a 10.1 average. John Russom, the No. 1 point-maker, graduated.

Danzy was last winter's No. 3 scorer at 9.0. The other lettermen didn't score much, with Laing having 99 points and the rest less than 20.

Expected to help Dowagiac is transfer student Brad Manley, a 5-7 senior. He was the No. 2 scorer (9.9 average) on the Gables team which won a Class D district title in the last campaign.

Schuring says he has a balanced club with "about 10 kids of equal ability." But Waalkes appears set at center. Forward candidates are Russom, Sprague, junior Kim Mulder and senior Harold Primley, who is up from the jayvees. Leading guard prospects are Danzy, Manley, Laing and Wiltse.

Dowagiac is also hoping for help from 6-2 senior Cleveland Jackson, a first-year player.

Dowagiac is smaller than a year ago, with Cleveland the biggest man after Waalkes. But the Chiefs appear quicker and "could play a little more pressure defense."

Schuring is also pleased with his team's outside shooting, which he feels Dowagiac will need because opponents are expected to sag around Waalkes near the basket.

Buffalo's Might Is On The Right

Gare, Robert Help Sabres Rip Red Wings

Rip Red Wings

From Associated Press

Until someone asks for a surveyor's inquiry, the rest of the National Hockey League can maintain its belief that the ice surface is tilted to the right at Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

Thursday night, for example, right wings Rene Robert and Danny Gare combined for four of the Sabres' goals in a lopsided 7-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

In Gare's case, there is more than one imbalance. Goal scoring on his line, for instance: center Don Lucie has just four and left wing Craig Ramsay has five, while Gare has 15. Then there's the most surprising disparity of all: the 21-year-old second-year pro has just four assists when the figures are almost always the reverse.

None of the three forwards is bothered by the uneven statistics. "Lucie and Ramsay are having tough luck with their shooting and I'm cashing in on their rebounds," explains Gare. "Lucie and Ramsay are very good in the corners. They set me up. They'll start scoring soon and I'll get some assists."

"We're certainly glad to see Danny score," added Lucie, since the rest of the line has been having trouble finding the net. "It's getting frustrating that the puck won't go in for Craig and me."

It's going in for almost everybody else on the team, which has scored 90 goals in 19 games. Even Brian Spencer scored a pair — within 28 seconds — Thursday night, raising his season's total to three.

The Red Wings could have conceded after Robert opened the scoring, taking into account another runaway Buffalo statistic: the Sabres have scored the first goal in 13 of their league-leading 15 triumphs this season.

In the other NHL games Thursday night, the New York Islanders tied the Boston Bruins 2-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers topped the California Seals 3-2.

Rick Martin scored the other goal for Buffalo, which won its 11th game at home, with one tie, in 13 games so far. Dan Maloney and Terry Harper tallied for Detroit.

New York goalie Billy Smith weathered a 41-shot Boston barrage with a spectacular performance and Lorne Henning scored his first two goals of the season — one of them shorthanded — as the Islanders twice battled back for the tie.

Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero didn't seem overly impressed by the aggressive young Seals. "If we played the way they did, everybody would have gone home — including me," he said after second-period goals by Bobby Clarke and Gary Dornhoefer brought the Flyers from a 2-1 deficit.

Am Champ Qualifies For Tour

Andy Bean, last summer's Western Amateur champion at Point O'Woods, has turned pro and qualified to play on the PGA tour.

Bean, who hails from Lakeland, Fla., made the grade recently at PGA tour qualifying school at Orlando, Fla.

Jerry Pate of Pensacola, Fla., a Sweet Sixteen player in the 1974 Western Amateur, paced tour school qualifiers with a 423 score on rounds of 70-69-69-70-72-73.

Bean was seven strokes back. Following at 433 and 436, respectively, were John Harris and Bill Mallon — a pair of Western Am Sweet Sixteen players last summer.

Also making the tour was Stan Loe, who failed to make the first cut in this year's Western Am. He shot a 431.

A total of 25 players made the tour, with the low qualifying score being 437 — a bracket which included Mark Pfeil, a Western Am Sixteen Player in '74.

Bettors Get Big 'Payoff'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bettors got an unexpected payoff this week at Keystone Race Track in suburban Bucks County.

A disgruntled bettor sneaked into the betting booth before the eighth race Wednesday and threw $14,333 out the window to the line of bettors, police said. By the time track officials were able to move the crowd aside to collect the money, less than $50 was found.

Although the cashier was unable to prevent his cash drawer from being thrown out, he did catch William C. Cuccagna, 24 of Trenton, N.J., according to police.

Cuccagna, who had been on an extended losing streak, took no money himself and told police he was a "loser."

MSU Ends Tarnished Season At Iowa

First Division Spot At Stake

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A first-division finish in the Big Ten is at stake Saturday as Michigan State travels to Iowa to meet the Hawkeyes in one of the "other" conference games.

As most eyes in the Midwest are focused on Ann Arbor, MSU and Iowa will be trying to wrap up their seasons on an up-beat note. Currently they are locked in a four-way tie for fourth in the conference.

Both are 3-4 in Big Ten play, and the winner may finish as high as third in the conference, depending on what happens to Wisconsin. But the victor is assured of at least a fourth-place finish.

That's about three spots below where MSU hoped to be this time of the year, and the Spartans are just trying to put some last-minute gloss on a tarnished campaign. But for Iowa, it would be a major improvement.

The Hawkeyes were 2-6 last year, but have won two of their last three and should have been ten Purdue last week — they lost 19-18. On the season they're 3-7.

Michigan State can finish 7-4 with a win Saturday, down just slightly from last year's 7-3-1.

Iowa has few standouts and splits the rushing among four ball carriers. Halfback Jim Jensen leads the Hawkeyes with 454 yards and a healthy 8.1 yards-per-carry average, while halfback Dave Schick has 354, and fullbacks Bobby Holmes and Mark Fetter have 321 and 312 respectively.

Quarterback Tom McLaughlin is just as untouted, going 23 for 87 through the air for 358 yards. Iowa only averages 62 yards in passing offense a game, last in the league.

"They're a very big football team," said MSU Coach Denny Stolz. "We're quite a bit quicker than they are, and they're quite a bit bigger than we are. They don't throw real well, though."

The Hawkeyes run the 1950s-style wing-T offense, an attack unseen anywhere else in the Big Ten. "They think they have a heck of a chance against us," Stolz said. "If they can win, they could build on that."

The Spartans are coming off their top offensive display of the season — six touchdowns in the second half against Northwestern and a 47-14 victory. Senior quarterback Charlie Baggett — playing his last game — continues to pad his lead as MSU's all-time career offensive leader.

Baggett, with 566 yards, fullback Levi Jackson, with 883, and tailback Rich Baes, with 500, will lead the Spartan rushers. Baggett is also 37 for 79 in the air, with freshman Eugene Byrd emerging as the standout receiver with nine catches and 239 yards.

The defense, however, is still hobbled with injuries, which causes Stolz concern against the bruising Iowa offense. Star tackle Greg Schaum is out with a sprained ankle, while end Mike Dean and linebacker Willie Smith are doubtful. And that's in addition to all the standouts who have already been lost for the season.

Game time is 2:30 p.m. Michigan time, with a crowd of 60,000 expected at Iowa City.

IN FRANCE: Lionel Moltimore of Benton Harbor is now playing professional basketball in France. Moltimore, 24, who was an all-LMAC pick in his high school days at Benton Harbor and the most valuable player at Shaw College in Detroit last season, is on the Limoges St. Peter Club.

Career Clips

Cadet James Wright (Benton Harbor) has been awarded a varsity letter in college football at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo.

Tom Scheffler (St. Joseph) is competing with two other Purdue players for the starting center spot but according to head coach Fred Schaus Scheffler has the inside track.

"Tom has two years of experience and has played a lot of minutes totally over the past two years, so he has somewhat of an edge over the other two men because of game experience," said Schaus.

Scheffler (6-10, 220 pounds) has totaled 737 minutes over a 57-game two-year stretch. He has averaged 5.2 points a game while collecting 3.8 rebounds per contest. He also has averaged 48 per cent shooting from the field.

"Although Tom is a good percentage shooter, he will not shoot often. He won't have to score a lot because of the other things he can contribute to the ball club," added Schaus. "If Tom plays the way he's capable of playing, he can be more than an adequate center for us."

The Boilermakers open action Nov. 29 in Mackey Arena against Xavier, Ohio.

Junior tight end Dennis Dilley (St. Joseph) has been selected as "most improved" player on the Western Michigan football team this season. Dilley held down a starting job after lettering as a reserve in 1974.

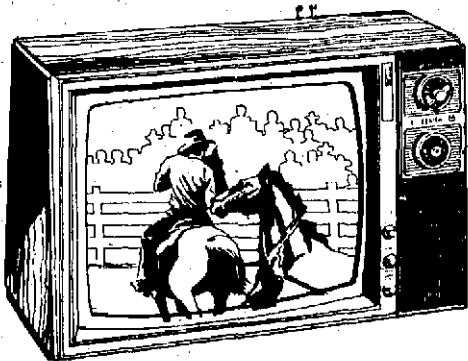

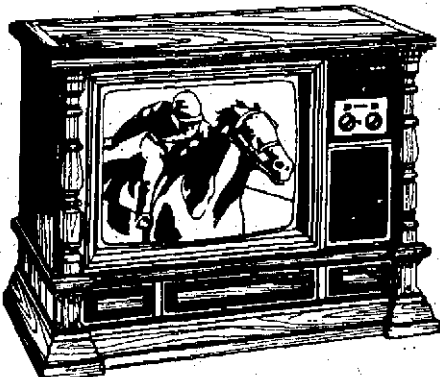

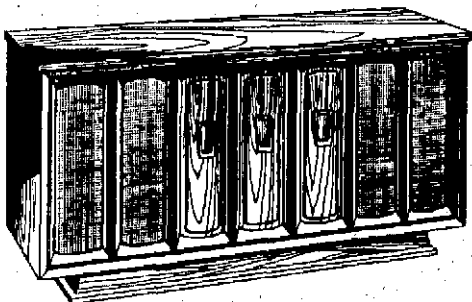

Pamela Nelson (Benton Harbor) is listed on the roster of the Albion women's basketball team.

Captain Pat Tobin (St. Joseph) finished 56th (25.04, clocking) for South Dakota State University in the NCAA Division II national cross country meet last weekend. The team finished in ninth place in the meet. Tobin closed out his senior season as one of the most consistent runners on the squad.

Messersmith Arbitration Crucial

NEW YORK (AP) — Catfish Hunter's road to riches was a one-lane highway that led only to Little Ahoskie, N.C. The road Andy Messersmith takes today could lead to the same pot of gold, but it could be traveled by a lot more people.

What Hunter got, and what Messersmith is after, is freedom. Hunter got it one year ago in a unique breach of contract case, in which arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled the Oakland A's violated Hunter's contract and that the star pitcher was a free agent.

It's one thing for a 18-year-old amateur to be available to 24 clubs, but it's quite a different matter when a proven, quality major league pitcher suddenly emerges on the open market.

Hunter was able to milk that situation for practically all it was worth, conducting an auction in Ahoskie for his services and finally signing with the New York Yankees for more than $3 million.

Messersmith's case is much more important. In this case, baseball players are seeking the right to become free agents in the same way football and hockey players do: by performing one year beyond their contractual commitments to the team.

Messersmith, a hard-throwing right-hander who was twice a 20-game winner and a 18-game winner last season, did not sign a 1975 contract. In that case, the labor contract between the owners and players thus stipulates in section 10a — the renewal clause — that "the club shall have the right ... to renew this contract for the period of one year ..."

The Los Angeles Dodgers renewed Messersmith's contract for the 1975 season and Herb Osmond, Messersmith's agent, said Thursday, "We think Andy is a free agent. It's just that the 24 owners don't recognize it. We asked the commissioner (Bowie Kuhn) to take Andy off the reserve list. But the commissioner refused."

Messersmith, represented by Osmond, and the Dodgers, represented by President Peter O'Malley and vice president Al Campanis, were scheduled to begin their landmark arbitration case at 9:30 a.m. EST today.

The Dodgers, and the rest of baseball's owners, say that they have the right to renew a player's contract — without his signature — forever, and in the case of Messersmith, he is their property for the 1976 season, and for any season thereafter. The players association says that invoking the renewal clause is a one-shot action. It cannot be renewed over and over again, and thus Messersmith is a free agent because he played 1975 without a contract.

Osmond said Thursday that Messersmith would waive his personal arbitration case if he could reach an agreement with the Dodgers. He last met with the Dodgers a week ago, and "at that time, we were far apart." Osmond says Messersmith wants a four-year contract from the Dodgers worth more than $700,000 — with the first year retroactively covering the 1975 season and a no-cut clause.

He said the Dodgers' last offer included a no-trade clause, $150,000 — $35,000 more than the renewed 1974 contract — for the completed 1975 season, $170,000 for 1976 and a figure he wouldn't reveal for 1977.

Racers Streak Now At Five

KALAMAZOO — Center Fred Rosell flipped in four goals here Thursday as the Benton Harbor Racers extended their unbeaten streak to five games by defeating Century Buick of Kalamazoo 8-5 at Wings Stadium.

Frank Grumbir scored two goals and Brian Bolln, Steve Schneck and Scott McFall all one apiece for the Racers, who scored their first four goals in less than five minutes after the opening whistle. Danny Wild was the winning goalie.

Injuries Hamper Decatur Cagers

DECATUR — Injuries and illness have already stalled the Decatur title drive.

But coach Tom Gibson is still optimistic that the Raiders can defend the SAC title which it shared last year with Lawrence.

"We've got as many kids back as any of the other teams," Gibson says, "so we're hoping to be competitive until we get our starting five settled."

Decatur, which boasts six lettermen, has already lost last year's "most improved player" center Carl Druskovich. The 6-2½ senior is out indefinitely after coming down with mononucleosis.

"It really hurts us now with Druskovich out," Gibson says. "We were really counting on him. He goes to the boards well."

A second Decatur center Tom Ross, a 6-6 senior, is not yet 100 per cent after last year's knee surgery. Junior Steve Groendyk, at 6-2, appears to have the inside track at the pivot now. Though a bulky 200-pounder, Groendyk still has Gibson's hopes high.

"He moves pretty well and could step in there and help us out," Gibson says.

Joining Groendyk on the front line will be senior forwards Jim Overley and Jeff Vliek. Overley begins his third year as a varsity starter and last season was a second team all-SAC pick. Vliek was sixth man last year and Gibson believes he can step right into a starting role.

Kurt Wiese, an all-league selection last year as a sophomore, returns bigger and better than ever. The 6-1 guard averaged more than 15 points per game last season.

Matt Leighton will get the call at the other guard slot because of his "good defense and good hustle."

Juniors Dave Mroczek (6-1) and Jim Smola (6-3) will help out at forward and Ron Spicher, Nick Athens, Dave Cerven and Tony Tortorelli should see some playing time at guard.

"Maintaining our balance will be the key," Gibson says. "Without Ross in there we're really not that tall. Hopefully a good, strong defense will help out."

Richard Confident Of Martin Cagers

Richard is just hopeful that some of his confidence rubs off on his Martin basketball team. The Clippers return six lettermen from last year's 2-19 squad. Five of the lettermen started at one time or another last season.

"The key to anyone's ballclub is doing what is asked of them," Richard says. "I believe if this group of kids does what I ask of them, they're going to be successful. To what degree of success, I can't say."

Richard is looking closely at eight players for starting berths. Heading the list of forward candidates are seniors Robert Vandenberg and Bill Rook and juniors Vince Peckens and Ken Vandenberg.

All four won letters last year. Robert Vandenberg (6-2) and Rook (6-1) will also alternate at the pivot.

At guard senior letterwinner Jerry Curry has the inside track at the one spot, while junior Paul Stuart and sophomore Chris Kelsey are battling it out for the other. Richard calls Kelsey a "very sound fundamental shooter."

Senior guard Rich Bowman and juniors Mike Oglesbee and Scott Warner will also see lots of playing time.

Insurance Boss

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The appointment of Thomas C. Jones as state Insurance Commissioner was unanimously approved Thursday by the state Senate. Gov. William Milliken appointed Jones, 28, to the post Oct. 2 to replace Daniel Demlow, 30, who left to become chairman of the Public Service Commission.

Panel Gets Gun Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Handgun legislation clearing its first of many congressional hurdles would impose mandatory prison sentences for using a handgun to commit a felony but contains no ban on cheap handguns or any new licensing or registration provisions for owners.

Instead, the bill sent Thursday to the House Judiciary Committee generally deals with the handgun issue by imposing new requirements on handgun dealers, such as increasing the costs of their licenses.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Opens Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed today in the midst of conflicting forces in the economic news.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally lower, but gainers took a slight lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that a prime rate cut by New York's First National City Bank from 7 1/4 to 7 per cent came as a pleasant surprise to investors.

But there was still talk that the recent downturn in interest rates might be near its end. Federal Reserve figures issued after Thursday's close showed another sharp rise in the nation's money supply.

The bulge in the money supply over the past two weeks, it was feared, might prompt the Fed to tighten up its credit policies in order to maintain its effort to curb inflation.

Today's early prices included American Home Products, unchanged at 35 1/2; Amerasia Hess, up 1/4 at 15 1/2; Corning Glass Works, down 1/4 at 42 1/2; and W.R. Grace, off 1/4 at 24 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 4.73 decline to 843.51.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index was off .19 at 47.43 c.

Big Board volume was a moderate 18.46 million shares.

Clark Parts To Be Built In Romania

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment Company has announced that its overseas subsidiary, Clark Equipment A.G., signed a 10-year agreement with Universal Tractor of Bucharest, Romania for the manufacture of power-shift transmissions and matching torque converters at Universal Tractor's plants in Brasov, Romania.

Universal Tractor is Romania's leading manufacturer of both agricultural and industrial tractors including earthmoving equipment. The transmissions will be used in Romanian-built heavy construction equipment, railway switching locomotives and like vehicles.

These transmissions will be sold primarily in Eastern Europe by Universal Tractor and outside that area by Clark International Marketing, S.A., the overseas marketing arm for the Clark Equipment group of companies.

Included in the agreement are provisions for the joint development by Universal Tractor and Clark Equipment A.G. of a line of metric transmissions primarily for use in Romanian-built crawler tractors.

According to B. E. Phillips, president and chief executive officer of Clark Equipment Company, "This new arrangement should help Universal Tractor in the manufacture of their own product lines, expand the Clark group's marketing area for transmissions and, at the same time, broaden the economic and technological cooperation between the countries."

F&M Bank To Pay 26c Dividends

Fargers & Merchants bank, Benton Harbor, has declared a regular dividend of 20 cents per share and a special dividend of six cents, according to Richard E. Willard, bank president.

The extra dividend, payable Dec. 15 to shareholders of record Nov. 28, reflects a 7.5 per cent increase over dividends paid in 1974. Willard said. The regular dividend is payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record Dec. 19.

A-BLAST ROCKS NEVADA
MERCURY, Nev. (AP) — A massive nuclear device was exploded deep beneath the Nevada desert Thursday, jolting residents of Las Vegas 110 miles to the south.

Clark Plans Yule Closing At Buchanan

BUCHANAN — A two-week shutdown of axle Division production here has been announced by Leo J. McKernan, vice president and general manager for the Clark Equipment company plant.

The closing affects only the division production facilities and will run from Saturday, Dec. 20, through Sunday, Jan. 4, 1976. However, only five previously scheduled work days are affected because of five regularly scheduled Christmas and New Year holidays, Clark officials said.

About 1,100 eligible employees affected by the production shutdown will receive holiday pay during the idle period, officials said.

The axle division manufactures axle housings, axles, and a line of hydraulic products.

Another 1,100 workers were laid off previously because of production cutbacks.

Michigan On Canada Oil Priority List

From Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Petroleum refineries in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Montana will receive highest priority in the allocation of declining Canadian oil imports, the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) said Thursday.

The FEA allocation program is designed to provide temporary relief for areas which are the most dependent on supplies of Canadian crude oil.

The Canadian government Thursday said it will sharply reduce exports of petroleum to the United States next year, and will cut off exports entirely in 1981—two years earlier than previously announced.

Under the FEA program, top priority refineries in the five states will receive 100 per cent of the supplies, they were receiving during the base period from Nov. 1, 1974, to last April 30.

HART A NONSIGNER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., was one of 11 members of the Senate intelligence committee, which released its report Thursday on U.S. assassination plots against foreign leaders. But Hart did not sign the report, saying illness had prevented him from attending many committee meetings.

Midwest Battered By Snow And Wind

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow and high winds continued to batter the upper Midwest today as the central Plains states dug out from the season's first blizzard.

Up to 16 inches of heavy, wet snow covered sections of Minnesota. The Nebraska State Patrol urged motorists to stay off Interstate 80. The jail in Springfield, Colo., housed stranded motorists for the second night.

The storm swept out of eastern Colorado on Thursday into Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. It spread blizzard conditions into the Dakotas, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin before day's end.

Schools were closed, highways blocked, airline flights canceled and power outages were reported throughout the region. The Kansas Highway Patrol said a farmer trapped in a field in his tractor for 10 hours was rescued unharmed.

At least three deaths were attributed to the storm. A truck driver was killed when his tractor-trailer jackknifed on a Nebraska highway. Two men in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area died, apparently of heart attacks, while shoveling snow.

South Dakota authorities were still searching for an Ethan, S.D., woman, Joyce Negebauer, whose abandoned truck was found on U.S. 289. One man also was reported missing — in Colorado.

Heavy snow was still falling today in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. The weather service said there were blizzards ranged south to northern Arkansas and east to the eastern end of Lake Erie.

Drifts up to 13 feet blocked Interstate 80 in Nebraska as snow plows resumed digging out today. Winds up to 70 miles per hour raked the state Thursday.

Most sections of Interstate 70 in Kansas were opened today, despite subfreezing overnight temperatures. In South Dakota, however, there was still no travel on Interstate 90.

Although the storm blasted the eastern slope of the Rockies, little snow fell further into the mountains. A spokesman in Vail, Colo., said the famous ski resort received little snow from the storm and ski facility operators were worried about a lack of snow.

Snow and strong winds continued today over the upper Mississippi Valley and northern Great Lakes as the storm drifted slowly northeastward.

Rain chilled over parts of Lower Michigan and showers were scattered from the eastern Great Lakes region to northwest Florida, and along the Eastern Seaboard from North Carolina through New England.

Cooler weather covered the Appalachians while mild weather lingered over the Northeast and Florida.

The strong circulation around the storm pulled cold air southward to the western Gulf Coast. Clear, cold weather held sway over the Rockies and in the western and southern Plains.

Temperatures were below zero in parts of Montana again early today and readings in the teens penetrated the Texas Panhandle.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -6 at Bozeman, Mont., to 71 at Key West, Fla.

CHALLENGING I&M South Haven Joins Electricity Protest

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven will join with other communities who purchase power wholesale from the Indiana & Michigan Electric company in challenging the intent of the utility to get out of the wholesale electric distribution business.

South Haven and several other communities in Michigan and Indiana have been notified by I & M that their contract to buy electricity will not be renewed because the firm plans on going out of the business. South Haven's contract expires July 24, 1978.

City Atty. William Verdonk reported to members of the Board of Public Utilities last night that the Indiana and Michigan Municipal Electric association will petition the Federal Power commission challenging I & M's intent.

In other areas, the board recommended to city council that new billing equipment be purchased from Burroughs corporation for $28,198.

The board also recommended to the city council that water and sanitary sewer service be extended to property in South Haven township near Superior street and Blue Star Memorial Highway for a proposed roller skating rink.

Verdonk ruled that a special assessment district established in 1958 to construct a sanitary sewer line in front of the property created a legal obligation on the city's part to allow future tap-ins.

The board recommended to city council that new billing equipment be purchased from Burroughs corporation for $28,198.

Lottery Winners

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Claybourne Mitchell Jr., 32, of Ann Arbor, a physicist with the Detroit Edison Co., won $200,000 Thursday in the Michigan lottery weekly superplay game. Other winners were, $25,000, the 23 Dreamers Lottery Club of Grand Rapids; $15,000, Lawrence F. Merrill, 48, of DeWitt, a maintenance worker with Oldsmobile in Lansing; $12,500, James O'Neill, 43, of Battle Creek, a brakeman for the Grand Trunk Western Railway; and $10,000, James W. Fenslau, 31, of Lapeer, a service station owner.

Right Turn Up To Governor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan motorists would be able to make right turns on red lights starting next April under a bill sent to the governor Thursday. The House passed the energy-saving measure on a 92-0 vote and sent it to Gov. William Milliken, who is expected to sign it, according to aides. The measure, if signed into law, will take effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns at the end of the year. Under the bill, drivers could make

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Opens Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed today in the midst of conflicting forces in the economic news.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally lower, but gains took a slight lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that a prime rate cut by New York's First National City Bank from 7 1/4 to 7 per cent came as a pleasant surprise to investors.

But there was still talk that the recent downtrend in interest rates might be near its end. Federal Reserve figures issued after Thursday's close showed another sharp rise in the nation's money supply.

The bulge in the money supply over the past two weeks, it was feared, might prompt the Fed to tighten up its credit policies in order to maintain its effort to curb inflation.

Today's early prices included American Home Products, unchanged at 35 3/4; Amerasia Hess, up 3/4 at 15 1/2; Corning Glass Works, down 1/4 at 42 1/2; and W.R. Grace, up 1/8 at 24 3/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 4.73 decline to 843.51.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index was off .19 at 43.43.

A big Board volume was a moderate 16.46 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .16 to 84.52.

Clark Plans Yule Closing At Buchanan

BUCHANAN — A two-week shutdown of axle Division production here has been announced by Leo J. McKernan, vice president and general manager for the Clark Equipment company plant.

The closing affects only the division production facilities and will run from Saturday, Dec. 20, through Sunday, Jan. 4, 1976. However, only five previously scheduled work days are affected because of five regularly scheduled Christmas and New Year holidays, Clark officials said.

About 1,100 eligible employees affected by the production shutdown will receive holiday pay during the idle period, officials said.

The axle division manufactures axle housings, axles, and a line of hydraulic products.

Another 1,100 workers were laid off previously because of production cutbacks.

Michigan On Canada Oil Priority List

From Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Petroleum refineries in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Montana will receive highest priority in the allocation of declining Canadian oil imports, the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) said Thursday.

The FEA allocation program is designed to provide temporary relief for areas which are the most dependent on supplies of Canadian crude oil.

The Canadian government Thursday said it will sharply reduce exports of petroleum to the United States next year, and will cut off exports entirely in 1981—two years earlier than previously announced.

Under the FEA program, top priority refiners in the five states will receive 100 per cent of the supplies they were receiving during the base period from Nov. 1, 1974, to last April 30.

Midwest Battered By Snow And Wind

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and high winds continued to batter the upper Midwest today as the central Plains states dug out from the season's first blizzard.

Up to 16 inches of heavy, wet snow covered sections of Minnesota. The Nebraska State Patrol urged motorists to stay off Interstate 80. The jail in Springfield, Colo., housed stranded motorists for the second night.

The storm swept out of eastern Colorado on Thursday into Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. It spread blizzard conditions into the Dakotas, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin before day's end.

Schools were closed, highways blocked, airline flights canceled and power outages were reported throughout the region. The Kansas Highway Patrol said a farmer trapped in a field in his tractor for 10 hours was rescued unharmed.

At least three deaths were attributed to the storm. A truck driver was killed when his tractor-trailer jackknifed on a Nebraska highway. Two men in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area died, apparently of heart attacks, while shoveling snow.

South Dakota authorities were still searching for an Ethan, S.D., woman, Joyce Negebauer, whose abandoned truck was found on U.S. 289. One man also was reported missing in Colorado.

Heavy snow was still falling today in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. The weather service said there were flurries ranged south to northern Arkansas and east to the eastern end of Lake Erie.

Drifts up to 13 feet blocked Interstate 80 in Nebraska as snow plows resumed digging out today. Winds up to 70 miles per hour raked the state Thursday.

Most sections of Interstate 70 in Kansas were opened today, despite subfreezing overnight temperatures. In South Dakota, however, there was still no travel on Interstate 90.

Although the storm blasted the eastern slope of the Rockies, little snow fell further into the mountains. A spokesman in Vail, Colo., said the famous ski resort received little snow from the storm and ski facility operators were worried about a lack of snow.

Snow and strong winds continued today over the upper Mississippi Valley and northern Great Lakes as the storm drifted slowly northeastward.

Rain chilled over parts of Lower Michigan and showers were scattered from the eastern Great Lakes region to northwest Florida, and along the Eastern Seaboard from North Carolina through New England.

Cooler weather covered the Appalachians while mild weather lingered over the Northeast and Florida.

The strong circulation around the storm pulled cold air southward to the western Gulf Coast. Clear, cold weather held sway over the Rockies and in the western and southern Plains. Temperatures were below zero in parts of Montana again early today and readings in the teens penetrated the Texas Panhandle.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -6 at Bozeman, Mont., to 71 at Key West, Fla.

CHALLENGING I&M South Haven Joins Electricity Protest

BY TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven will join with other communities who purchase power wholesale from the Indiana & Michigan Electric company in challenging the intent of the utility to get out of the wholesale electric distribution business.

South Haven and several other communities in Michigan and Indiana have been notified by I & M that their contract to buy electricity will not be renewed because the firm plans on going out of the business. South Haven's contract expires July 24, 1979.

City Atty. William Verdonk reported to members of the Board of Public Utilities last night that the Indiana and Michigan Municipal Electric association will petition the Federal Power commission challenging I & M's intent.

In other areas, the board recommended to city council that Irvin Hamilton of Evansville, Ind. be reimbursed $900 to cover part of the share of his cost in the installation several years ago of a water line to what is known as the Evergreen Bluff subdivision.

Hamilton has been trying to get reimbursement from the city for several years, but it wasn't until Verdonk ruled recently that the city had an obligation that the matter could be resolved.

The board also recommended to the city council that water and sanitary sewer service be extended to property in South Haven township near Superior street and Blue Star Memorial Highway for a proposed roller skating rink.

Verdonk ruled that a special assessment district established in 1958 to construct a sanitary sewer line in front of the property created a legal obligation on the city's part to allow future tap-ins.

The board recommended to city council that new billing equipment be purchased from Burroughs corporation for $28,198.

Lottery Winners

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Claybourne Mitchell Jr., 52, of Ann Arbor, a physicist with the Detroit Edison Co., won $200,000 Thursday in the Michigan lottery weekly supergame. Other winners were, $25,000, the 23 Dreamers Lottery Club of Grand Rapids; $15,000, Lawrence F. Merrill, 48, of DeWitt, a maintenance worker with Oldsmobile in Lansing; $12,500, James O'Neill, 43, of Battle Creek, a brakeman for the Grand Trunk Western Railway; and $10,000, James W. Fenslau, 31, of Lapeer, a service station owner.

Right Turn Up To Governor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan motorists would be able to make right turns on red lights starting next April under a bill sent to the governor Thursday. The House passed the energy-saving measure on a 92-0 vote and sent it to Gov. William Milliken, who is expected to sign it, according to aides. The measure, if signed into law, will take effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns at the end of the year. Under the bill, drivers could make right turns while traffic signals are red, instead of waiting for a green light. Local governments would be able to erect signs forbidding such turns at especially dangerous corners.

Private College Loans

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to extend the loaning power of a state college authority is on its way to the governor after passage in the state House. By a vote of 83-4 Thursday, the House gave final legislative approval to a measure which permits the Higher Education Facilities Authority to make low-interest loans to private colleges, in addition to the public schools it serves now. The bill also adds the word "Michigan" to the body's title, and allows it to

False Ads Cost Carpet Salesman $1,000

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

"I feel it should be brought home to you, and brought home to you strongly, that these ads are misleading," District Judge Hugh Black told a carpenter yesterday just before sentencing him for placing a false or misleading newspaper advertisement.

And with that Lawrence Hoffman, who is currently conducting a carpet sale at Shadowland in St. Joseph, was given the maximum sentence of fines and costs of $1,000.

Hoffman told the judge that he is an ethical businessman. "I feel very humble being here, being called on the carpet for this charge," said Hoffman, owner of Southern Carpet Brokers, Inc., Dalton, Ga.

Last week Hoffman pleaded no contest to the charge in Berrien Fifth District Court. The charge involved a newspaper ad promoting his carpet sale.

The ad was false because it implied that $150,000 worth of carpeting that had belonged to a Benton Harbor carpet business was being sold at "going out of business" prices, Black said yesterday. Actually, most of the carpet was from Hoffman's warehouses. Only about $6,700 worth of carpet was purchased from Dean Stanard Floor Covering, formerly of Benton Harbor.

"There's one thing this county does not tolerate — when the consumer is being misled," Black told the 38-year-old Hoffman, who lives in Lansing. "Consumers ought to be given enough information to allow them to make an intelligent choice," Black added.

The Berrien Consumer Protection Unit, which filed the original complaint against Hoffman, was set up to shield the public from such activities, Black said.

Hoffman, since his plea in court last week, has modified his advertising as was ordered by the judge: He told Black yesterday that the carpet being sold is actually worth about $500,000 retail.

Three Are Given Probation Terms

A man convicted of delivery of heroin was one of three men who received probationary terms during sentencing yesterday by Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Charles Selby (also known as Abdul), 25, of 2444 Crawford drive, Benton township, was placed on two years probation and assessed $400 fine and costs for delivering heroin to a state police narcotics agent Oct. 16, 1973, in Benton Harbor.

Eugene Ross, Jr., 27, of 667 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, got two years probation, with the first 120 days in jail, plus $250 fine and costs for larceny from a person. Ross on Sept. 23 stole a purse from Anna Mae Jones at Lomomaco's super market in Benton township.

Ruinaldo Candena, 27, of Laredo, Texas, was placed on two years probation and assessed $200 fine and costs for unlawful use of a truck owned by Frank Prilwitz Oct. 11 in Eau Claire.

Acting DEA Chief To Quit

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The acting chief of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration, Henry S. Dugan, says he will quit Dec. 31.

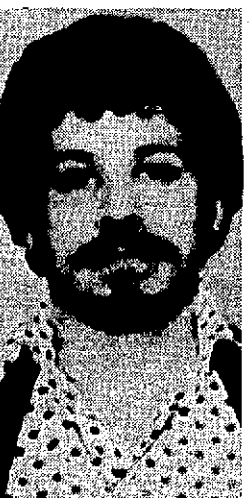

In an interview during a U.S. Marshals Conference here, Dugan said he submitted his resignation last Friday to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

Loot Worth $900 Taken In Break-In

HARTFORD — An estimated $900 worth of goods was reported taken yesterday from the home of Mrs. Gayle Gunther, 84th avenue, near here, state police at Paw Paw said.

Mrs. Gunther told troopers she had gone on vacation Monday and returned about 5:45 p.m. yesterday to discover the items missing.

Troopers said it appeared a back door had been forced open. Police said items reported stolen, and their reported values, were: jewelry box, $100; diamond ring, $175; cash, $50; necklace, $40; stereo, $280; 12 gauge pump shotgun, $175; and hunting bow, $100.

ARRESTED: The seizure in New York by the FBI of Juan Antonio Castillo Ayala, 27, wanted for nearly six years for bombing of five hotels in Puerto Rico, may provide first link to terrorist group believed responsible for synchronized bombings in New York, Washington and Chicago last month. Ayala was arrested Tuesday evening. (AP Wirephoto)

Stevensville To Make Own Railroad Track Inspection

Stevensville village council last night instructed Richard Beck, village police chief, to meet with Chesapeake and Ohio railroad officials to inspect tracks and crossings in the village.

The council voted at the last meeting to notify C&O that a 25-mile an hour speed limit would be enforced on all trains traveling through the village until repairs the council contends are needed are made.

Melvin Guinn and Joseph Rymer, representing C&O, reported to the council that tracks and crossings are inspected at regular intervals by both C&O and Federal Railroad administration (FRA) inspectors.

Woman Hurt When Car Hits Tree

SOUTH HAVEN — Barbara Radney, 43, route 2, Grand Junction, was listed in fair condition today at Allegan General hospital with head injuries suffered yesterday in a one-vehicle accident.

State police from South Haven said the accident occurred at about 2:45 p.m. yesterday on 50th street south of 106th avenue, Lee township of Allegan county. Troopers said the car left 50th street and struck a tree.

Troopers said they were unable to question the Radney woman, who was the driver of the auto.

Fire Blamed On Children

Benton Harbor firemen said children playing with matches is believed to have been the cause of a blaze that caused about $4,000 damage to the Ed Las home, 540 East Main street, Thursday.

Firemen said the fire was located in an upstairs bedroom which was extensively damaged along with a portion of a hallway and part of the attic area. Firemen reported no one was injured in the 10:45 a.m. blaze.

Two Women Injured In Car-Truck Crash

Two women told Benton township police Thursday they were injured in a collision between their car and a pickup truck that left the scene.

Driver of the car, Dorothy Jean Hickman, 233 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor, reportedly sustained a sprained arm and wrist. A passenger, Julia Henry, of 1107 Territorial road, Benton township, sustained a bump on the head police said. Both sought their own treatment.

Police said the women reported that the accident occurred on Crystal avenue near East Main street about 6 p.m.

Wallace For President Office To Open In Kalamazoo Sunday

A Wallace for President headquarters will open Sunday in Kalamazoo, according to William Cobb, of Riverside, Fourth Congressional District Wallace chairman. Cobb said the headquarters at 1415 South Burdick street is one of two in the state acting as an arm of the national Wallace campaign.

The other is in Detroit. Cobb said local headquarters are expected to open closer to the 1976 presidential primary.

Arthur Cutlers, state chairman for Wallace, will speak at 11 a.m. Sunday in Kalamazoo. Cobb said after the opening, the headquarters will be open daily except Sundays.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace last week formally announced his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Couple Also Sighted UFOs Near Airport

A Benton Harbor couple late yesterday became the second and third persons to report seeing unidentified objects in the sky near Benton Harbor late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. William (Elsie) Peterson, 1881 Sweet street, said she and her husband were traveling southwest on Red Arrow highway near Benton Harbor sometime between 5 and 5:30 p.m., when he husband told her to look at three things in the air.

Mrs. Peterson said the three objects were a brilliant gold in color, resembled a small cigar or pencil in shape and seemed to drift along in a V-shape. She said the objects moved out of western sky to the east until they disappeared. Mrs. Peterson said after the first three objects disappeared, a fourth object, similar to the first three was also spotted.

Yesterday a Michigan Lutheran high school junior from Benton Harbor reported seeing three unidentified flying objects over Ross Field about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Henry Thomas of 1135 Villa court said he spotted three distinct round discs over the airport.

Officials at Ross Field yesterday said they had received no reports of the sighting and had not seen unidentified objects themselves.

Mrs. Peterson said the western sky early Wednesday evening had brilliant color and there were no clouds.

Concerning the objects she and her husband spotted, she said "I've never seen anything like it before. I don't know what it was...could have been anything."

False Ads Cost Carpet Salesman $1,000

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

"I feel it should be brought home to you, and brought home to you strongly, that these ads are misleading," District Judge Hugh Black told a carpeyulesman yesterday just before sentencing him for placing a false or misleading newspaper advertisement.

And with that Lawrence Hoffman, who is currently conducting a carpet sale at Shadowland in St. Joseph, was given the maximum sentence of fines and costs of $1,000.

Hoffman told the judge that he is an ethical businessman. "I feel very humble being here, being called on the carpet for this charge," said Hoffman, owner of Southern Carpet Brokers, Inc., Dalton, Ga.

Last week Hoffman pleaded no contest to the charge in Berrien Fifth District court. The charge involved a newspaper ad promoting his carpet sale.

The ad was false because it implied that $150,000 worth of carpeting that had belonged to a Benton Harbor carpet business was being sold at "going out of business" prices, Black said yesterday. Actually, most of the carpet was from Hoffman's warehouses. Only about $6,700 worth of carpet was purchased from Dean Stanard Floor Covering, formerly of Benton Harbor.

"There's one thing this county does not tolerate — when the consumer is being misled," Black told the 38-year-old Hoffman, who lives in Lansing. "Consumers ought to be given enough information to allow them to make an intelligent choice," Black added.

The Berrien Consumer Protection Unit, which filed the original complaint against Hoffman, was set up to shield the public from such activities, Black said.

Hoffman, since his plea in court last week, has modified his advertising as was ordered by the judge. He told Black yesterday that the carpet being sold is actually worth about $500,000 retail.

Three Are Given Probation Terms

A man convicted of delivery of heroin was one of three men who received probationary terms during sentencing yesterday by Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Charles Selby (also known as Abdul), 25, of 2444 Crawford drive, Benton township, was placed on two years probation and assessed $400 fine and costs for delivering heroin to a state police narcotics agent Oct. 16, 1973, in Benton Harbor.

Eugene Ross, Jr., 27, of 667 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, got two years probation, with the first 120 days in jail, plus $250 fine and costs for larceny from a person. Ross on Sept. 23 stole a purse from Anna Mae Jones at Lomonaco's super market in Benton township.

Ruinaldo Candena, 27, of Laredo, Texas, was placed on two years probation and assessed $200 fine and costs for unlawful use of a truck owned by Frank Prillwitz Oct. 11 in Eau Claire.

Acting DEA Chief To Quit

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The acting chief of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration, Henry S. Dugin, says he will quit Dec. 31.

In an interview during a U.S. Marshals Conference here, Dugin said he submitted his resignation last Friday to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

Loot Worth $900 Taken In Break-In

HARTFORD — An estimated $900 worth of goods was reported taken yesterday from the home of Mrs. Gayle Gunther, 84th avenue, near here, state police at Paw Paw said.

Mrs. Gunther told troopers she had gone on vacation Monday and returned about 5:45 p.m. yesterday to discover the items missing.

Troopers said it appeared a back door had been forced open. Police said items reported stolen, were: jewelry box, $100; diamond ring, $175; cash, $50; necklace, $40; stereo, $260; 12 gauge pump shotgun, $175; and hunting bow, $100.

Hearing Asked On Theft Charge

A man charged with stealing 10 bags of sugar from a processing plant nearly a year ago demanded preliminary examination yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Ray J. Smith, 17, of 72nd street, Watervliet, is charged with larceny in a building in connection with the theft of the sugar from Coloma Cooperative Canning Co. Dec. 1, 1974. He was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond following arraignment.

Others demanding examinations yesterday were: Donald E. Tension, 18, of 4826 River road, Sodus, on a charge of larceny of a motorcycle valued over $100 in Sodus township Nov. 1. He failed to post $1,500 bail.

John Henry Lewis, 33, of 149 Ridge, Berrien Springs, charged with larceny of food in a building, Cass Dairy store, Benton township, Nov. 16. He was released on $2,500 personal recognizance bond.

Anthony L. Johnson, 22, of 518 Whitcomb, and Amos Ray, Jr., 25, of 370 Walnut, both of Benton Harbor, charged with receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100, a television, in Benton Harbor Nov. 18. Bonds were set at $7,500. Both were jailed.

Bound over to Circuit court were:

Ronald R. Sheets, 20, of Mattawan, on a charge of resisting arrest in Hagar township Nov. 9. He was released on $1,500 bail.

John E. Young, 18, of 732 North Pike, Benton Harbor, accused of the Nov. 8 break-in at a Benton township house. He continued free on $2,500 personal recognizance bond.

Steven V. Stybruski, 21, of Glendora road, New Troy, charged with forging a $145 check in Benton township July 7. He waived examination. He is free on $5,500 personal recognizance bond.

Sentenced were:

Billy H. Green, 27, of 360 Western avenue, St. Joseph township, fine and costs of $100 for violation of the state pharmacy act by distributing Valium in Oronoko township April 25.

Robert K. Krumske, 29, of 2125 Colfax, Benton Harbor, $53 for possession of a loaded shotgun in a motorboat Nov. 14 in Lincoln township.

Donald M. Kozel, 24, of 30th avenue, Bangor, $50 for possession of marijuana in Watervliet township Oct. 9.

John Willie Neal, 36, of 825 Broadway, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $90, or 12 days in jail total, for second offense driving while license suspended Nov. 19 in Benton township.

Lester I. Sergeant, 52, of Marietta, Ohio, $151 for driving while intoxicated during an accident in Stevensville Nov. 19.

Detroit Bus Hearing Is Monday

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio will begin hearing arguments Monday on whether the NAACP can continue pressing for cross-district integration of schools in Detroit and its suburbs.

Attorneys for the state and some 50 suburbs argue the case should be thrown out because none of the persons requesting cross-district integration live in the suburbs.

They also say the issue of alleged housing discrimination through governmental inaction should not be included in the suit.

DeMascio already has issued a Detroit-only desegregation plan as ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court in July 1974. The high court said a cross-district plan could be ordered only if specific acts of segregation are demonstrated on the part of the suburbs.

The NAACP is appealing DeMascio's Detroit-only plan to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, but the plan is still scheduled to take effect Jan. 26.

Wallace For President Office To Open In Kalamazoo Sunday

A Wallace for President headquarters will open Sunday in Kalamazoo, according to William Cobb, of Riverside, Fourth Congressional District Wallace chairman. Cobb said the headquarters at 1415 South Burdick street is one of two in the state acting as an arm of the national Wallace campaign. The other is in Detroit. Cobb said local headquarters are expected to open closer to the 1976 presidential primary.

Arthur Cullers, state chairman for Wallace, will speak at 11 a.m. Sunday in Kalamazoo. Cobb said after the opening, the headquarters will be open daily except Sundays.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace last week formally announced his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Couple Also Sighted UFOs Near Airport

A Benton Harbor couple late yesterday became the second and third persons to report seeing unidentified objects in the sky near Benton Harbor late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. William (Elsie) Peterson, 1881 Sweet street, said she and her husband were traveling southwest on Red Arrow highway near Benton Harbor sometime between 5 and 5:30 p.m., when he husband told her to look at three things in the air.

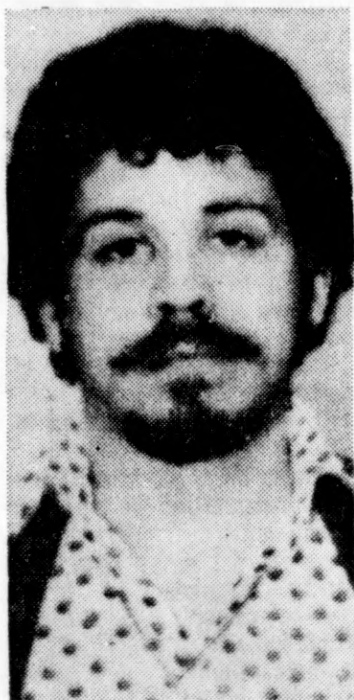

Mrs. Peterson said the three objects were a brilliant gold in color, resembled a small cigar or pencil in shape and seemed to drift along in a V-shape. She said the objects moved out of western sky to the east until they disappeared. Mrs. Peterson said after the first three objects disappeared, a fourth object, similar to the first three was also spotted. Yesterday a Michigan Lutheran high school junior from Benton Harbor reported seeing three unidentified flying objects over Ross Field about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Henry Thomas of 1195 Villa court said he spotted three distinct round discs over the airport.

Officials at Ross Field yesterday said they had received no reports of the sighting and had not seen unidentified objects themselves.

Mrs. Peterson said the western sky early Wednesday evening had brilliant color and there were no clouds.

Concerning the objects she and her husband spotted, she said "I've never seen anything like it before. I don't know what it was...could have been anything."

ARRESTED: The seizure in New York by the FBI of Juan Antonio Castillo Ayala, 27, wanted for nearly six years for bombing of five hotels in Puerto Rico, may provide first link to terrorist group believed responsible for synchronized bombings in New York, Washington and Chicago last month. Ayala was arrested Tuesday evening. (AP Wirephoto)

Stevensville To Make Own Railroad Track Inspection

Stevensville village council last night instructed Richard Beck, village police chief, to meet with Chesapeake and Ohio railroad officials to inspect tracks and crossings in the village.

The council voted at the last meeting to notify C&O that a 25-mile an hour speed limit would be enforced on all trains traveling through the village until repairs the council contends are needed are made.

Melvin Guinn and Joseph Rymer, representing C&O, reported to the council that tracks and crossings are inspected at regular intervals by both C&O and Federal Railroad administration (FRA) inspectors.

Woman Hurt When Car Hits Tree

SOUTH HAVEN — Barbara Radney, 43, route 2, Grand Junction, was listed in fair condition today at Allegan General hospital with head injuries suffered yesterday in a one-vehicle accident.

State police from South Haven said the accident occurred at about 2:45 p.m. yesterday on 50th street south of 106th avenue, Lee township of Allegan county. Troopers said the car left 50th street and struck a tree.

Troopers said they were unable to question the Radney woman, who was the driver of the auto.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Two Youths Accused Of Stealing Hubcaps

Benton Harbor police arrested two young men Thursday on warrants charging theft of four hubcaps valued at more than $100.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Douglas Curt Haley, 17, of 360 Crystal avenue, Benton township, and Walter David Thompson, 18, of 134 Cross street, Benton Harbor. The warrants allege the hubcaps were stolen from a car belonging to Sandra Rutter that was parked in a lot at Benton Harbor high school, Wednesday. Mrs. Rutter is a high school faculty member.

Thefts reported Thursday to Benton Harbor police were:

—An impact wrench, valued at about $245, from a truck owned by Hy Firehammer Tire store, 408 West Main street.

—A camera and clock radio, valued at about $100, from the apartment of Larry McClarty, 304 South Fair avenue.

—Eighty dollars in cash from a purse at the home of Rose Mary Lowe, 236 Pipestone street.

Deputies said tools and welding equipment, valued at $300, were taken. Wednesday tools, a rifle and a chain saw, valued at about $200, were reported stolen from the barn at 6020 River road, Sodus township.

James Friday, 2559 Friday road, Coloma township, told deputies a chain saw and battery charger were stolen from a tool shed he owns at 6312 Carmody road, Coloma township.

Thefts reported Thursday to Benton township police were:

—A tape player, valued at $400, from the band room at Lake Michigan College, 2755 East Napier avenue.

—A tape player, valued at $200, from the home of Lynn Savage, 1366 Jennings avenue.

Ruling Next Week

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County Circuit Court judge says he will decide next Wednesday whether the governor acted properly in appointing Lawrence Lindemer to fill a vacancy on the Michigan Supreme Court.

Judge John O'Hara delayed action on other aspects of a lawsuit challenging the power of the governor to fill Supreme Court vacancies by appointment.

PONDERS FATE: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger appears to be in pensive mood as he prepares to testify before Senate Appropriations subcommittee in Washington Thursday. Earlier, House Intelligence Committee voted to move ahead with at least one contempt citation against Kissinger despite President Ford's protest that the action "involves grave matters affecting our conduct of foreign policy." Chicago Pair Face Hidden Gun Counts PAW PAW — Two Chicago men, William H. Foster, 40, and Bennie R. Rhodes, 47, demanded preliminary examination on charges of carrying a concealed weapon when arraigned yesterday in Van Buren Seventh district court.

The two were arrested earlier yesterday after state police from the Paw Paw post said they had stopped a car for speeding on I-94 in Antwerp township. Police said two .38-caliber revolvers were found during a search of the vehicle.

Both men were released after posting $500 bond each. Their examinations were scheduled for Dec. 2.

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

I am beginning to suspect that President Ford may be something of a poker player: he really handled the defenestration of Henry Kissinger very neatly and now has the once invincible "Strategus" corked up in Foggy Bottom. Senior officials cooped up with the Secretary of State indicate that the latter is moping. Seemingly the President assured Kissinger that his former deputy, Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft would not make any waves. Or, to put it another way, Scowcroft would not interfere with Kissinger's domination of policy formulation. However, Lt. Generals do not get promoted by the Secretary of State.

Meanwhile the Secretary of State, who is unaccustomed to subordinates who refuse to genuflect in his presence, finds himself working with a human time bomb. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, Ambassador to the United Nations with Cabinet rank. Unlike former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger, a man who almost bent over backwards to avoid publicity and walked the plank without a splash, Moynihan is a man of strong convictions who likes nothing better than a nice friendly brawl, unless it is a nice unfriendly one.

All American ambassadors have the right of direct access and communication with the President, although few take advantage of this prerogative.

One notable exception was John Kenneth Galbraith, who used to send President John Kennedy instructions on how to deal with all the world's problems from his exile in India. Another was Graham Martin, who was convinced as early as 1964 that Americanizing the Vietnam war would be a disaster. Informed President Johnson of his views, and with tragic irony brought the flag out of Saigon. In like fashion, Moynihan may be counted on to directly appeal any instructions he feels unwise or asinine.

Already there are portents of things to come. When Moynihan denounced the Ugandan despot Idi Amin as a "racist murderer" to the AFL-CIO Convention, most hearts at the State Department missed a beat. "Good grief! Of course, Amin is a racist murderer, but you know, old chap, it's bad form to say so in public. What will that wild Irishman do next?"

Well, the next thing he did was sock it to the United Nations General Assembly for equaling Zionism with "racism," pointing out — correctly — that this was the equivalent of giving symbolic amnesty to the Nazis for the murder of six million Jews.

This blast brought Secretary Kissinger out of solitary confinement to head up the Tut, Tut Brigade. Speaking in Pittsburgh, Kissinger criticized the Zionism is "racism" vote, but warned us against any "extreme" response. "We have to keep the American reaction in some balance," he said, and called for employing some "perspective." He added to this implicit criticism of Moynihan an explicit statement that the Ambassador should have used "more restrained" language in discussing Amin's character.

The Pittsburgh statement, however, contained a most peculiar formulation, especially from a man who seems to believe in choosing words carefully. Referring to the General Assembly vote, Kissinger observed that equating Zionism and racism "smacks of some practices it would be better for mankind to forget." Maybe I am suffering from hardening of the categories, but it strikes me that the vote smacks of some practices mankind should never forget, and Moynihan was speaking for the conscience of mankind when he reminded the delegates of the Holocaust. Watch for the next act — this could be interesting, though my money's on Moynihan, if Kissinger is unwise enough to provoke a donnybrook.

ACCORDING TO dream interpreters, it's generally a good omen if you dream of eggs. They augur domestic contentment or prosperity. . . . The Ruling Planet of Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) is Mars. The lucky number is nine (9) and the lucky day is Tuesday. . . . Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "Some phinal ducks fly to and from the Hawaiian Islands each year, a total distance of about 4,000 miles!" . . . A psychiatrist says if you place emphasis on buttons in your doodling, it suggests dependency. . . . Holiday Note: You'll be able to remove nut meats whole if you soak the nuts overnight in salt water. . . . A hair expert says vitamin B — in cereals and yeast — is vital for healthy hair. . . . A child specialist says myopic kids are more intelligent than those with normal vision, and tend to score higher in IQ tests. . . . Our Confusing Language: scourage, merge, dirge and urge.

A PSYCHIATRIST says that our childhood memories play tricks, and things we thought happened never happened at all, but were the result of hearsay, of dreams or of wishful thinking. . . . Memory Note: When did you last treat a cold with the old reliable cure, "Rock 'n' Rye"? . . . To any girl married to a Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): Be prepared to share his life "for better or for worse." (You'll need lots of patience!). . . . Unlikely Events: being in a blue funk, telling a cock-and-bull story, cooling one's heels, feeling under the weather, starving a fever, catching a cold moving heaven and earth and gilding the lily. . . . Overheard: "Things are so bad, TV news programs are now sadder than the soap operas!" . . . Dream experts say if you dream of falling, it symbolizes a basic fear in your life — such as fear of job failure or loss of status.

BAR-SNOOPING at Sea Fare of the Aegean, NYC: Try mixing vodka and cream in a blender and topping it with a dash of rum. . . . Home Decor Tip from Bernard Castro: Don't call attention to a room's narrow width by decorating it with a round table. Conforming geometric shapes will make a small room look larger. . . . Sudden Thought: More and more people seem to be interested in astrology these days. (The time of the signs?). . . . Exercise Tip: To trim your hips, raise your hands up high, fists tightly clenched, and kick your leg out behind you as far as it will go, raising it from the hips. Keep alternating, first right then left leg. . . . Beauty Hint from Elke Sommer: For your next at-home rinse, try brewed camomile tea with two teaspoons of lemon juice. . . . NYC Nightlife: A new-to-us singer-dancer, Peter Gorden, is appearing nightly at the Rainbow Grill; and Billy Eckstine is drawing his fans nightly at The Plaza.

I am beginning to suspect that President Ford may be something of a poker player: he really handled the defenestration of Henry Kissinger very neatly and now has the once invincible "Strategus" coked up in Foggy Bottom. Senior officials cooped up with the Secretary of State indicate that the latter is moping. Seemingly the President assured Kissinger that his former deputy, Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft would not make any waves. Or, to put it another way, Scowcroft would not interfere with Kissinger's domination of policy formulation. However, Lt. Generals do not get promoted by the Secretary of State.

Meanwhile the Secretary of State, who is unaccustomed to subordinates who refuse to genuflect in his presence, finds himself working with a human time bomb: Daniel Patrick Moynihan, Ambassador to the United Nations with Cabinet rank. Unlike former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger, a man who almost bent over backwards to avoid publicity and walked the plank without a splash, Moynihan is a man of strong convictions who likes nothing better than a nice friendly brawl... unless it is a nice unfriendly one.

All American ambassadors have the right of direct access and communication with the President, although few take advantage of this prerogative.

One notable exception was John Kenneth Galbraith, who used to send President John Kennedy instructions on how to deal with all the world's problems from his exile in India. Another was Graham Martin, who was convinced as early as 1964 that Americanizing the Vietnam war would be a disaster. Informed President Johnson of his views, and with tragic irony brought the flag out of Saigon. In like fashion, Moynihan may be counted on to directly appeal any instructions he feels unwise or asinine.

Already there are portents of things to come. When Moynihan denounced the Ugandan despot Idi Amin as a "racist murderer" to the AFL-CIO Convention, most hearts at the State Department missed a beat: "Good grief! Of course, Amin is a racist murderer, but you know, old chap, it's bad form to say so in public. What will that wild Irishman do next?"

Well, the next thing he did was sock it to the United Nations General Assembly for equating Zionism with "racism" pointing out — correctly — that this was the equivalent of giving symbolic amnesty to the Nazis for the murder of six million Jews.

This blast brought Secretary Kissinger out of solitary confinement to head up the Tut, Tut Brigade. Speaking in Pittsburgh, Kissinger criticized the Zionism is "racism" vote, but warned us against any "extreme" response: "We have to keep the American reaction in some balance," he said, and called for employing some "perspective." He added to this implicit criticism of Moynihan an explicit statement that the Ambassador should have used "more restrained" language in discussing Amin's character.

The Pittsburgh statement, however, contained a most peculiar formulation, especially from a man who seems to believe in choosing words carefully. Referring to the General Assembly vote, Kissinger observed that equating Zionism and racism "smacks of some practices it would be better for mankind to forget." Maybe I am suffering from hardening of the categories, but it strikes me that the vote smacks of some practices mankind should never forget, and Moynihan was speaking for the conscience of mankind when he reminded the delegates of the Holocaust. Watch for the next act — this could be interesting, though my money's on Moynihan, if Kissinger is unwise enough to provoke a donnybrook.

ACCORDING TO dream interpreters, it's generally a good omen if you dream of eggs. They augur domestic contentment or prosperity... The Ruling Planet of Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) is Mars. The lucky number is nine (9) and the lucky day is Tuesday... Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "Some pintail ducks fly to and from the Hawaiian Islands each year, a total distance of about 4,000 miles!"... A psychiatrist says if you place emphasis on buttons in your doodling, it suggests dependency... Holiday Note: You'll be able to remove nut meats whole if you soak the nuts overnight in salt water... A hair expert says vitamin B — in cereals and yeast — is vital for healthy hair... A child specialist says myopic kids are more intelligent than those with normal vision, and tend to score higher in IQ tests... Our Confusing Language: scourge, merge, dirge and urge.

A PSYCHIATRIST says that our childhood memories play tricks, and things we thought happened never happened at all, but were the result of hearsay, of dreams or of wishful thinking... Memory Note: When did you last treat a cold with the old reliable cure, "Rock 'n' Rye"?... To any girl married to a Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): Be prepared to share his life "for better or for worse." (You'll need lots of patience!)... Unlikely Events: being in a blue funk, telling a cock-and-bull story, cooling one's heels, feeling under the weather, starving a fever, catching a cold moving heaven and earth and gilding the lily... Overheard: "Things are so bad, TV news programs are now sadder than the soap operas!"... Dream experts say if you dream of falling, it symbolizes a basic fear in your life — such as fear of job failure or loss of status.

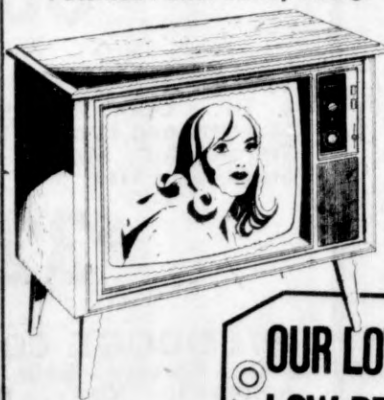

BAR-SNOOPING at Sea Fare of the Aegean, NYC: Try mixing vodka and cream in a blender and topping it with a dash of nutmeg... Home Decor Tip from Bernard Castro: Don't call attention to a room's narrow width by decorating it with a round table. Conforming geometric shapes will make a small room look larger... Sudden Thought: More and more people seem to be interested in astrology these days. (The time of the signs?)... Exercise Tip: To trim your hips, raise your hands up high, fists tightly clenched, and kick your leg out behind you as far as it will go, raising it from the hips. Keep alternating, first right then left leg... Beauty Hint from Elke Sommer: For your next at-home rinse, try brewed camomile tea with two teaspoons of lemon juice...
